Death Of Reuther Shocks Nation

BY PETE MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, the tool-and-die maker who envisioned a fair shake for the workers in Detroit's automobile plants and rose to be leader of 1.6 million United Auto Workers and a giant of American labor, was killed in the flaming crash of a chartered jet near Pellston Saturday night.

Also dead in the crash were his wife, May; a Philadelphia architect, Oskar Stonorov; Reuther's bodyguard William Wolfman of Detroit; the pilot, G. Evans, and co-pilot, G. Kareffa, both of Cleveland.

Authorities said the executive-type jet broke through scattered clouds on its rain-swept approach to the Pellston Airport and then came down in a ball of flame.

All bodies were burned beyond recognition and medical identification was made Sunday by a pathologist through dental records at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Investigators have not announced any cause for the crash.

The United Auto Workers who go to the bargaining table in mid-July to hammer out new contracts with the automotive giants have lost their leader of 24 years.

Under Reuther, a giant in the American labor movement, the UAW had grown to 1.6 million members, the nation's largest industrial union.

Reuther had been the UAW's president since 1946 and was a vice president of the AFL-CIO until he broke his union away two years ago in the climax to a feud with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

He then formed the rival Alliance for Labor Action in an amalgamation with the Teamsters and International Chemical Workers "to organize the unorganized and the poor and get the labor movement moving again."

Those who died Saturday with the red-haired, 62-year-old Reuther were his wife, May, 59; Oskar Stonorov, 65, a Philadelphia architect; Wiliam Wolfman 29, Reuther's bodyguard and Mrs. Reuther's nephew; the pilot, George Evans, 48; and copilot, Joseph Karaffa, 41, both of Columbus, Ohio.

They were en route from Detroit for a weekend visit to the UAW's $15-million education center, which Stonorov designed. It is nearing completion on Black Lake in northern Lower Michigan.

Flaming Crash

No one survived the flaming crash of the union-chartered twin-engine, executive-type Lear jet as it approached the Pellston airport through rain under low-hanging clouds at 9:33 p.m.

The charred remains were taken to the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor for identification. A doctor said Sunday night the bodies of Reuther and his wife were positively identified by dental charts.

Probe Underway

A six-member team from the National Transportation Safety Board flew to Pellston to try to piece together what happened in the minutes between Evans' radioed request for landing clearance and the crash 1½ miles from the airport.

In his sometimes stormy career, Reuther had survived an assassin's shotgun blast which crippled his right arm and had thwarted an attempt to take him on a no-return, gangland-style ride.

He was a participant in the then sensational sit-down strikes of the 1930s in which his fledgling union took over auto plants and held them to force its recognition as bargaining agent.

Dream Realized

Reuther realized a long-time dream in 1967 when he won a guaranteed annual income from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

In his tenure he also had seen the average wage at the Big Three rise to $4.02 hourly, with fringe benefits estimated to be worth another $1.75 an hour.

The union's other eight top officers, shocked and grieved, described Reuther in a statement as the UAW's "conscience, its heartbeat and its soul," and

Auto Workers' Bargain Plans Could Change

DETROIT (AP) — Before the death of Walter P. Reuther Saturday night, contract negotiations this fall between the auto workers and the automakers were expected to be the toughest in years. Now, there is even more uncertainty about the talks.

Reuther, 62, president of the United Auto Workers, and five others, including his wife, May, 59, died in a plane crash en route Saturday night to the UAW's educational center in northern Lower Michigan.

Both company and union spokesmen had conceded before his death that the 1970 bargaining will be tough—the toughest since 1958, a recession year, and possibly since the 113-day strike against General Motors in 1945-46.

They gave two major reasons:

—New car sales and company profits have been sagging this year and thousands of UAW members have been laid off by the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

—The UAW has adopted a wide-ranging set of economic demands aimed at overcoming the erosion of wages by inflation.

The impact of the contracts are felt far beyond the auto industry—in hundreds of supplier plants and in the aerospace and agricultural implement fields.

The union has tried in the past to force others employing its 1.6 million members to meet the automotive pattern. And it was Reuther who pushed through by strike or otherwise, the pact that set the pattern.

Other union officials have sat with him, but it was Reuther who made the final decisions to "take it or leave it" at the bargaining table. That responsibility will now fall to other union officials.

Nixon Calls Death Deep Loss To U.S.

By The Associated Press

Reactions of shock and sadness were voiced by leaders of labor, industry and government after the death of Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, his wife, and four others in a plane crash near Pellston, Mich.

President Nixon viewed Reuther's death as "a deep loss not only for organized labor but also for the cause of collective bargaining and the entire American process."

"He was a man," said Nixon, "who was devoted to his cause, spoke for it with eloquence and worked for it tirelessly. While he was outspoken and controversial, even those who disagreed with him had great respect for his ability, integrity and persistence."

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said in Washington: "American society is far poorer today for the loss of Wlter Reuther and his wife." He added: "Walter Reuther had many quarrels with the American system, but he wanted to improve it, not destroy it."

Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey whose presidential candidacy Reuther supported against Nixon in 1968, said Reuther's death is "another blow to our country when it seems like so many unfortunate things are happening."

In Paris, the national congress of the French Democratic Confederation of Labor observed a minute of silence in Reuther's memory.

I. W. Abe, president of the United Steelworkers, said Reuther's "vision, dedication and dynamic leadership played a major role in building the American labor movement."

Board chairmen of the nation's four largest automakers joined in praise of the man with whom their firms often had differed and fought at the bargaining table.

"Walter Reuther was an able and dedicated leader," said James M. Roche of General Motors Corp. "Our industry and our country will miss him."

Henry Ford II called Reuther "an extraordinarily effective advocate of labor's interests, whose tough-minded dedication, sense of social concern, selflessness and eloquence all marked him as a central figure in the development of modern industrial history."

Lynn Townsend, Chrysler Corp. chairman, said Reuther's "devotion to the ideals and principles in which he believed were evident not only at the bargaining table, but also in his untiring efforts to improve the conditions of his less fortunate fellow men."

Roy Chapin, American Motors chairman, called Reuther "a great and dedicated leader."

College Leaders Eyeing Election Time 'Vacations'

NEW YORK (AP) — A proposal to give college students time off to participate in political campaigns next fall received support Sunday from three major college officials.

The proposal was adopted by Princeton University last week.

President Kingman Brewster of Yale and Father James Hesburgh of Notre Dame said they were considering putting the "campaign vacation" into effect in the fall.

Chancellor Albert Bowker of New York City's Board of Higher Education, which runs the 165,000-student City University, said he will recommend a two-week period of free time before next November's elections so the students can play an active role.

"Student activity could be the dominating influence in next year's election," Bowker said in a televised interview.

Brewster, Hesburgh and Robben Fleming of the University of Michigan spoke with reporters after taping a separate television interview.

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Pollution Probe in Windsor says it will ask Ottawa to sue American polluters of the Windsor area.

The release says any suits will be based on a precedent set 35 years ago when the U.S. Government asked a British Columbia mining company to cut down atmospheric pollution.

Reuther Always Ready For Long Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) —When Walter P. Reuther showed up as a "target" of his United Auto Workers Union to seek a contract, he'd usually announce to newsmen: "Well, I've brought my toothbrush."

It was then that the atmosphere became electric and round the clock bargaining was likely to begin to the hammering out of a contract or the call of a strike.

No Wooden Nickles

The United Auto Workers Union President, killed in an airplane crash near Pellston Saturday night, had a flair for the well-turned and colorful phrase.

"We are not going to take any wooden nickles," he might say with a smile in low-rating some company offer.

Or again he might shout, as recently, "We don't give a damn what the attitude of the Nixon Administration is, we are going to get our equity."

He could depict the union's demands as desires as only a flint-hearted Scrooge could reject.

Gift Of Phrasing

With his gift of phrasing, he usually could put the industry in a bad light when company negotiators balked.

When negotiations began, the union's case was methodically prepared, exhaustingly researched and carefully documented by a corps of brilliant administrative assistants and advisors.

Last year he faced up to black militants in Detroit auto plants, contending they did not speak for rank and file blacks and the violence they preached was "counter-productive."

Seaton Retires

Louis G. Seaton, who faced Reuther across the bargaining table for 24 years and retired only recently as vice president for personnel at General Motors, recalled Sunday he had received a letter after his retirement was announced last week.

Seaton recalled "There never was any monkey-business at the bargaining table but away from it Reuther was a different kind of individual, concerned with the problems of everyone in the entire community not just the people he represented."

Reuther Admired

"I can't help but admire a man like that," Seaton added. "He was a terrifically competitive adversary."

"But he knew that while he was representing the workers, my job was to protect the interests of the shareholders in my corporation.

"So there was none of the smearing of personalities or recriminations that mar other labor negotiations.

"Walter never allowed himself to indulge in that luxury.

"He never felt he had to resort to a cork-blowing act the way other men do who aren't sure of themselves. He never operated that way."

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese navy flotilla of about 30 boats with a half dozen U.S. advisers sailed into the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh today after the first allied river assault across the border, South Vietnamese sources said.

The flotilla, which left South Vietnam on Saturday, completed a 60-mile drive that helped secure an important ferry crossing on Highway 1, in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese headquarters said more than 200 enemy troops were killed in the naval drive along the Mekong River.

The arrival of the flotilla at Phnom Penh was announced by the South Vietnamese, who made no mention of U.S. advisers being aboard the boats.

The presence of advisers was reported later by South Vietnamese informants who are in a position to know.

The navy movement was accompanied by gains of South Vietnamese fighting along the banks of the Mekong farther south. South Vietnamese marines seized the key ferry crossing at Neak Luong on the Mekong and then drove on north and linked up today with U.S.-trained Cambodian strike forces.

A dispatch from Cambodia said four Marine battalions drove about a company of enemy troops from Neak Luong Sunday. They moved on about 2½ miles and met the Cambodians at the village of Kompong Phanom. This indicated that the 37 miles between the ferry crossing and the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh was clear of enemy troops.

Neak Luong lies on Highway 1, which connects Phnom Penh with Saigon.

Reports from Phnom Penh said the South Vietnamese Marines seized both sides of the ferry landing. They arrived with an allied flotilla that moved across the border from South Vietnam Saturday.

Reuther Had Planned Final Showdown

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, killed with his wife and four other persons in a plane crash was a no-drink, no-smoke man who rose from a tool and die apprentice to president of the 1.6 million member United Auto Workers Union.

He was preparing for what was to have been his last major battle, with the nation's automakers, when UAW contracts expire in mid-September.

He had pledged a fight with the industry on the new three-year pacts despite a hard line by the industry because of declining new car sales, slumping profits, and many worker layoffs.

Re-elected President

At Atlantic City, N.J., where he was reelected to a new two-year term April 23, Reuther decried what he said were industry profits that were "scandalously high" in recent years. Reuther, 62, had planned to retire after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

"We will not be bargaining about the economy of 1970 but about the future," he said.

Concerned About Men

Tough, pragmatic, but concerned for the ordinary man's problems, Reuther pioneered some of the most unique labor agreements in American history.

Reuther invariably worked for higher living standards for his rank and file workers, dreaming of a day when the auto worker would spend his spare time in cultural and intellectual pursuits.

"We'll never know how much genius went unborn because of the sheer human task of feeding families," Reuther once said. "We'll never know the Pasteurs or Edisons or Rembrandts or Marian Andersons who never had a chance."

Reuther, a foe of AFL-CIO President George Meany, withdrew his UAW from the AFL-CIO in July 1968, claiming the labor body was practically inactive.

The UAW then joined the Teamsters Union in forming the Alliance for Labor, whose main purpose is to step up organizing efforts and to combat social problems

Support Boycott

Among other items, the UAW has supported the California table grape boycott and has been in favor of organizing migrant workers.

Reuther's father, Valentine, was president of the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly and an organizer of the United Brewery Workers.

Reuther left high school at 15 to learn the tool and die trade at Wheeling Steel Co. He came to Detroit in 1926, becoming a journeyman tool and die apprentice, working at Briggs Mfg. Co. and Ford Motor Co. During this period Ruther completed high school and attended Wayne University for three years.

In 1933, Reuther was fired from Ford for his union activity. The day before the banks closed, he and his brother, Victor, took their savings out and left on a bicycling trip of Europe. They toured 11 countries, including Soviet Russia.

The year and a half in Russia often has been used by critics who said Reuther had Communist leanings. Actually, he and Victor worked at the factory in Gorki under an agreement to teach peasants how to make cars. The factory was built under supervision of Ford Motor Co. When Reuther won presidency of the UAW in 1945, he was saddled with a Communist-dominated board.

Eliminates Reds

"I went to the rank and file," he said. "I just outworked them. I beat them by 95 per cent and swept the board clean," eliminating the Communists.

In 1935, Reuther returned to Detroit and joined the UAW. Walter because president of his local and within a year built its membership from 78 to 30,000.

While working for a tool and die shop in 1936, Reutner was given a 10-cent raise for efficiency in the morning and fired in the afternoon when his union connections were uncovered.

"I have never worked in a factory where there was a union," he said. "I always got kicked out before it was organized." Reuther met his wife, May Wolf, on a streetcar about that time. They were married on Friday, March 13, 1936. They have two daughters, Linda Reuther, 27 and Lisa Reuther, 23.

Organizes GM, Others

In 1937, Reuther, using his famed sit-down strike technique, organized General Motors and Chrysler Corp. Reuther turned his guns on Ford, but it took four years before Henry Ford and Harry Bennett, the ex-sailor who headed Ford's private army, agreed to negotiate.

The famed Battle of the Overpass on May 26, 1937, was typical of Reuther's problems at Ford. A group of Bennett's private police ousted Reuther and Richard Frankensteen from the Ford gate where they were trying to hand out union literature.

"The worst was when two of Bennett's goons picked me up by my ankles and dragged me down a flight of 36 steel steps, banging my back against each one, and then threw me in the middle of the road," said Reuther.

Worked For Government

Ford signed a UAW contract in 1941. Reuther worked for the government during the war, working out war-production bottlenecks.

In 1945, Reuther led the 113-day strike against General Motors. He was elected UAW president two months after the walkout ended, a post he occupied to the present. Reuther's next years were devoted to tough-minded negotiating, trying

Reuther Had Planned Final Showdown

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, killed with his wife and four other persons in a plane crash was a no-drink, no-smoke man who rose from a tool and die apprentice to president of the 1.6 million member United Auto Workers Union.

He was preparing for what was to have been his last major battle, with the nation's automakers, when UAW contracts expire in mid-September.

He had pledged a fight with the industry on the new three-year pacts despite a hard line by the industry because of declining new car sales, slumping profits, and many worker layoffs.

Re-elected President

At Atlantic City, N.J., where he was reelected to a new two-year term April 23, Reuther decried what he said were industry profits that were "scandalously high" in recent years. Reuther, 62, had planned to retire after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

"We will not be bargaining about the economy of 1970 but about the future," he said.

Concerned About Men

Tough, pragmatic, but concerned for the ordinary man's problems, Reuther pioneered some of the most unique labor agreements in American history.

Reuther invariably worked for higher living standards for his rank and file workers, dreaming of a day when the auto worker would spend his spare time in cultural and intellectual pursuits.

"We'll never know how much genius went unborn because of the sheer human task of feeding families," Reuther once said. "We'll never know the Pasteurs or Edisons or Rembrandts or Marian Andersons who never had a chance."

Reuther, a foe of AFL-CIO President George Meany, withdrew his UAW from the AFL-CIO in July 1968, claiming the labor body was practically inactive.

The UAW then joined the Teamsters Union in forming the Alliance for Labor, whose main purpose is to step up organizing efforts and to combat social problems.

Support Boycott

Among other items, the UAW has supported the California table grape boycott and has been in favor of organizing migrant workers.

Reuther's father, Valentine, was president of the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly and an organizer of the United Brewery Workers.

Reuther left high school at 15 to learn the tool and die trade at Wheeling Steel Co. He came to Detroit in 1926, becoming a journeyman tool and die apprentice, working at Briggs Mfg. Co. and Ford Motor Co. During this period Ruther completed high school and attended Wayne University for three years.

In 1933, Reuther was fired from Ford for his union activity. The day before the banks closed, he and his brother, Victor, took their savings out and left on a bicycling trip of Europe. They toured 11 countries, including Soviet Russia.

The year and a half in Russia often has been used by critics who said Reuther had Communist leanings. Actually, he and Victor worked at the factory in Gorki under an agreement to teach peasants how to make cars. The factory was built under supervision of Ford Motor Co. When Reuther won presidency of the UAW in 1945, he was saddled with a Communist-dominated board.

Eliminates Reds

"I went to the rank and file," he said. "I just outworked them. I beat them by 95 per cent and swept the board clean," eliminating the Communists.

In 1935, Reuther returned to Detroit and joined the UAW. Walter because president of his local and within a year built its membership from 78 to 30,000.

While working for a tool and die shop in 1936, Reuther was given a 10-cent raise for efficiency in the morning and fired in the afternoon when his union connections were uncovered.

"I have never worked in a factory where there was a union," he said. "I always got kicked out before it was organized." Reuther met his wife, May Wolf, on a streetcar about that time. They were married on Friday, March 13, 1936. They have two daughters, Linda Reuther, 27 and Lisa Reuther, 23.

Organizes GM, Others

In 1937, Reuther, using his famed sit-down strike technique, organized General Motors and Chrysler Corp. Reuther turned his guns on Ford, but it took four years before Henry Ford and Harry Bennett, the ex-sailor who headed Ford's private army, agreed to negotiate.

The famed Battle of the Overpass on May 26, 1937, was typical of Reuther's problems at Ford. A group of Bennett's private police ousted Reuther and Richard Frankensteen from the Ford gate where they were trying to hand out union literature.

"The worst was when two of Bennett's goons picked me up by my ankles and dragged me down a flight of 36 steel steps, banging my back against each one, and then threw me in the middle of the road," said Reuther.

Worked For Government

Ford signed a UAW contract in 1941. Reuther worked for the government during the war, working out war-production bottlenecks.

In 1945, Reuther led the 113-day strike against General Motors. He was elected UAW president two months after the walkout ended, a post he occupied to the present. Reuther's next years were devoted to tough-minded negotiating, trying

Garage Damaged By Fire Sunday

A fire caused slight damage to the roof of a garage owned by Shirley Brown, 608 1st Ave. S., Sunday evening, according to a report made by the City Fire Dept.

Firemen answered the call at 8:35 p.m. Sunday and, after putting the fire out, found that the damage was confined to the contents of the garage and a small portion of the roof near the west wall.

Firemen said that the fire apparently started by children playing in the attic portion of the building. A partly filled package of cigarettes and paper matches were found in the attic.

The fire also severed the electric wires near the house leading to the garage and some wire was damaged. The city electrician was called to check the wiring in the home.

Polio Clinics Set This Week

Polio clinics in Gladstone and Escanaba have been scheduled this week at times convenient to employed adults and to whole families, it is announced by Dr. Mary Cretens, director, Delta - Menominee Health District.

Oral polio vaccine (not shots) will be administered and is advised for everyone who has never had this solid and lasting protection, said Dr. Cretens. A donation will be asked of 50 cents, which approximately is the cost of the vaccine. No one will be denied the protection because they are unable to donate, however.

At Gladstone the polio clinic will be at the James T. Jones School from 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesday; and in Escanaba it will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. on Friday.

They are the first of two clinics. The second-round clinic will be held sometime after four weeks and before eight weeks.

The clinics are sponsored by the Health Department with the cooperation of the Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society and local pharmacists.

For the sake of his family's safety. Reuther moved to a rural area 55 minutes from Detroit.

"I built a house and I built an arm at the same time," he said. "I pounded nails until tears came to my eyes."

Reuther, who fought for the 40-hour week for his workers, often worked twice that rate for the union without overtime.

After the 1967 Detroit riots which left 43 dead, Reuther was named to the blue-ribbon group called the New Detroit Committee. It was created to help inner city residents.

Recently, Reuther has been in the forefront of efforts to create a national health insurance system. It would provide for persons of all ages.

VFW Poppy Days Set For Two Area Cities

Hiawatha Post 2998, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its annual Buddy Poppy sale in Escanaba and Gladstone May 15 and 16.

Separate sales will take place in both cities according to Hiawatha Post VFW Auxiliary Chairman Mrs. Joseph Simons and 14th District Chairman George Cholger.

National VFW Commander Raymond Gallagher is asking public support of the Buddy Poppy drive in the area. "This is one of the post's most worthy projects each year, with many disabled veterans benefiting from the sale," Gallagher said.

"Hospitalization and compensation payments," Gallagher said, "just cannot serve the entire needs of the disabled veteran. He needs aid and assistance which cannot be measured by the dollar cost of his rehabilitation."

"The poppies are assembled by disabled veterans who benefit from the sale each year," he added.

Mrs. Simons and Cholger stated today that if everyone would purchase a poppy when approached, the local post and auxiliary would be most grateful.

"It's a once-a-year program with us but we need full cooperation of the public to make it a success," the two chairmen stated.

Mrs. M. Hansen Dies Suddenly In Green Bay

Mrs. Max L. (Lillian) Hansen, 60, of Green Bay, died suddenly at her home Saturday, May 9.

She is survived by her husband; two hons, Sr. MSgt. Noel, serving with the U.S. Air Force in Belleville, Ill., Jan, of Gren Bay; one daughter, Mrs. Ronald (Maxine) Johnson of Eau Claire, Wis., and nine grandchildren.

She is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Johnson of Cornell, one brother, Lloyd of Chicago, Ill., and three sisters, Mrs. Walter (Lucille) Erickson of Poway, Calif., Mrs. Donald (Elvera) Kickbusch and Mrs. David (Ruth) Campbell, both of Cornell.

Funeral services for Mrs. Max Hansen will be held Tuesday, May 12, at 2 p.m. at the Troko-Wall Funeral Home in Green Bay. The Hansens are former residents of Escanaba.

Who Will Head Powerful UAW?

DETROIT (AP) — Who will succeed Walter P. Reuther and spearhead new contract bargaining between the United Auto Workers and the giants of the auto industry starting in mid-July?

Most guessing in Detroit centers on the union's seven vice presidents.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer, took over temporarily under the union's constitution following Reuther's death in a plane crash. And he may put in a claim to keep the mantle.

Board To Rule

The 25 members of the union's international executive board will choose a new president to serve until the UAW's 1972 convention.

Mazey, the seven vice presidents and 17 regional directors make up the executive board which Reuther headed as president.

The board's next scheduled meeting is June 2.

Reuther appeared to be setting the stage to handpick his successor when four at-large board members and the Canadian director were made vice presidents by the UAW 1970 convention last month at Atlantic City, N.J.

Fraser In Line

Many viewed that as a step to put 53-year-old Douglas Fraser in the line of succession. An administrative assistant to Reuther for eight years, he had been an at-large board member and chief of the union's Chrysler and Skilled Trades departments.

Fraser often was a pinch-hit speaker for Reuther.

His elevation raised Fraser to the level of the union's two long-term vice presidents, Leonard Woodcock, 59, and Dwayne "Pat" Greathouse, 55. Another possible contender elevated with Fraser was Ken Bannon, 56.

Woodcock heads the union's General Motors and Aerospace departments; Greathouse the American Motors and Agricultural Implement departments, and Bannon the Ford department.

Negro In Field

In addition to Fraser and Bannon, Reuther also promoted Nelson Jack Edwards, a Negro at-large board member; Olga Madar, the only woman member; and Dennis McDermott, the union's Canadian director, to vice presidencies.

Since the UAW constitution prohibits the nomination or election of anyone aged 65 or over, Reuther was serving what would have been his next-to-last two-year term had he chosen re-election in 1972.

Reuther would have turned 65 on Sept. 1. 1972, but the next convention will be held on April or May of that year and thus he would have been qualified as less than 65.

May Serve Out Term

The constitution provides that an officer elected before age 65 may serve out his term, so Reuther could have held on until he was nearing 67 in 1974.

Indications that delegates already might be choosing up among the heirs apparent came at Atlantic City as Reuther swamped his first challenger in 21 years, Art Fox of Detroit.

Delegation after delegation cast its votes for either "The Reuther-Fraser team," or for "the Reuther-Mazey team," "Reuther-Woodcock team," "Reuther-Bannon team," or "Reuther-Greathouse team."

The capture of Neak Luong removed the main obstacle on the road to the hard pressed provincial capital of Svay Rieng, 30 miles west of the Cambodian border.

U.S.-trained strike forces of Cambodians, born in South Vietnam and flown to Phnom Penh, are expected to spearhead the drive to clear the rest of the highway to Svay Rieng, about 40 miles southwest of Neak Luong, the Cambodian reports said.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer, took over temporarily under the union's constitution following Reuther's death in a plane crash. And he may put in a claim to keep the mantle.

Board To Rule

The 25 members of the union's international executive board will choose a new president to serve until the UAW's 1972 convention.

Mazey, the seven vice presidents and 17 regional directors make up the executive board which Reuther headed as president.

The board's next scheduled meeting is June 2.

Reuther appeared to be setting the stage to handpick his successor when four at-large board members and the Canadian director were made vice presidents by the UAW 1970 convention last month at Atlantic City, N.J.

Fraser In Line

Many viewed that as a step to put 53-year-old Douglas Fraser in the line of succession. An administrative assistant to Reuther for eight years, he had been an at-large board member and chief of the union's Chrysler and Skilled Trades departments.

Fraser often was a pinch-hit speaker for Reuther.

His elevation raised Fraser to the level of the union's two long-term vice presidents, Leonard Woodcock, 59, and Dwayne "Pat" Greathouse, 55. Another possible contender elevated with Fraser was Ken Bannon, 56.

Woodcock heads the union's General Motors and Aerospace departments; Greathouse the American Motors and Agricultural Implement departments, and Bannon the Ford department.

Negro In Field

In addition to Fraser and Bannon, Reuther also promoted Nelson Jack Edwards, a Negro at-large board member; Olga Madar, the only woman member; and Dennis McDermott, the union's Canadian director, to vice presidencies.

Since the UAW constitution prohibits the nomination or election of anyone aged 65 or over, Reuther was serving what would have been his next-to-last two-year term had he chosen re-election in 1972.

Reuther would have turned 65 on Sept. 1. 1972, but the next convention will be held on April or May of that year and thus he would have been qualified as less than 65.

May Serve Out Term

The constitution provides that an officer elected before age 65 may serve out his term, so Reuther could have held on until he was nearing 67 in 1974.

Indications that delegates already might be choosing up among the heirs apparent came at Atlantic City as Reuther swamped his first challenger in 21 years, Art Fox of Detroit.

Delegation after delegation cast its votes for either "The Reuther-Fraser team," or for "the Reuther-Mazey team," "Reuther-Woodcock team," "Reuther-Bannon team," or "Reuther-Greathouse team."

S. Vietnamese At Phnom Penh

Luong area said 20 to 30 South Vietnamese boats were maneuvering in the waterway between the two sides of the ferry landing.

The capture of Neak Luong removed the main obstacle on the road to the hard pressed provincial capital of Svay Rieng, 30 miles west of the Cambodian border.

U.S.-trained strike forces of Cambodians, born in South Vietnam and flown to Phnom Penh, are expected to spearhead the drive to clear the rest of the highway to Svay Rieng, about 40 miles southwest of Neak Luong, the Cambodian reports said.

THOUSANDS OF POUNDS of suckers are being taken by commercial fishermen under special permit and in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources. This boat load of suckers is at Ford River, taken from pound nets set under supervision of the DNR, and ready to load by conveyor into a truck. The sucker eggs are taken by the DNR to feed walleyes, northerns and muskies in state hatcheries. (Daily Press Photo)

Sucker Harvest Provides Food For Game Fish

Commercial fishermen of Delta and Menominee counties, who at the request of the Department of Natural Resources are cooperating in a fish egg collecting program, have had their equipment damaged by uninformed persons, the DNR reported today.

"We ask that the fishermen's nets be respected, for the taking of suckers is a benefit to the sports fishermen as well as to the commercial fishermen," said Cliff Long, DNR fish biologist, Escanaba.

There will be more sport for sport anglers as a result of the temporary netting of suckers at the Ford and Bark Rivers in Delta County and in Bailey, Johnson, Kleinke, Schoolhouse and Beaty Creeks in Menominee County, says the DNR.

Nets of the commercial fishermen have been damaged over the weekend, although the nets were set and the catch of suckers is supervised by the Department, it is reported. Cooperating in the fish egg collecting program are Tom Ruleau at Ford River, Richard Marcin at Bark River and four other commercial operators in Menominee County.

Feed Game Fish

Through special DNR permits the fishermen are allowed to set pound nets in the streams flowing into Green Bay where there are sucker runs, Long explained.

No fish are removed until DNR representatives are on hand to take the spawn, which is supplied to the Thompson Hatchery and to Wolf Lake downstate.

The sucker eggs are used at the hatcheries as forage in the rearing of young northern pike, walleyes and muskies, which are released in stock inland and Great Lakes waters with these game fish.

Long stressed the cooperative and beneficial aspects of the sucker-taking program, which had a test a year ago in Menominee County and was expanded this spring into Delta County also.

The Benefits

The benefits include:

1 - Additional harvest of rough fish by the commercial fishermen, who are getting 2 cents per pound for the suckers.

2 - To the sports anglers the development of the game fish program, the reduction of the number of suckers in Green Bay and the consequent lessening of predation by rough fish, and the retaining of the forage for game fish.

Sports anglers were reassured by Long that sucker egg collecting is not harmful to steelhead. Only one or two steelhead have been taken in the nets at Bark River.

Indicating the quantity of suckers being removed, about 15,000 pounds were taken at Ford River on Saturday and about 24,000 pounds were taken about 24,000 pounds on Sunday.

The sucker collecting will continue for not more than another week, completing the production of the needed quota of 3,000 quarts of sucker eggs.

Increase Planned At Scott Paper's Marinette Plant

MARINETTE, Wis. — Plans for a 75 per cent increase in paper towel production at its Marinette plant have been announced by Scott Paper Co.

The firm said the expansion probably will create 24 new job opportunities for local citizens.

Richard P. Schneider, general manager of the mill here, said Scott will spend more than $3 million for the expansion. He said the number three paper machine will be completely replaced and additional equipment provided to increase production of twin-pack and jumbo Scott towel products.

The announcement said construction of major building changes and installation of new pulping facilities will begin immediately. Completion of preliminary construction is scheduled for early fall, the firm indicated.

According to Scott, replacement of the paper machine will be accomplished during June and July of 1971. The new machine will include recent developments by the Scott engineering and research centers in Philadelphia, Pa.

All scheduled for installation will be equipment for increased roll towel diversification including production of the decorated twin-pack and jumbo paper towel products.

Under the union's constitution, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey takes over temporarily. A president to serve until the 1972 convention will be chosen by the remaining 25 members of the international executive board. Its next scheduled meeting is June 2.

Meany Expresses Regrets

George Meany was among the leaders of labor, industry and government who expressed regrets. Meany said, "We had disagreements, but we worked together as well and...it is the latter that stands out in my memory." He credited Reuther with "a unique and lasting contribution" to "labor and the nation."

Reuther had supported Democratic presidential candidates since Franklin D. Roosevelt. In breaking with the AFL-CIO he blamed what he said was its failure to get involved in social endeavors such as civil rights.

He had flown millions of miles throughout the world to champion labor and liberal causes.

Few Challenges

In March of 1946 Reuther ousted R.J. Thomas as UAW president and had been challenged only twice since, in 1949 and last month. He turned back both challenges overwhelmingly.

Reuther quit school at 15 to go to work as an apprentice tool and die maker upon the death of his father, but later completed his high school education at night and attended Wayne State University night classes for three years. He was fired from tool and die maker job at Ford Motor Co in 1933 for his union activities.

As president of the CIO, Reuther led it into merger with the AFL.

Target Of Assassin

On the night of April 20, 1948, Reuther almost lost his life to a would-be assassin who fired through a kitchen window of Reuther's home.

In May 1949, his brother Victor was the victim of an almost identical attack and lost an eye. Victor was the UAW educational director. He now heads its international affairs department.

In neither case was the assailant apprehended.

In the forefront of an organizing campaign at Ford in 1937, Reuther and other unionists were bloodied in what became famous as "The Battle of the Overpass' at Ford's huge River Rouge complex in suburban Dearborn.

In the spring of 1938 two armed men barged into the Reuther home, intent they said, on taking him for "a ride" and forcibly tried to abduct him.

Invaders Flee

Reuther fought, grabbed a blackjack from one assailant. The presence of others there for a birthday party caused the invaders to flee.

The Reuthers are survived by two daughters, Linda, 27, a San Francisco school teacher, and Lisa, 22, a student at Oakland University in nearby Rochester, Mich., where the Reuthers had made their home in recent years.

Mother Survives

Reuther also is surivved by his 88-year-old mother, Mrs. Valentine Reuther who lives in his native Wheeling, W. Va.; by Victor and another brother, Theodore, of Wheeling; and a sister, Mrs. Eugene Richey of Reading, Mass.

Mrs. Reuther also is survived by her father, Frank Wolfman, and two brothers, Earl Wolfman and Leo Wolf, who uses the shorter version of the name, both of Detroit.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Sen. Fulbright Sees Protests Changing Tide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the Nixon administration misreads the extent of national discontent with the Vietnam war but last week's massive student protests will help convince it to change policies.

"I don't know how they can ignore it altogether," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The interview was conducted before Saturday's massive demonstrations and before President Nixon told his news conference Friday night that "I have not been surprised by the intensity of the protests."

The Arkansas Democrat also said "events would indicate" the United States is sliding into a commitment to support the new government of Cambodia. And he charged administration officials "have been less than candid in informing the Congress what their intentions are all the way."

Q. Do you think the Nixon administration understands the extent of discontent with the war in the country?

A. No. I think they misread it. Their own reports all indicate that, saying their telephone polls are 10 to 1 in favor. I think that they're wrong. I agree with George Reedy's observation that presidents, not just this President, his predecessor and others, are so surrounded with what used to be called the palace guard, the royal court, it insulates them from reality.

Q. Will the events of this past week help convince them?

A. That's what it's designed to do, and I suspect it will have an effect. Because they are so obvious, and the physical evidence is so great, I don't know how they can ignore it altogether.

Fair Hearing

President Richard Nixon, whose decision to send American troops into Cambodia touched off violent and massive campus protests and rattled the foundations of his administration in Washington in the process, has pledged the nation that American troops all will be withdrawn by the end of June.

The president's nationally-televised statements about withdrawing from Cambodia and meeting his pledge to withdraw another 150,000 troops from Vietnam may appease a few of the protestors, but there is still a lot of medicine to be applied in the nation to heal the wounds opened between the government and the people in the past 10 days.

Nixon, quite obviously underestimated the strong feelings in the protest against Cambodia. There may be some campus "bums" and professional agitators in the crowds of students, but even among the non-demonstrators there is strong sentiment toward the administration.

Interior Secretary Walter Hickel warned of the danger of losing communication with the nation's young people in a letter to the president. The letter apparently wasn't intended for public consumption. It was reportedly "leaked" to the press by Democratic appointees of previous administrations still serving in Hickel's department. But maybe it's well that the nation is aware of it's unique nature.

"I believe we are in error if we set out consciously to alienate those who could be our friends," Hickel wrote. "Today, our young people, or at least a vast segment of them, believe they have no opportunity to communicate with government, regardless of administration, other than through violent confrontation. But I am convinced we — and they — have the capacity, if we will but have the willingness to learn from history.

It was a lack of communication with the Republican Party that drove the youth of the Great Depression into the Democratic Party, the secretary pointed out, and it was a failure to heed the protests of the young men in the New World colony that brought on the Revolutionary War.

"My point is, if we read history, it clearly shows that youth in its protest must be heard," Hickel said.

Nixon in his news conference said that he agrees with everything the protestors are trying to accomplish.

"They're trying to say they want peace, they're trying to say that they want to stop the killing, they're trying to say that we ought to get out of Vietnam," Nixon said. "I agree with everything they are trying to accomplish. I made the very decision (on sending troops into Cambodia) for the same reason they are protesting. I am concerned because I know how deeply they feel. What I have done will do what they want. In my opinion, it will serve the just cause in Vietnam."

Hopefully, the president is right, that the assault into Cambodia will buy a little time to strengthen the South Vietnamese and that the American withdrawals from Vietnam will continue on schedule or at a faster pace. But meanwhile, there are thousands of angry students and young Americans, the people who will be fighting the war if it continues, who don't understand the logic of how a war can be shortened by expanding it.

Their cries of protest may not change the president's policy. But their voices and arguments must be given fair hearing and due respect by the administration. It's only on that basis that there remains hope to control the violence that has accompanied the cries.

PLUGGING THE LEAK

Michigan Has No Plan For Campus Protests

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Political people confronted by a delicate diplomatic crisis on Michigan campuses have found themselves trapped without a viable rapprochement policy.

It all means that nobody has come up with a plan to keep students from tossing bricks or taking over the library.

The class boycott at the University of Michigan has ended. At Michigan State University repentant students have raised $80 reparations money for $20,000 in damage to stores.

Reports and analyses are still reaching legislators on the problems last year at Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti, Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo, Northern Michigan University at Marquette and the latest flurry at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant.

No Common Cause

It is possible now to report that there is no common denomiator for campus violence, no skein that runs through them all that if diverted might restore peace and serenity.

There is some fretting about proliferation.

"Michigan State has had its share of demonstrations and will probably have others," said an MSU spokesman.

Presidents and administrators ache from psychie and professional wounds. Some professors side with the students, others seek law and order. It is a terrible time for philosophers.

It is also an election year and high-profile statements abound. State Senator Arthur Cartwright (D-Detroit), visited Ann Arbor and commented:

"I am firmly convinced that they have conducted themselves in a manner to be commended. There has been no violence that can be ascribed to this group (of students)."

Fleming Praised

He was joined by Reps. James Bradley and Jackie Vaughn III, both Detroit Democrats, who praised President Robben Fleming for his "responsive and highly enlightened efforts to meet the demands for justice . . ."

There were other demands that Fleming be fired, as though he were a mere Mayo Smith. Fleming said the subject was approached "in a teasing way" at an emergency Board of Regents meeting.

And Rep. Hal W. Ziegler (R-Jackson) said any U. of M. agreement with the Black Action Movement (BAM) should be carefully reviewed.

"Anything short of a complete effort to restore the public's support and confidence in the university would have dire consequences," he said.

There will now be a two-month debate over the shape of the bargaining table.

Investigations Planned

On still another level is the escalation of legislative investigations.

Rep. Jack Faxon (D-Detroit) is gearing up for a study of the medical school troubles at Wayne State University and Rep. George F. Montgomery (D-Detroit) is starting another on community colleges. There will be others.

And Rep. Vincent J. Petitpren (D-Westland), chairman of the House committee on Colleges and Universities, who conducted the inquiries into troubles at Eastern and Ferris State College last year, is the only one who can't get any money to finance further probes.

Petitpren said:

"We don't want to jump into this thing at the U. of M. until we know what's going on. When you're walking a tight rope you've got to be careful.

"We could ask the Board of Regents to do something and they can get a lawyer to write us a letter telling us to go to hell.

"Sure you're going to get a lot of press by investigating now, but you're taking a chance of contributing to the disruption."

Petitpren might have done well at Yalta.

Another View

Still another view is put forward by Sen. Robert J. Huber (R-Troy), super-investigator of campus fracases, who is now running independently for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

His committee spent $50,000 for a report by Higher Education Executive Associates. The total report said nothing needs to be done now, and Huber accuses the U. of M. of ignoring its recommendations.

"We are witnessing the results of a no-policy program," Huber said. "Without a clear statement of the purposes and objectives of a university, those who would remake that institution in some sort of distorted image have moved into a vacuum."

While the hawks and the doves debate, Gov. Milliken expresses gratitude for even a cease-fire. He said:

"I'm gratified that the boycott has ended at the University of Michigan, and that the students, the faculty and the administration can get back to the task of education.

"It is particularly gratifying that student concentration can return to where it belongs — in the classroom."

It develops now that the hand that holds the rock is the hand that rocks the state.

Conglomerates May Be Losing Their 'Touch'

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — From this chronological viewpoint, less than five monthsize steps into the 1970s, some widely held notions of the Soaring Sixties seem very worn and aged, as if they belonged farther back in history.

Great economic strides were made in the '60s, so large that there often was little time for reflection. Now the economy is taking baby steps, if it is moving at all, and there is time to reflect.

Conglomerate Magic—Maybe there was magic for a time. During the 1960s millions of Americans believed that the conglomerators, the men who assemble disparate businesses under one corporate roof, were geniuses.

So long as investors believed this to be true the stock of conglomerates continued to rise, thus providing them with more money to acquire more companies.

Their profits look good too; something about synergism, or the total being greater than the parts. Popularly this effect was described by the phrase: "Two and two equal five." The expanding economy contributed too, of course.

The economy slowed. Profits slipped. Investors wondered if synergism was fact or myth. They sold. The shares of conglomerates dropped in price. No longer did they have the funds to buy other companies.

Unable to continue expanding geometrically, the conglomerates were forced to concede that, for the time being, two and two didn't equal five after all.

This year one of the premier conglomerators, James Long of Ling-Temco-Vought, reported that his company was running a Mutual Fund Miracles—When the stock market was rising some mutual funds, particularly new ones, showed tremendous gains. There was a euphoric feeling in the market place for several years, and the funds rode this soaring optimism.

Investing in so-called glamor stocks, some of the funds reported asset gains of better than 50 per cent in one year. Money poured into their coffers, and some of these funds grew to enormous, sometimes billion-dollar size.

The turn became obvious a couple of years ago. Some of the larger funds were shown to be dinosauric. Big and cumbersome, maybe overfed, they couldn't adapt to a changed environment. Colder economic weather trapped them.

As it turned out, some of those glamor stocks had high prices mainly because the funds were investing in them. And, when profits of these glamor companies ceased to continue rising, the funds, as chief owners, found themselves to be among the principal losers.

Some funds are now off 30 and 40 per cent in the past year. Fred Carr, who managed Enterprise Fund to a 113 per cent gain in one year, has quit the fight. Manhattan Fund, one of the big performers, is merged into a financial conglomerate.

The Economy Can Always Be Fine Tuned—During the early 1960s there was some reason to believe this. The economy was expanding smoothly under the artful direction of wise fiscal and monetary authorities. Inflation was negligible.

But war and politics intruded into pure economics. Government spending, much of it for a suddenly escalated Vietnam war, threw the economy into imbalance. Inflation burned up both profit and wage increases.

Now as the Nixon administration attempts to get the economy back on an even keel it finds the job easier said than done. Although using a variety of tactics to reduce inflation, prices continue to soar, the economic notes are still sour.

FAMOUS HAND

Martin Cohn, well - known Atlanta expert, tells this story about himself, and quite a story it is. He was South and the bidding went as shown.

Had West led a spade or a heart, Cohn would have made the contract. But West, apparently suspecting the type of hand he was competing against, led the nine of clubs instead. This proved to be an exceptionally effective lead when East won with the ace and returned the deuce of spades.

Declarer followed low, hoping against hope that East had the queen. But West showed up with the damsel and cashed the ace, East following suit with the three and thus blocking the suit.

However, the block proved to be no hardship to the defense when West continued with a spade to East's nine. East returned a heart, trapping South's king and allowing West to cash five hearts as well as his three remaining spades.

By this time twelve tricks had been played and East-West had won them all. Cohn was already down seven—4,000 points—with one trick to go.

Perhaps the story should end right here, but actually South's agony was not yet over. When West cashed his twelfth trick, Cohn still had a discard to choose. His last two cards were the king of clubs and ace of diamonds—and he had to guess which one to discard.

Unfortunately, he decided to discard the king of clubs, since he could not tell whether West's last card was a diamond or a club. West thereupon cashed the queen of clubs and the extraordinary outcome was that South went down eight—4,600 points. He failed to score a trick.

Obviously Cohn misplayed the hand. He should have held he loss to 4,000 points!

Giving One's Body To Science Approved

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a Roman Catholic. Marie comes from a very devout family. She not only believes deeply in her religion, but she lives it.

Marie's mother has decided to give her body to science after she passes away. She is not a well woman and it could happen any day now. Marie is against it. She claims it would be breaking the laws of the Church. Her mother says it doesn't seem reasonable. She feels this final act would be a genuine contribution to mankind. I've inquired of two local priests about the Church's ruling in such matters but my mother-in-law wants the word of a top-level church authority. Can you ask someone?—Robert S.

Dear Robert: Will the President of Notre Dame University do? Father Theodore Hesburgh provided the following answer:

"There is no prohibition whatever against giving one's body to science after death. In fact, doing so might be looked upon as an act of virtue, since it makes possible the training of medical students in anatomy. I have heard it is the custom in some Catholic medical schools for the students working on a body to offer a Mass at the end of the semester for the repose of the soul of the person whose body was used."

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I am too ashamed to discuss my problems with anyone but I do need an answer.

My husband is in his early 50's. We have a good marriage and have made a place for ourselves in the community. Our only child is a boy — a teenager. For the past several months my husband has been getting up an hour earlier than usual. He takes off his pajamas and walks around the house in the nude. I discovered this by accident. He is not aware that I know. I keep worrying that the boy might awaken early one morning and see him. Also, what if someone walks by the house and sees him through a window? It would be scandalous.

Is there something wrong with his mind? Why should a man do such a thing? I am concerned. He knows I am uptight about something but I can't bring myself to tell him what is bothering me. Please advise.—H. F. U.

Dear H. F. U.: Peculiar? Yes. Pathological? No. Scandalous? Why? So long as your husband stays in the house and keeps the shades down I see no cause for alarm. If a teenage boy sees his father in the nude, so what? If you see him, so what?

Let Nature Boy know that you are aware of his somewhat unorthodox ritual. You'll feel better once you discuss it with him openly.

Dear Ann Landers: I feel like a freak. I've been to four doctors and have tried several medicines but nothing works. I'm plagued by back perspiration. It's worse when I am tense or anxious. It's awfully embarrassing to perspire right through my clothes. Sometimes when I come home from an evening out, I am soaking wet. Have you ever heard of this? Do you know if anything can be done about it?—Plainfield, N. J.

Dear N. J.: I've received and printed several letters from readers who suffer from hyperhidrosis. Many drugs (atropine derivatives) offer relief, but the side-effects in some cases cause other problems. If you've seen four doctors, see one more. Perhaps under his close observation you can hit on a drug or a combination of drugs that will solve your problem.

Fair Hearing

President Richard Nixon, whose decision to send American troops into Cambodia touched off violent and massive campus protests and rattled the foundations of his administration in Washington in the process, has pledged the nation that American troops all will be withdrawn by the end of June.

The president's nationally-televised statements about withdrawing from Cambodia and meeting his pledge to withdraw another 150,000 troops from Vietnam may appease a few of the protestors, but there is still a lot of medicine to be applied in the nation to heal the wounds opened between the government and the people in the past 10 days.

Nixon, quite obviously underestimated the strong feelings in the protest against Cambodia. There may be some campus "bums" and professional agitators in the crowds of students, but even among the non-demonstrators there is strong sentiment toward the administration.

Interior Secretary Walter Hickel warned of the danger of losing communication with the nation's young people in a letter to the president. The letter apparently wasn't intended for public consumption. It was reportedly "leaked" to the press by Democratic appointees of previous administrations still serving in Hickel's department. But maybe it's well that the nation is aware of it's unique nature.

"I believe we are in error if we set out consciously to alienate those who could be our friends," Hickel wrote. "Today, our young people, or at least a vast segment of them, believe they have no opportunity to communicate with government, regardless of administration, other than through violent confrontation. But I am convinced we — and they — have the capacity, if we will but have the willingness to learn from history.

It was a lack of communication with the Republican Party that drove the youth of the Great Depression into the Democratic Party, the secretary pointed out, and it was a failure to heed the protests of the young men in the New World colony that brought on the Revolutionary War.

"My point is, if we read history, it clearly shows that youth in its protest must be heard," Hickel said.

Nixon in his news conference said that he agrees with everything the protestors are trying to accomplish.

"They're trying to say they want peace, they're trying to say that they want to stop the killing, they're trying to say that we ought to get out of Vietnam," Nixon said. "I agree with everything they are trying to accomplish. I made the very decision (on sending troops into Cambodia) for the same reason they are protesting. I am concerned because I know how deeply they feel. What I have done will do what they want. In my opinion, it will serve the just cause in Vietnam."

Hopefully, the president is right, that the assault into Cambodia will buy a little time to strengthen the South Vietnamese and that the American withdrawals from Vietnam will continue on schedule or at a faster pace. But meanwhile, there are thousands of angry students and young Americans, the people who will be fighting the war if it continues, who don't understand the logic of how a war can be shortened by expanding it.

Their cries of protest may not change the president's policy. But their voices and arguments must be given fair hearing and due respect by the administration. It's only on that basis that there remains hope to control the violence that has accompanied the cries.

Conglomerate Magic—Maybe there was magic for a time. During the 1960s millions of Americans believed that the conglomerators, the men who assemble disparate businesses under one corporate roof, were geniuses.

So long as investors believed this to be true the stock of conglomerates continued to rise, thus providing them with more money to acquire more companies.

Their profits look good too; something about synergism, or the total being greater than the parts. Popularly this effect was described by the phrase: "Two and two equal five." The expanding economy contributed too, of course.

The economy slowed. Profits slipped. Investors wondered if synergism was fact or myth. They sold. The shares of conglomerates dropped in price. No longer did they have the funds to buy other companies.

Unable to continue expanding geometrically, the conglomerates were forced to concede that, for the time being, two and two didn't equal five after all.

This year one of the premier conglomerators, James Long of Ling-Temco-Vought, reported that his company was running a deficit. The stock, which had been as high as $135.75 in the past couple of years, is now down to $14.37.

Mutual Fund Miracles—When the stock market was rising some mutual funds, particularly new ones, showed tremendous gains. There was a euphoric feeling in the market place for several years, and the funds rode this soaring optimism.

Investing in so-called glamor stocks, some of the funds reported asset gains of better than 50 per cent in one year. Money poured into their coffers, and some of these funds grew to enormous, sometimes billion-dollar size.

The turn became obvious a couple of years ago. Some of the larger funds were shown to be dinosauric. Big and cumbersome, maybe overfed, they couldn't adapt to a changed invironment. Colder economic weather trapped them.

As it turned out, some of those glamor stocks had high prices mainly because the funds were investing in them. And, when profits of these glamor companies ceased to continue rising, the funds, as chief owners, found themselves to be among the principal losers.

Some funds are now off 30 and 40 per cent in the past year. Fred Carr, who managed Enterprise Fund to a 113 per cent gain in one year, has quit the fight. Manhattan Fund, one of the big performers, is merged into a financial conglomerate.

The Economy Can Always Be Fine Tuned—During the early 1960s there was some reason to believe this. The economy was expanding smoothly under the artful direction of wise fiscal and monetary authorities. Inflation was negligible.

But war and politics intruded into pure economics. Government spending, much of it for a suddenly escalated Vietnam war, threw the economy into imbalance. Inflation burned up both profit and wage increases.

Now as the Nixon administration attempts to get the economy back on an even keel it finds the job easier said than done. Although using a variety of tactics to reduce inflation, prices continue to soar, the economic notes are still sour.

FAMOUS HAND

Martin Cohn, well - known Atlanta expert, tells this story about himself, and quite a story it is. He was South and the bidding went as shown.

Had West led a spade or a heart, Cohn would have made the contract. But West, apparently suspecting the type of hand he was competing against, led the nine of clubs instead. This proved to be an exceptionally effective lead when East won with the ace and returned the deuce of spades.

Declarer followed low, hoping against hope that East had the queen. But West showed up with the damsel and cashed the ace, East following suit with the three and thus blocking the suit.

However, the block proved to be no hardship to the defense when West continued with a spade to East's nine. East returned a heart, trapping South's king and allowing West to cash five hearts as well as his three remaining spades.

By this time twelve tricks had been played and East-West had won them all. Cohn was already down seven—4,000 points—with one trick to go.

Perhaps the story should end right here, but actually South's agony was not yet over. When West cashed his twelfth trick, Cohn still had a discard to choose. His last two cards were the king of clubs and ace of diamonds—and he had to guess which one to discard.

Unfortunately, he decided to discard the king of clubs, since he could not tell whether West's last card was a diamond or a club. West thereupon cashed the queen of clubs and the extraordinary outcome was that South went down eight—4,600 points. He failed to score a trick.

Obviously Cohn misplayed the hand. He should have held he loss to 4,000 points!

Science Study

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—A scientific study to determine whether salt laden snow from Cheboygan's streets harms aquatic life when the snow is dumped into the Cheboygan River has been approved by the city council. Some 600 persons signed petitions urging the study. The petitions were circulated by school children as a class project. The study will try also to determine where else to dump the snow if it is found to be harmful to the river.

Ann Landers

Giving One's Body To Science Approved

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a Roman Catholic. Marie comes from a very devout family. She not only believes deeply in her religion, but she lives it.

Marie's mother has decided to give her body to science after she passes away. She is not a well woman and it could happen any day now. Marie is against it. She claims it would be breaking the laws of the Church. Her mother says it doesn't seem reasonable. She feels this final act would be a genuine contribution to mankind. I've inquired of two local priests about the Church's ruling in such matters but my mother-in-law wants the word of a top-level church authority. Can you ask someone?—Robert S.

Dear Robert: Will the President of Notre Dame University do? Father Theodore Hesburgh provided the following answer:

"There is no prohibition whatever against giving one's body to science after death. In fact, doing so might be looked upon as an act of virtue, since it makes possible the training of medical students in anatomy. I have heard it is the custom in some Catholic medical schools for the students working on a body to offer a Mass at the end of the semester for the repose of the soul of the person whose body was used."

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: I am too ashamed to discuss my problems with anyone but I do need an answer.

My husband is in his early 50's. We have a good marriage and have made a place for ourselves in the community. Our only child is a boy — a teenager. For the past several months my husband has been getting up an hour earlier than usual. He takes off his pajamas and walks around the house in the nude. I discovered this by accident. He is not aware that I know. I keep worrying that the boy might awaken early one morning and see him. Also, what if someone walks by the house and sees him through a window? It would be scandalous.

Is there something wrong with his mind? Why should a man do such a thing? I am concerned. He knows I am uptight about something but I can't bring myself to tell him what is bothering me. Please advise.—H. F. U.

Dear H. F. U.: Peculiar? Yes. Pathological? No. Scandalous? Why? So long as your husband stays in the house and keeps the shades down I see no cause for alarm. If a teenage boy sees his father in the nude, so what? If you see him, so what?

Let Nature Boy know that you are aware of his somewhat unorthodox ritual. You'll feel better once you discuss it with him openly.

Dear Ann Landers: I feel like a freak. I've been to four doctors and have tried several medicines but nothing works. I'm plagued by back perspiration. It's worse when I am tense or anxious. It's awfully embarrassing to perspire right through my clothes. Sometimes when I come home from an evening out, I am soaking wet. Have you ever heard of this? Do you know if anything can be done about it?—Plainfield, N. J.

Dear N. J.: I've received and printed several letters from readers who suffer from hyperhidrosis. Many drugs (atropine derivatives) offer relief, but the side-effects in some cases cause other problems. If you've seen four doctors, see one more. Perhaps under his close observation you can hit on a drug or a combination of drugs that will solve your problem.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Open House Will Honor Mrs. Ida Carlson

An open house will be held Sunday, May 17 in honor of the 90th birthday of Mrs. Ida Carlson.

She was born in Finland and came to Escanaba with her late husband, Alfred Carlson, in 1917.

Mrs. Carlson was employed at the Delta Hotel until 1959, when she retired at the age of 79.

She has one daughter and two sons, Mrs. Floyd Raffaelli of Escanaba, Carl Carlson of Groos and Edwin Carlson of Ford River, with whom she makes her home.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the open house which will be held Sunday at the Ford River Town Hall from 3 to 9 p.m.

Mary Susan Smith, John Proegler Wed

Mary Susan Smith of Mequon, Wis., formerly of Escanaba, became the bride of John Thomas Proegler, also of Mequon, during a double ring ceremony performed April 4 at St. Eugene Catholic Church.

Officiating at the nuptials at 11 a.m. was the Rev. William H. Macklin. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dale C. Smith, 10401 Port Washington Road, Mequon and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Proegler.

Bridal Aides

Maid of honor for the bride was Pam Berg of Escanaba and bridesmaids were Janet Ruef of Atlanta, Ga., Connie Vogt of Grand Rapids, Sue Griffiths of Racine, Wis., Kay Mueller of Racine and R. Proegler of Mequon. Flower girl was Virginia Proegler, a niece of the bridegroom.

Serving as best man was Jim Smith of Mequon, the bride's brother and groomsmen were Russ Zarling and Frank Proegler, both of Mequon. Seating the guests were Vern Weiland, Frank Chopp and Bob Mueller, all of Mequon.

Traditional Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, John Griffiths, wore a traditional full skirted gown trimmed in imported peau d' ange lace with a matching veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She also wore a cameo, which belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother.

The bridal aides were attired in floor length frocks styled with avocado bodices trimmed with white lace embroidery and white skirts. They carried colonial arrangements of yellow roses and white mums.

Mothers' Attire

The mother of the bride was attired in an aqua blue silk dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories and Mrs. John Griffiths, the bride's grandmother wore a beige coat and dress ensemble with matching accessories. Both were presented orchid corsages.

Reception

The reception and dinner was held at the Alpine Village in Mequon beginning at 6 p.m. After a wedding trip to California, the couple will reside at 10521 N. Port Washington Road, Mequon.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Escanaba Area High School and she also attended Northern Michigan University. She graduated from Patricia Stevens College in 1968. Mr. Proegler is a 1966 graduate of Homestead High School and he also attended school in Chicago. He now has his own business, "Tom-Pro Landscaping."

Burglars Hit Buchman Store

Three breaking and enterings were investigated by the State Police during the past weekend.

Officers said owner Harry Buchman reported a break-in that occurred at the Buchman store in Rapid Rrver sometime between 9 p.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Entry was made by breaking a window in an overhead garage door at the rear of the building, according to State Police, and a .22 caliber revolver, a Timex wrist watch, approximately $3 in change, and numerous bottles of whiskey and brandy were reported to have been taken.

Another break-in was reported at a hunting camp located in section four on the Stonington Peninsula, owned by Warren Bowen, of Reed City, Mich.

Officers said entry was made by prying a hasp off the door sometime between May 5 and May 9.

It was discovered by Ozzo Hansen a nearby resident, and it is unknown at this time whether or not anything was taken, police said.

A third break-in was reported by Shirley Ditkutowski, of Milwaukee, Wis.

State Police said a house trailer, used as a summer home, located on County Rd. 414 just west of County Rd. C-17, in the Soo Hill area, was broken into sometime during the past three months.

The owner, Mrs. Ditkutowski, told police that entry was apparently made by unlocking the front door with a key that had been hidden on the premises. Nothing was reported to have been taken at this time, police said.

Ralph Stewart Dies Today

Ralph Stewart, 66, of Rock, died at 7:30 a.m. today at his home after suffering a heart attack. He was born June 6, 1903 in Rock and was a retired woodsman.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry (Hazel) Saari of Detroit and one brother.

The body has been removed to the Skradski Funeral Home and funeral services are tentatively set for Wednesday morning.

British Mourning Death Of Reuther

LONDON (AP) — Walter Reuther was mourned by Britain's top unionist Sunday as "a great figure who still had a considerable contribution to make" to the international labor union movement.

Victor Feather, general secretary of the Trades Union Congress—representing 9 million organized workers—issued his statement after hearing of Reuther's death in a Michigan plane crash.

Feather described Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union in the United States, as "a leader of international trade union thought for over 30 years." He added: "Progressive forces throughout the world will regret his death deeply."

Documents Reveal

Hanoi Planning 'Liberation' War

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist high command for Vietnam will attempt to counter the continuing allied destruction of its long-established border sanctuaries by organizing a "war of liberation" in Cambodia similar to the conflicts that have torn apart South Vietnam and Laos for 10 years.

That is the instruction being passed down from the Hanoi government. At least 10 documents captured inside Cambodia in recent days refer to this new war.

Detailed directions have been fed to field commanders and political cadres on techniques of recruitment and organization inside Cambodia. The instructions are in effect the same that built the Vietnam conflict from an insurgency problem into a full-blown war: swim like fish in the sea of population, create a people's army.

Allied experts who have been studying the captured documents believe the Communist high command is aiming less to take over Cambodia than to insure the continued use of that country to fight the Vietnam war.

While Cambodia was neutral under Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Communist-led forces kept a generally low profile along the border sanctuaries and did not meddle in internal Cambodia politics. Sihanouk's overthrow in March and the resultant Saigon army thrusts into the sanctuaries seriously alarmed the Communist high command, the captured documents show.

One dated in late March said, "It can be assumed that a plan to drive our troops from the border areas has been devised by the Cambodian government and the U.S. and Vietnamese army in South Vietnam."

The answer was to instruct Communist leaders in Cambodia to organize a new war.

A notebook belonging to a member of a Unit 3 was captured the first day American troops crossed into Cambodia. An April 18 entry said the owner was assigned to activate guerrilla elements and "to motivate the Cambodians in my area of responsibility to join the liberation front of Cambodia."

Another diary entry said the mission of the front was to overthrow the Lon Nol government in Phnom Penh and fight the Americans.

Another document passed down orders to "consolidate liberated areas and develop a liberation army."

Unrest Topic Of Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned the nation's governors to the White House today to discuss campus unrest and Southeast Asia in the wake of student strikes, antiwar protests and sporadic violence that climaxed in a massive weekend demonstration in the nation's capital.

Nixon called the meeting last week after campus violence erupted following his decision to send American troops into Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

The state executives arrived as antiwar leaders called for the protest movement to continue its efforts against American involvement in Southeast Asia.

David Dellinger, a defendant in the recent Chicago seven conspiracy trial and longtime pacifist leader, said Sunday "people are going back to their own communities with the theme 'No business as usual.' "

He said the weekend demonstration marked the beginning of a grass-roots movement swelling across the country.

Antiwar spokesmen also said efforts would be stepped up to spread strikes to more campuses and industry in an attempt to cripple the "war economy."

The apparently volatile campus situation also prompted three major college officials to propose giving students time off next fall to participate in political campaigns.

Camp Fire Girls, Bluebirds Hold Ceremonial

Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds of Hyde and Ford River recently held a Ceremonial for their mothers at the Ford River Town Hall.

Bluebirds, under the leadership of Mrs. Walter Moniowczak, sang a song and four girls were awarded certificates and are, "flying up," or advancing into the Camp Fire Girls. They are: Brenda Brunette, Gina Hanson, Cathy Judson and Brenda Rowell.

The Camp Fire Girls Ceremonial consisted of the Indian Processional song and the Camp Fire Girls Law, and lighting of the three candles symbolizing Wo-He-Lo, the first two letters of Work, Health and Love.

The girls were then awarded their Honor Beads for achievements in the seven crafts of business, citizenship, creative arts, home, outdoors, science, and sports and games, by their guardian, Mrs. Tom Brayak.

After the ceremonial girls who had completed requirements for the Trail Seekers rank, were awarded a silver charm and a certificate: Peggy Allsworth, Sandy Allsworth, Barbara Bittner, Karen Brayak, Dawn Brunette, Debbie Daigneault, Christine Kleiman, Teri Miller, Sandra Moniowczak, Christine Porath, Susan Rouse, Debra Van Elsacker, Cindy Wellman and Sandy Johnson. Receiving honor beads only were Jean Cretens and Bonnie Johnivan.

Mrs. Harvey Gasman, head of the Camp Fire Girls Council in this area, awarded the certificates to the girls and spoke briefly on the Camp Fire program and the camping plans for this summer at Clear Lake and the Gasman cottage.

She also presented gifts to the girls who had sold the most boxes of candy in the recent candy sale, Yvette Eagle of the Bluebirds and Christine Kleiman of the Camp Fire Girls.

In conclusion, girls presented their mothers with gifts they had made for Mother's Day and lunch was served. Mrs. Brayak was also presented with a gift in appreciation of her service.

Trial Scheduled For Father Who Killed 4 Teens

DETROIT (AP) — Pretrial examination is scheduled May 18 for a 45-year-old Detroit railroad engineer, who is charged with first - degree murder in the slaying of his teen-age daughter and three youths with whom she was staying.

Arville D. Garland was arraigned Saturday on the charges and ordered held without bond pending the pretrial hearing.

The four youths shot to death Friday were Garland's 17-year-old daughter, Sandra; Scott Kabran, 18; Gregory Walls, 18, and Anthony Brown, 16.

Police said that Brown was a runaway from the Whitmore Lake boy's training school.

SOME MEMBERS OF THE International Union of Operating Engineers Local 324 were picketing in front of the union office at 2201 Ludington St. this morning. A spokesman for the picketing members, who requested to remain unidentified, said that 20 years of hiring practices are being ignored by this local. He also said "an employe has the right to recall and the union has not followed this procedure on the Mead project, instead they have been hiring whoever they damn please." The spokesman said they would continue picketing until their grievances have been corrected. (Daily Press Photo)

Most Colleges In Operation

By The Associated Press

Administrators and political leaders ordered the reopening today of many campuses that were closed last week, but some students called for continued protests. Other schools offered compromise plans to keep classes going.

Most of the nation's colleges were quiet Sunday as students from some of them returned from the weekend demonstration in Washington where about 60,000 persons gathered to protest operations by U.S. troops in Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

At the University of Wisconsin, however, a crowd that grew to 4,000 marched on the administration building, breaking windows and demanding that the school reverse its rejetcion of a class moratorium request. Thundershowers helped National Guardsmen quell the turmoil.

In another development, officials of four major universities indicated they favored a proposal, adopted by Princeton last week, to give undergraduates time off this fall to work in political campaigns.

Among the campuses scheduled for reopening today were the California State university and college system. But student leaders at the Berkeley campus called for "curtailing normal activities for the remainder of the war" and opening the campus to mobilize resources and manpower for protests.

Israelis Note 22nd Anniversary

TEL AVIV (AP) — Festive Israelis celebrated their nation's 22nd anniversary today while police patrolled the streets on the lookout for Arab terrorists.

The mood of the country, somber in the wake of escalated guerrilla raids in recent days, was lifted slightly by a marked drop in border clashes.

Between Sunday night and early today only one border incident was reported—an Israeli soldier was slightly wounded in a skirmish on the Jordan River.

Woman's Club Plans Closing Luncheon, Bridge

The Escanaba Woman's Club will hold their closing luncheon and bridge Wednesday, May 20 at the MediCenter beginning at 1 p.m. Hostesses for the event are Mrs. Nicholas Chapekis and Mrs. T. A. McInerney.

Trudell Award Winner Named

MARQUETTE — Ron Helgren, sixth grade instructor in the Forest Park District Schools at Crystal Falls, is the winner of the Peter Trudell Award for 1969-70. He was chosen because of his work in integrating conservation education during the school year.

The Trudell Award, sponsored annually by retired businessman William Asselin of Norway, has been in effect since 1955.

Last year's winner was Celestine Christenson, third grade teacher and principal from the Manistique Area Schools.

In Service

PFC August A. Janke III, 20, recently received the Army Commendation Medal while serving with the 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile) in Vietnam. He earned the award for meritorious service as a rifleman in Co. C, 1st Battalion of the division's 502 Infantry. PFC Janke entered the Army in March, 1969, completed his basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky., and was stationed at Fort Polk, La., prior to his arrival in Vietnam. PFC Janke, whose wife Corrine lives at 1015 S. 19th St., is a 1968 graduate of Holy Name High School.

Laker Rookie Lost In Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Garrett, surprisingly left unprotected by the Los Angeles Lakers, was one of the first two picks by Buffalo in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft Monday.

Buffalo, which chose first on the opening round and third on the second, also selected Ray Scott of Baltimore, but the NBA refused to divulge the order of selection.

Portland, which picks second throughout the draft, chose Leroy Ellis of Baltimore and, in a minor surprise, Larry Siegfried of Boston.

Cleveland, which swapped order of picks with Buffalo, selected Luther Rackle of Cincinnati and Walt Wesley of Chicago.

Garrett, had been expected to be one of the seven players protected by the Lakers. The rookie guard had been a starter for the Lakers, who lost to the New York Knicks in the championship series last week.

Marquette Wins Sportsmen Award

MARQUETTE — The Marquette Public Grade Schools have been declared the winner of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association annual Conservation Education Award for 1969-70 according to Regional Information Officer Paul V. Challancin of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

A bronze plaque, which has been sponsored by the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association since 1953, is presented to the school having done the most outstanding job in integrating conservation in its curriculum over the school year. The award will be presented to a representative of the Marquette Schools at the annual NMSA noon banquet in Iron Mountain on Sept. 20.

Marquette High School won the award in 1956 and the Manistique Area School District was the winner last year.

Marquette Captures GLC Track Crown

By DON HOWES

MANISTIQUE — The Marquette Redmen paced by individual performances from Bob Leanes and Bob Schacht with tremendous balance, swept to the Great Lakes Conference track and field championship here Saturday with 72⅓ points, far ahead of the second place Ishpeming Hematites who scored 38 5/6 to edge the Gladstone Braves for second place.

Gladstone, after being disqualified from winning the mile relay, finished in third place with 37½ points, followed by Manistique with 28, Newberry 13½, Munising 13⅓ Negaunee 12 and Sault Ste. Marie 8½.

Marquette unveiled a one-two track scoring punch in Leans and Schacht, who were the only double winners in the meet to stagger their opponents from the start.

Leanes raced to victory in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.65 seconds and sprinted the 220 yard dash in 22 seconds for his double victory. He also took a second in the pole vault contest.

Schacht skimmed the low hurdles in 22 seconds flat and then stepped the high hurdles in 15.9 seconds for his double victory.

Highlight of the meet was a new conference record in the pole vault by Ishpeming's Steve Nelson, who rewrote the 12 foot one inch standard he set last spring with a new record of 12 feet five and a quarter inches.

Gladstone Third

The Gladstone Braves, missing their chance for a second place finish because of the disqualification of their mile relay team, produced two first place finishes in the two sections of the 880 yard run.

The Braves all-around sports star, Cliff Young, won the first running of the 880 in 2:07.5, while the Stupak brothers Bart and Jeff finished first and second respectively in the second section of the 880, with Bart winning in the time of 2:12.3.

Other point producers for the Braves were Jeff Schram in the two mile run; John Skellenger finished second in the 100 and third in the 220 yard dashes; Pat McGeary third in the first section of the 440; Terry Cartwright had three third place finishes in the long jump, high jump and in the second running of the 440, while Bob Young took a fourth and fifth in the high and low hurdles.

Emeralds Fourth

Manistique scored four firsts, including both sections of the 440 yard dash, compared to five firsts for Marquette, but the Emeralds couldn't offset the depth of the powerful Redmen.

Dave Mickleson won the first section of the 440 in a time of 54.9 seconds, while teammate Dwayne Sundin took the second running in 55.3 seconds.

The Emeralds other firsts went to Al Goudreau in the shot put with a heave of 44 feet 2¾ inches, and to Ken Neeson in the long jump with a leap of 20 feet 1¼ inches. Neeson also finished third in the pole vault behind the record breaking performance of Ishpeming's Nelson.

Others scoring points for Manistique were Steve Aller, who finished fourth in the high hurdles and the Emeralds mile relay team which placed third in that event. Manistique's 880 yard relay team was also disqualified, like the Gladstone team was, when one of their players crossed the path too soon into the wrong lane.

Both Gladstone and Manistique will be back in action this week before the Regionals next Saturday. The Braves will be at Gwinn today and both teams will be in the Rudyard Invitational meet on Wednesday. Manistique will be in the Regionals at Newberry Saturday, while the Braves will run their Regional at Menominee.

Norm Cash Plays Hero-Goat Role In 9-7 Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — From a hero to a goat in 2½ innings--that's what happened to Detroit Tiger first baseman Norm Cash Sunday.

Cash blasted a pair of home runs, including a three - run drive in the fifth inning that pulled Detroit from a 6-4 deficit to a 7-6 lead, but the Royals went on to win 9-7 on Cash's mental lapse in the eighth.

The loss for the second-place Tigers was their seventh in 10 games and dropped from five full games behind first place Baltimore in the American League East. They were scheduled to meet Chicago, victim of a double-header loss to Baltimore Sunday, tonight in the opener of a three-game series with Joe Niekro, 3-2, to oppose Billy Wynne, 0-1, of the White Sox.

"He should have charged the ball and thrown to the plate," lamented Tiger manager Mayo Smith afterwards, referring to Cash's play which allowed the winning run to score in the slugfest.

Both Kansas City runs in the frame were without the benefit of a hit.

"I was shocked at that play but I was interested in the run and didn't see it," said Royals manager Charlie Metro.

Cash fielded Ed Kirkpatrick's grounder along the first base line and stood as if paralyzed, failing to either throw to the plate or even tag Kirkpatrick who briefly stood motionless in front of him. Joe Keough scored from third and Kirkpatrick ambled safely to first.

Actually, the run would have scored whether Cash made the tag or not -- unless possibly he would have charged the grounder as Smith said and thrown to the plate.

"I wanted to district Cash so the run could come across," said Kirkpatrick, who also smacked a three-run homer in the fourth. "Then I looked at the umpire (Marty Springstead at first) and when he made no 'out' sign I ran to first."

Until then the mother's Day crowd of 31,500 held Cash in high esteem as he cracked a solo home run off Royals' starter Dick Drago in the second and tagged him for the three - run shot three innings later in his 5,000 career at-bat.

The game was another collapse for Detroit's pitching staff, while Al Fitzmorris, 1-1, no-hit the Tigers in his four innings of relief to win his second major league game.

"Our relief job did a better job than theirs. That's about the story," Metro said.

KC tagged Tiger starter Earl Wilson for six runs (five earned) in his 4 1-3 innings. But when Detroit pulled ahead Fred Lasher, now 1-2, couldn't hold on, walking three batters in the decisive eighth.

He walked Joe Keough and Paul Schaal and a force play put runners on first and third. Cash's mistake followed for one run, then two walks pushed across another.

When Detroit led 7-6 after Cash's second homer, his fourth this year, Mike Kilkenny walked Kirkpatrick and pinch hitter Bob "Hawk" Taylor lashed a double to tie the game.

Dalton Jones of Detroit and Amos Otis of Kansas City also homered.

Little Leaguers To Open Season

Escanaba Jaycee Little League teams head into their final week of spring training as they prepare for next Saturday's season opening day. All eight teams will see action as Kiwanis visits Exchange at one o'clock.

With veteran pitchers in their stables, Kiwanis and Exchange are rated the best chance to stop John Chylek's defending champion Rotary team. Some managers figure that this is the year they'll shoot down Chylek's team, but veteran Little League observers are skeptical.

For three straight years Rotary has graduated their pitching staff. Two years ago Chylek's top draft choice decided baseball wasn't for him and didn't play, a top 1969 draft choice moved out of the city, but like the Yankees of old, the Rotary Little Leaguers keep on winning.

The league will again operate a split season with the winner of the first half playing off against the second half winner. Managers are reminded that regular pitching regulations are in effect.

Practice Schedule:

Monday at Lemmer, Bankers, 5:00; Little League, Rotary vs. VFW, 6:00

Tuesday, Lemmer, Bankers, 5:00; VFW, 6:00; Little League, Credit Union, 6:00

Wednesday, Lemmer, Bankers 5:00; Rotary, 6:00; Little League, Kiwanis, 4:15; Lions vs. Eagles, 6:00

Thursday, Lemmer, Exchange vs. Kiwanis, 5:30; Royce, Bankers, 5:00; Little League, Lions vs. Rotary, 6:00

Detroit, Mich. Mr. L. Ach of Detroit, Mich. writes us: "I must say Preparation H is the best medication I ever tried for hemorrhoids."

(Note: Doctors' tests show Preparation H® actually helps shrink swollen tissues of hemorrhoids caused by inflammation and infection. It also gives prompt, temporary relief in many cases from pain and burning itch in these tissues. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates the irritated area to help make bowel movements less painful. Ointment or Suppositories.)

Central League Track Meet Scheduled Here Tuesday

The 19th Central League track and field championship meet will be staged at the Escanaba Athletic Field Tuesday morning beginning at 10 a.m.

Coach Bernie Olson's Rapid River Rockets will be going for their 10th straight conference title and are favored to repeat for team honors again this year. The other six Central League track teams that will be vying for conference title honors are Big Bay de Noc, Bark River-Harris, Perkins, Rock, Eben and Trenary.

Four records were set in last year's meet and on the basis of dual meet competition earlier this spring, a few of the league records could be in danger again Tuesday. Three Central League athletes have approached or bettered the existing standards so far this season.

Jeff Boyer has already bettered the conference record in the high hurdles of :15.8 seconds by winning the event in :15.6. He also has tied the conference record in the high jump at 5'7". Bill Hartman of Big Bay has tied the pole vault record of 11'6" so far this season, while Dennis Bernard has also tied the conference high jump record.

The cold weather this spring has curtailed activities in the Central League and some athletes will be competing for the first time this year when they toe their marks in the league meet.

Officials in charge of the meet will be meet managers Bill McGovern, Rapid River, and Verne Nelson of Perkins, announcer and head timer George Weingartner, Rock, Clerk of Course Julian Vandecaveye of Perkins, score keeper Steve Ellis of Trenary and starter Louis Guzzetti of Eben.

The conference records that the competitors in tomorrow's meet will be shooting for are:

Brewers Extend Streak; Orioles Sweep Twinbill

BALTIMORE (AP) — "If you can't beat them, take them with you," is the philosophy of Manager Don Gutteridge of the Chicago White Sox.

After the White Sox lost four straight in a weekend series to the streaking Baltimore Orioles, Gutteridge proposed a refreshing—but illegal—lend-lease deal with the Orioles.

"They could lose two or three players and still win," Gutteridge said. "Maybe the Orioles could loan us a couple players. We'd take good care of them, and return them later."

Lead By 5

With Manager Earl Weaver making liberal use of his bench strength, Baltimore beat Chicago 7-2 and 4-2 Sunday, stretched its winning streak to seven straight and lengthened its lead in the American League's Eastern Division to five games.

The Orioles, who won a near-record 109 games last season, are actually one game ahead of their 1969 pace with a 21-8 record at this stage.

Dave McNally, who won 42 games during the past two seasons, brought his 1970 log to 6-1 with a seven-hitter in Sunday's opening game. He was backed by homers from Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund.

Don Buford's seventh inning solo homer tied the nightcap 2-2, and the Orioles rallied in the eighth off reliever Wilbur Wood to win on run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Chico Salmon.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City outlasted Detroit 9-7 and 4-2, Cleveland shaded Minnesota 5-4, Milwaukee took two from Washington 6-5 and 7-6, the New York Yankees nipped California 4-3 and Oakland downed Boston 7-4.

Catcher Duke Sims, who lost his starting job this season hit his first two homers and drove in three runs the the Indians edged the Twins.

Pitcher Sam McDowell also homered for Cleveland but needed relief from Rich Hand after Minnesota scored twice in the ninth. Leo Cardenas homered for the Twins.

Ties Record

Milwaukee tied the club record of five straight victories set last year as the Seattle Pilots.

Sunday's sweep of the stumbling Senators featured ninth-inning uprisings in both contests. In the opener, Ted Kubiak tied the score with a leadoff shot in the ninth and Wayne Comer won it with a bases-loaded pinch single.

The Brewers blew a 6-0 lead in the nightcap as Washington scored five runs in the eighth, featuring homers by Mike Epstein, and Rick Reichardt, and tied it in the ninth on Frank Howard's 11th. But a pinch single by Ted Savage, two walks and Gerry McNertney's two-out pinch single won it in the Brewers' half. Reichardt also homered in the opener.

Home runs by Mike Hegan, Tommy Harper and pitcher Skip Lockwood helped the Brewers to their big lead.

Yankees Win

The Yankees belted Rudy May for three quick runs in the first inning on Roy White's RBI double and Danny Cater's two-sun single, but needed Thurman Munson's bloop double in the sixth, which scored White from first, to beat the Angels.

Jay Johnstone homered for California in the fifth to tie the score, but Jack Aker and Lindy McDaniel combined for five shutout innings of relief.

Oakland, trailing the Red Sox 3-0, exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, three on Dave Duncan's fifth homer. After Duncan's blow put the A's in front 4-3, Bert Campaneri iced it with a two-run single. Carl Yastrzemski and Tony Conigliaro homered for the Sox.

Roland Fingers relieved Blue Moon Odom in the second and kept Boston under control. One week earlier, he took over for Odom and pitched 8 2-3 innings against Washington for his other triumph.

Cardinals Stop Braves; Win 6-5

By The Associated Press

Milestones are no more exciting than birthdays to 46-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm, but the Atlanta knuckleballer's 1,000th mound stand was a festive occasion . . . for the struggling St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals, beaten nine times in their previous 10 games, struck for four runs in the ninth inning Sunday to nip Atlanta 6-5, ending the Braves' winning streak at 11 and marring Wilhelm's landmark pitching appearance.

Jose Cardenal delivered the tying and winning runs with a bases-loaded single off Wilhelm, who had kept the Braves' skein alive Saturday night with a pressure-packed save in his 999th career effort.

In other National League action, San Francisco slugged the New York Mets 11-7; Los Angeles whipped Philadelphia 7-0; Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 7-6; Houston buried Pittsburgh 9-2 and San Diego shaded Montreal 5-4.

Record Broken

The Braves, gunning for a club-record 12th consecutive victory, took a 5-2 lead into the ninth behind left-hander George Stone. But Richie Allen started the St. Louis comeback with his ninth homer and when Joe Torre singled, Stone was replaced by Bob Priddy. Singles by Julian Javier and Vic Davalillo filled the bases, bringing Wilhelm out of the Atlanta bullpen.

The venerable relief specialist, who will be 47 in July, retired Joe Hague on a grounder as Torre scored the Cards' fourth run. Pinch hitter Leron Lee then was given an intentional walk, refilling the bases, but Cardenal followed with a two-run single to left.

Willie McCovey drove in six runs with two homers, one of them a grand slam, helping Juan Marichal stagger to his first victory of the season as the Giants outslugged the Mets.

Marichal, who had been sidelined with an ear infection, was tagged for 10 hits, including homers by Art Shamsky, Wayne Garrett and Donn Clendenon.

Fourth Straight

Don Sutton's four-hit pitching and a five-run eighth inning burst helped the Dodgers rip the Phillies for their fourth straight victory. Wes Parker's two-run homer in the fifth broke up a scoreless duel between Sutton and Grant Jackson.

Pete Rose clubbed a two-run homer in the ninth, lifting Cincinnati past the Cubs. It was the Reds' fourth homer of the day and 50th in 31 games.

Johnny Bench, Lee May and rookie Bernie Carbo, with a tying solo shot in the eighth, were the other Red fence-busters. Ron Santo and Billy Williams homered for the Cubs.

Houston's Doug Rader stretched his hitting streak to 14 games, driving in four runs with a double and homer in a 27-hit offensive show at the Astrodome. Larry Dierker weathered 14 Pittsburgh hits and brought his season mark to 6-2.

Jim Campbell's bases-loaded single and catcher John Bateman's error on the throw to the plate produced the deciding sixth inning runs as San Diego slipped past Montreal despite two homers by the Expos' Mack Jones.

Crusaders Win Fourth Straight

The Holy Name Crusaders tennis team, warming up for the Great Northern Conference meet, which will be held at Menominee this Friday, won their fourth straight match over the weekend.

The Crusaders defeated conference rival Kingsford 6-1, as Joe Joran remained undefeated.

Gordy LeDuc's netters will return to action today hosting the West Iron County Wykons in a dual match at the local courts.

The rseults:

Singles - Dennis Lueneburg (HN) lost to Mike Gianunzic (K) 6-1, 6-1; John Walker (HN) defeated Gary Lindquist (K) 9-7, 6-4; Joe Joran (HN) defeated Don Berger (K) 6-1, 6-3; and Dennis Ryan (HN) defeated Dennis White (K) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles - Jim Juetten and Mark Larche (HN) defeated Tom Carlson and Larry Bourdean (K) 6-3, 6-3; Dave Walker and John Olinger (HN) defeated Chass Peterson and Tom King (K) 6-3, 6-2 and Mike Dailey and Brian Larche (HN) defeated Rick O'Kane and Gil Fugere (K) 6-3, 6-4.

Mud Hens Beaten

By The Associated Press

Carmen Franzone hit three homers at Toledo to drive in four runs and lead the Colonels to an 11-4 victory over the Mud Hens Sunday.

Syracuse has taken a firmer hold on the top spot in International League standings with a doubleheader that completed its sweep of a three-game series against Tidewater, winning 5-3 and 4-1.

Hanoi Planning 'Liberation' War

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist high command for Vietnam will attempt to counter the continuing allied destruction of its long-established border sanctuaries by organizing a "war of liberation" in Cambodia similar to the conflicts that have torn apart South Vietnam and Laos for 10 years.

That is the instruction being passed down from the Hanoi government. At least 10 documents captured inside Cambodia in recent days refer to this new war.

Detailed directions have been fed to field commanders and political cadres on techniques of recruitment and organization inside Cambodia. The instructions are in effect the same that built the Vietnam conflict from an insurgency problem into a full-blown war: swim like fish in the sea of population, create a people's army.

Allied experts who have been studying the captured documents believe the Communist high command is aiming less to take over Cambodia than to insure the continued use of that country to fight the Vietnam war.

While Cambodia was neutral under Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Communist-led forces kept a generally low profile along the border sanctuaries and did not meddle in internal Cambodia politics. Sihanouk's overthrow in March and the resultant Saigon army thrusts into the sanctuaries seriously alarmed the Communist high command, the captured documents show.

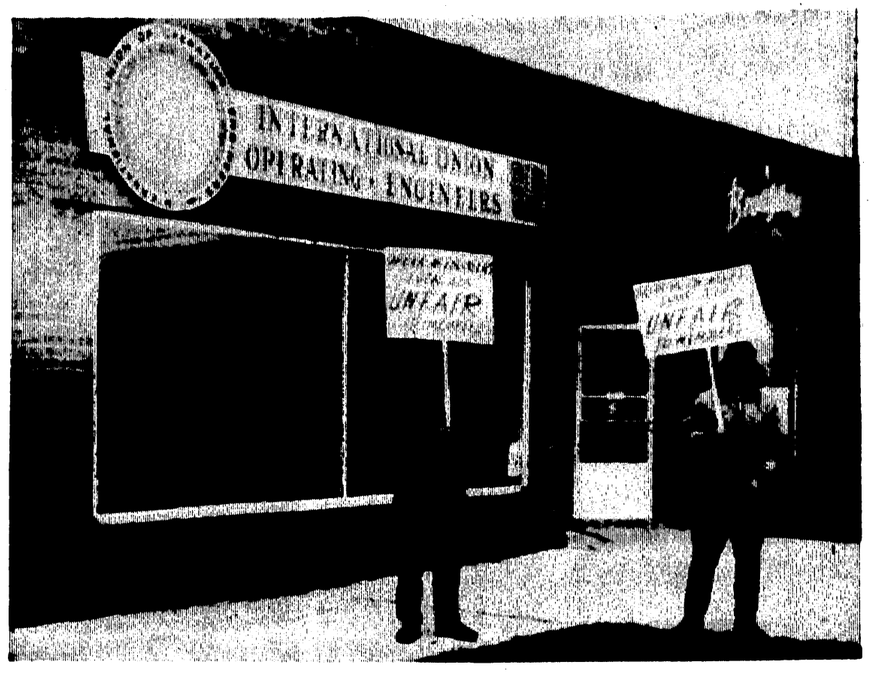
One dated in late March said, "It can be assumed that a plan to drive our troops from the border areas has been devised by the Cambodian government and the U.S. and Vietnamese army in South Vietnam."

The answer was to instruct Communist leaders in Cambodia to organize a new war.

A notebook belonging to a member of a Unit 3 was captured the first day American troops crossed into Cambodia. An April 18 entry said the owner was assigned to activate guerrilla elements and "to motivate the Cambodians in my area of responsibility to join the liberation front of Cambodia."

Another diary entry said the mission of the front was to overthrow the Lon Nol government in Phnom Penh and fight the Americans.

Another document passed down orders to "consolidate liberated areas and develop a liberation army."



SOME MEMBERS OF THE International Union of Operating Engineers Local 324 were picketing in front of the union office at 2201 Ludington St. this morning. A spokesman for the picketing members, who requested to remain unidentified, said that 20 years of hiring practices are being ignored by this local. He also said "an employe has the right to recall and the union has not followed this procedure on the Mead project, instead they have been hiring whoever they damn please." The spokesman said they would continue picketing until their grievances have been corrected. (Daily Press Photo)

Burglars Hit Buchman Store

Three breaking and enterings were investigated by the State Police during the past weekend.

Officers said owner Harry Buchman reported a break-in that occurred at the Buchman store in Rapid River sometime between 9 p.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Entry was made by breaking a window in an overhead garage door at the rear of the building, according to State Police, and a .22 caliber revolver, a Timex wrist watch, approximately $3 in change, and numerous bottles of whiskey and brandy were reported to have been taken.

Another break-in was reported at a hunting camp located in section four on the Stonington Peninsula, owned by Warren Bowen, of Reed City, Mich.

Officers said entry was made by prying a hasp off the door sometime between May 5 and May 9.

It was discovered by Ozzo Hansen a nearby resident, and it is unknown at this time whether or not anything was taken, police said.

A third break-in was reported by Shirley Ditkutowski, of Milwaukee, Wis.

State Police said a house trailer, used as a summer home, located on County Rd. 414 just west of County Rd. C-17, in the Soo Hill area, was broken into sometime during the past three months.

The owner, Mrs. Ditkutowski, told police that entry was apparently made by unlocking the front door with a key that had been hidden on the premises. Nothing was reported to have been taken at this time, police said.

Unrest Topic Of Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned the nation's governors to the White House today to discuss campus unrest and Southeast Asia in the wake of student strikes, antiwar protests and sporadic violence that climaxed in a massive weekend demonstration in the nation's capital.

Nixon called the meeting last week after campus violence erupted following his decision to send American troops into Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

The state executives arrived as antiwar leaders called for the protest movement to continue its efforts against American involvement in Southeast Asia.

David Dellinger, a defendant in the recent Chicago seven conspiracy trial and longtime pacifist leader, said Sunday "people are going back to their own communities with the theme 'No business as usual.'"

He said the weekend demonstration marked the beginning of a grass-roots movement swelling across the country.

Antiwar spokesmen also said efforts would be stepped up to spread strikes to more campuses and industry in an attempt to cripple the "war economy."

The apparently volatile campus situation also prompted three major college officials to propose giving students time off next fall to participate in political campaigns.

Most Colleges In Operation

By The Associated Press

Administrators and political leaders ordered the reopening today of many campuses that were closed last week, but some students called for continued protests. Other schools offered compromise plans to keep classes going.

Most of the nation's colleges were quiet Sunday as students from some of them returned from the weekend demonstration in Washington where about 60,000 persons gathered to protest operations by U.S. troops in Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

At the University of Wisconsin, however, a crowd that grew to 4,000 marched on the administration building, breaking windows and demanding that the school reverse its rejetcion of a class moratorium request. Thundershowers helped National Guardsmen quell the turmoil.

In another development, officials of four major universities indicated they favored a proposal, adopted by Princeton last week, to give undergraduates time off this fall to work in political campaigns.

Among the campuses scheduled for reopening today were the California state university and college system. But student leaders at the Berkeley campus called for "curtailing normal activities for the remainder of the war" and opening the campus to mobilize resources and manpower for protests.

Woman's Club Plans Closing Luncheon, Bridge

The Escanaba Woman's Club will hold their closing luncheon and bridge Wednesday, May 20 at the MediCenter beginning at 1 p.m. Hostesses for the event are Mrs. Nicholas Chapekis and Mrs. T. A. McInerney.

Decorations will follow a spring decorative theme and following the luncheon a style show and display will be held, featuring knitted, sewn and crocheted articles made by club members.

Reservations may be made through May 16 by calling Mrs. Jack Winters or Mrs. Albin Pearson.

Laker Rookie Lost In Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Garrett, surprisingly left unprotected by the Los Angeles Lakers, was one of the first two picks by Buffalo in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft Monday.

Buffalo, which chose first on the opening round and third on the second, also selected Ray Scott of Baltimore, but the NBA refused to divulge the order of selection.

Portland, which picks second throughout the draft, chose Leroy Ellis of Baltimore and, in a minor surprise, Larry Siegfried of Boston.

Cleveland, which swapped order of picks with Buffalo, selected Luther Rackle of Cincinnati and Walt Wesley of Chicago.

Garrett, had been expected to be one of the seven players protected by the Lakers. The rookie guard had been a starter for the Lakers, who lost to the New York Knicks in the championship series last week.

Trial Scheduled For Father Who Killed 4 Teens

DETROIT (AP) — Pretrial examination is scheduled May 18 for a 45-year-old Detroit railroad engineer, who is charged with first - degree murder in the slaying of his teen-age daughter and three youths with whom she was staying.

Arville D. Garland was arraigned Saturday on the charges and ordered held without bond pending the pretrial hearing.

The four youths shot to death Friday were Garland's 17-year-old daughter, Sandra; Scott Kabran, 18; Gregory Walls, 18, and Anthony Brown, 16.

Police said that Brown was a runaway from the Whitmore Lake boy's training school.

Trudell Award Winner Named

MARQUETTE — Ron Helgren, sixth grade instructor in the Forest Park District Schools at Crystal Falls, is the winner of the Peter Trudell Award for 1969-70. He was chosen because of his work in integrating conservation education during the school year.

The Trudell Award, sponsored annually by retired businessman William Asselin of Norway, has been in effect since 1955.

Last year's winner was Celestine Christenson, third grade teacher and principal from the Manistique Area Schools.

Marquette Wins Sportsmen Award

MARQUETTE — The Marquette Public Grade Schools have been declared the winner of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association annual Conservation Education Award for 1969-70 according to Regional Information Officer Paul V. Challancin of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

A bronze plaque, which has been sponsored by the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association since 1953, is presented to the school having done the most outstanding job in integrating conservation in its curriculum over the school year. The award will be presented to a representative of the Marquette Schools at the annual NMSA noon banquet in Iron Mountain on Sept. 20.

Marquette High School won the award in 1956 and the Manistique Area School District was the winner last year.

Israelis Note 22nd Anniversary

TEL AVIV (AP) — Festive Israelis celebrated their nation's 22nd anniversary today while police patrolled the streets on the lookout for Arab terrorists.

The mood of the country, somber in the wake of escalated guerrilla raids in recent days, was lifted slightly by a marked drop in border clashes.

Between Sunday night and early today only one border incident was reported—an Israeli soldier was slightly wounded in a skirmish on the Jordan River.

When you plan your next visit to an art museum—come to Chicago's Sherman House

Downtown hotel turned cultural? Not quite, but we do have a great new work of art.

Henri Azaz did a sculpture for our lobby. And when he creates—he doesn't kid around. We ended up—with a wall.

But not just any wall. Some people call it the Great Wall of Sherman House. Why not come see why?

And while you're there, stop in at any of our Nightspots—the College Inn, Well of the Sea, The Scuttlebutt, The Celtic and the Dome.

So come to Sherman House for entertainment and fun. And we'll throw in a little culture at no extra cost!

Other elected officials include Debbie Main, county clerk; Becky Rehn, county treasurer; Judy Olson, abstratcor; Cheryl Jetty, register of deeds; Ken Tufnell, sheriff; Kurt Prond, prosecuting attorney; Bruce Tufnell, probate judge; John Adams, district judge.

Appointive Posts

Appointive posts will be held by Karyn Bignall, postmaster; Mary McLaughlin, city clerk; Ron Jackson, city manager; Darlene Mersnick, superintendent, Department of Public Works; Nancy Thibedeau, waste water superintendent; Randy Howard, juvenile officer; Janet Gillam, friend of the court; Larry Bergere, director of natural resources; Robert Stram, tax director; Polly Braun, sanitarian; Alan Nelson, state police commander; Jane Schneider, city police chief; Dick Klarich, county road superintendent; Pat Flodin, welfare director; Mary Stoll, forest service director; Greg Hase, superintendent of schools; Christine Beverage, business manager of schools; Kathy Danko, community school director; Mary Cockram, high school principal; Carolyn Smith, county extension director. Debbie Ranguette was chosen student counterpart to Joseph Giovannini, Michigan Week general chairman.

Paired With Official

The students and their real-life counterparts will be paired during Government Day activities. A breakfast at the high school will kick-off the activities with mock sessions of the board of education, city council and county commissioners scheduled later in the morning. The students will also attend a noon luncheon honoring the visiting mayor of Walled Lake and two councilmen.

Bond Posted In Auto Accident

Karl Allen Krepps, 23, Sell's Woods, Curtis, posted $50 bond early Saturday morning guaranteeing his appearance in District Court today on a driving while under the influence of intoxicants charge, Public Safety officers said.

Krepps was arrested and underwent a breathalyzer test at the State Police Post after striking three parked cars on Cedar St. and a light pole on Oak St. around 11:45 Friday night. The cars, including Krepp's vehicle, were extensively damaged, police said.

City officers said Krepps, traveling north on Cedar St., struck parked cars owned by Robert J. Wood, 810 Arbutus Ave., Howard Shampine, 644 Park Ave. a,nd Leroy Ekblad, Gulliver. After hitting the cars, Krepps backed up and headed east on Oak St. where he struck a utility pole in front of the Zion Lutheran Church, near the Range St. intersection. His automobile continued about 200 feet from the utility pole before the engine stopped, officers said.

City officers also report a two-car accident in front of the Elks Temple on Walnut St. Friday at 8:30 p.m. Cars driven by David P. Anderson, Box 442, and Irene Hinkson, 226 N. Houghton Ave., collided when the Hinkson vehicle attempted a right turn into a private driveway. No citations were issued.

Not Disappointed With Progress Of Heart Transplants

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Donald R. Kahn, surgeon at the University of Michigan Medical Center, says that he was not disappointed with the center's progress on heart transplants.

"We've accomplished exactly what we thought we would," he said at the Michigan Heart Association convention Saturday. "There have been no surprises."

He admitted the public has been disappointed with the results of many operations, but he said that he believes that future heart patients would be living for long periods of time. Only one of Michigan's four heart transplant patients is still alive.

Plans For 1970 Grad Party Off To Good Start

Plans for the 1970 Grad Party are progressing smoothly, according to the latest report of Grad Party general chairman Dell O'Brien. The annual all-night event for MHS graduates and their guests will be held in the Elks Temple following Commencement exercises on June 4.

Letters have been sent all graduates' parents asking their help and financial support. O'Brien said most parents are donating $5 and have volunteered to serve on various committees. Junior class parents are sending trading stamp books, or $2 in cash, for prizes.

Anyone interested in helping with the party is asked to attend the weekly work sessions held Wednesday evenings at the Elks Temple beginning at 7:30. The committee will not meet May 20 since an Elks meeting is scheduled for that night but will meet instead the following Saturday morning, May 23, at 9 o'clock.

Volunteers are needed at the Elks Club on the afternoon of June 4 to receive food and other contributions which will be brought in. Anyone interested should contact O'Brien.

Financial contributions to the party fund may be made at the First National Bank or to Eugene Johnson, 223 Main St. Prize donations will be accepted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ekstrom, 412 Arbutus Ave., and arrangements will be made for a pick-up, if desired.

Committee chairmen for the party include O'Brien, general chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Ekstrom, program; Louie Rogers, refreshments and detail squad; Dave Heinz, bowling; target shooting at Armory, Don Schulze; Mrs. K. W. Eimerman and Mrs. Donald Schulze, decorating; William Putvin and Ted Hentschell, welcoming; Eugene Johnson, finance; Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Lamirand, food; Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat, breakfast; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jackson, tickets.

The Community School Advisory Board meets Tuesday noon in room 105 of the high school for their regular monthly luncheon-meeting. All representatives are urged to attend.

Michigan State Police report two juveniles have confessed the breaking and entering and theft of over $100 in stock from Leggett and Foye Equipment Company on Mar. 22, 1969. The youths, both 16-year-old boys who live in this area, have been placed under jurisdiction of the Probate Court. Some of the stolen items were recovered, troops said. A third 16-year-old boy, who admitted his participation in the breaking and entering of Treasure City, U.S. 2 east, last February is also under Probate Court jurisdiction, officers said. The boys were apprehended Friday.

Cyclist Killed

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — A 31-year-old Cassopolis man, Carl Jackson, died early Sunday when his motorcycle struck a car two miles north of Elkhart, Indiana. State Police said the car apparently crossed the center line into Jackson's path.

Council Expected To Fill Vacancy At Tonight's Meet

City council is expected to announce an appointment to the seat recently vacated by resigned councilman William Wedegartner Jr. when they meet in regular session tonight at 7:30 in city hall. Wedegartner, who served half of a two year term, resigned May 1.

Appointments will also be made to the urban renewal committee and library board.

The agenda lists a discussion with Health Dept. officials Boyd Briggs and Donald Veeser on regulations governing sanitary land-fill dumping grounds. A date will be selected for a public hearing on the 1970-71 city budget and action taken to begin condemnation proceedings on a building on N. Third St. and the Soo Line warehouse on N. Mackinac Ave.

District Court

Kenneth Blowers, 805 Garden Ave., and Ron Provo, 338 Lake St., appeared before Judge Charles A. Stark this morning for arraignment on trespassing in the nighttime charges. Both are free on personel recognizance following their arrest by Public Safety officers.

City police said the charges were brought by Blowers' wife, Mrs. Tina Blowers, 137 N. Second St., who complained her husband, accompanied by Provo, broke the front door of her home at 1:15 a.m. on May 6.

Pat Osterhout, 17, Rte. 1, was unable to post $5,000 surety bond, or $500 cash bond, and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff following a bond arraignment Friday afternoon. Osterhout was arrested by Michigan State Police and charged with breaking and entering with intent to steal, a felony. The alleged violation occurred at Treasure City, U.S. 2 east, last December. He will appear Monday morning for arraignment before Judge Stark.

He received the medal for meritorious service as a chaplain's assistant in Headquarters, I Field Force, Vietnam. Spec. 5 Berger is a 1963 graduate of Manistique High School and received his bachelors degree from the University of Michigan in 1967. He entered the Army in September, 1968.

Students Cited For Forensics

The annual forensics awards assembly at the Manistique High School last week was the occasion for presentation of letters, pins and recognition to qualifying students.

Receiving letters and pins in memory of the late J. Joseph Herbert were Patti Arnold, Bernie Beaudry, Karyn Bignall, Kathy Broullire, Mary Cockram, Vicki Frenette, Eileen Mathson, Donna Johnson, Diane Lundwall, Frank Malette, Meg Moffat, Erin O'Brien, Gail Schwartz, Kevin Smith and Mary Stoll.

Recognition for "superior performance" at the district festival at Engadine went to the multiple reading group of Patti Arnold, Bernie Beaudry, Karyn Bignall, Mary Cockram, Kevin Smith, plus Mary Stoll, Diane Lundwall, Frank Malette, Eileen Mathson and Gail Schwartz.

Honors received at the regional festival at Northern Michigan University in Marquette included a "superior" certificate to Eileen Mathson, an "excellent" certificate to the multiple reading group and a "very good" rating for Gail Schwartz. Frank Malette received an "excellent" certificate and qualified to go downstate.

Mrs. John LaPointe is forensics coach.

Rabies Clinic Set Here On Saturday

Rabies Vaccination Clinics will be held in four locations in Schoolcraft County Saturday under sponsorship of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department. A veterinarian will conduct the clinics.

Cat and dog owners may bring their pets to the Hiawatha Township Hall between 9-10 a.m.; the Fire Department in the new city hall in Manistique between 10-12; the Mueller Township Hall between 1:30 and 2:30; and the Germfask Fire Hall from 3-4 p.m.

The Health Dept. warns pet owners that all warm-blooded animals are subject to rabies — a very serious disease which can be transmitted to huhmans by an infected animal. The recent outbreak of rabies in Chippewa County points out the importance of protecting family and community against the dread disease, the Health Dept. said.

The "State Dog Law," Act. 339, P.A. 1919 as amended, and adopted in this county, requires that all dogs three months and over shall be vaccinated and licensed. Failure to comply with this requirement leaves the owner subject to prosecution and the dog subject to destruction.

The vaccination charge per animal is $3.00. Distemper shots, at $6.00 per animal, will also be available.

4-H Club Holds Awards Ceremony

The Busy Bee 4-H Club met recently at the home of their leader, Mrs. Everett Wood Jr., 441 N. Houghton Ave., for an awards ceremony. Mrs. Howard Larsen is co-leader of the club.

Marquette Captures GLC Track Crown

By DON HOWES

MANISTIQUE — The Marquette Redmen paced by individual performances from Bob Leanes and Bob Schacht with tremendous balance, swept to the Great Lakes Conference track and field championship here Saturday with 72⅓ points, far ahead of the second place Ishpeming Hematites who scored 38 5/6 to edge the Gladstone Braves for second place.

Gladstone, after being disqualified from winning the mile relay, finished in third place with 37½ points, followed by Manistique with 28, Newberry 13½, Munising 13⅓ Negaunee 12 and Sault Ste. Marie 8½.

Marquette unveiled a one-two track scoring punch in Leans and Schacht, who were the only double winners in the meet to stagger their opponents from the start.

Leanes raced to victory in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.65 seconds and sprinted the 220 yard dash in 22 seconds for his double victory. He also took a second in the pole vault contest.

Schacht skimmed the low hurdles in 22 seconds flat and then stepped the high hurdles in 15.9 seconds for his double victory.

Highlight of the meet was a new conference record in the pole vault by Ishpeming's Steve Nelson, who rewrote the 12 foot one inch standard he set last spring with a new record of 12 feet five and a quarter inches.

Gladstone Third

The Gladstone Braves, missing their chance for a second place finish because of the disqualification of their mile relay team, produced two first place finishes in the two sections of the 880 yard run.

The Braves all-around sports star, Cliff Young, won the first running of the 880 in 2:07.5, while the Stupak brothers Bart and Jeff finished first and second respectively in the second section of the 880, with Bart winning in the time of 2:12.3.

Other point producers for the Braves were Jeff Schram in the two mile run; John Skellenger finished second in the 100 and third in the 220 yard dashes; Pat McGeary third in the first section of the 440; Terry Cartwright had three third place finishes in the long jump, high jump and in the second running of the 440, while Bob Young took a fourth and fifth in the high and low hurdles.

Emeralds Fourth

Manistique scored four firsts, including both sections of the 440 yard dash, compared to five firsts for Marquette, but the Emeralds couldn't offset the depth of the powerful Redmen.

Dave Mickleson won the first section of the 440 in a time of 54.9 seconds, while teammate Dwayne Sundin took the second running in 55.3 seconds.

The Emeralds other firsts went to Al Goudreau in the shot put with a heave of 44 feet 2¾ inches, and to Ken Neeson in the long jump with a leap of 20 feet 1¼ inches. Neeson also finished third in the pole vault behind the record breaking performance of Ishpeming's Nelson.

Others scoring points for Manistique were Steve Aller, who finished fourth in the high hurdles and the Emeralds mile relay team which placed third in that event. Manistique's 880 yard relay team was also disqualified, like the Gladstone team was, when one of their players crossed the path too soon into the wrong lane.

Both Gladstone and Manistique will be back in action this week before the Regionals next Saturday. The Braves will be at Gwinn today and both teams will be in the Rudyard Invitational meet on Wednesday. Manistique will be in the Regionals at Newberry Saturday, while the Braves will run their Regional at Menominee.

Norm Cash Plays Hero-Goat Role In 9-7 Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — From a hero to a goat in 2½ innings--that's what happened to Detroit Tiger first baseman Norm Cash Sunday.

Cash blasted a pair of home runs, including a three - run drive in the fifth inning that pulled Detroit from a 6-4 deficit to a 7-6 lead, but the Royals went on to win 9-7 on Cash's mental lapse in the eighth.

The loss for the second-place Tigers was their seventh in 10 games and dropped from five full games behind first place Baltimore in the American League East. They were scheduled to meet Chicago, victim of a double-header loss to Baltimore Sunday, tonight in the opener of a three-game series with Joe Nieckro, 3-2, to oppose Billy Wynne, 0-1, of the White Sox.

"He should have charged the ball and thrown to the plate," lamented Tiger manager Mayo Smith afterwards, referring to Cash's play which allowed the winning run to score in the slugfest.

Both Kansas City runs in the frame were without the benefit of a hit.

"I was shocked at that play but I was interested in the run and didn't see it," said Royals manager Charlie Metro.

Cash fielded Ed Kirkpatrick's grounder along the first base line and stood as if paralyzed, failing to either throw to the plate or even tag Kirkpatrick who briefly stood motionless in front of him. Joe Keough scored from third and Kirkpatrick ambled safely to first.

Actually, the run would have scored whether Cash made the tag or not -- unless possibly he would have charged the grounder as Smith said and thrown to the plate.

"I wanted to district Cash so the run could come across," said Kirkpatrick, who also smacked a three-run homer in the fourth. "Then I looked at the umpire (Marty Springstead at first) and when he made no 'out' sign I ran to first."

Until then the mother's Day crowd of 31,500 held Cash in high esteem as he cracked a solo home run off Royals' starter Dick Drago in the second and tagged him for the three - run shot three innings later in his 5,000 career at-bat.

The game was another collapse for Detroit's pitching staff, while Al Fitzmorris, 1-1, no-hit the Tigers in his four innings of relief to win his second major league game.

"Our relief job did a better job than theirs. That's about the story," Metro said.

KC tagged Tiger starter Earl Wilson for six runs (five earned) in his 4 1-3 innings. But when Detroit pulled ahead Fred Lasher, now 1-2, couldn't hold on, walking three batters in the decisive eighth.

He walked Joe Keough and Paul Schaal and a force play put runners on first and third. Cash's mistake followed for one run, then two walks pushed across another.

When Detroit led 7-6 after Cash's second homer, his fourth this year, Mike Kilkenny walked Kirkpatrick and pinch hitter Bob "Hawk" Taylor lashed a double to tie the game.

Dalton Jones of Detroit and Amos Otis of Kansas City also homered.

Little Leaguers To Open Season

Escanaba Jaycee Little League teams head into their final week of spring training as they prepare for next Saturday's season opening day. All eight teams will see action as Kiwanis visits Exchange at one o'clock.

With veteran pitchers in their stables, Kiwanis and Exchange are rated the best chance to stop John Chylek's defending champion Rotary team. Some managers figure that this is the year they'll shoot down Chylek's team, but veteran Little League observers are skeptical.

For three straight years Rotary has graduated their pitching staff. Two years ago Chylek's top draft choice decided baseball wasn't for him and didn't play, a top 1969 draft choice moved out of the city, but like the Yankees of old, the Rotary Little Leaguers keep on winning.

The league will again operate a split season with the winner of the first half playing off against the second half winner. Managers are reminded that regular pitching regulations are in effect.

Practice Schedule:

Monday at Lemmer, Bankers, 5:00; Little League, Rotary vs. VFW, 6:00

Tuesday, Lemmer, Bankers, 5:00; VFW, 6:00; Little League, Credit Union, 6:00

Wednesday, Lemmer, Bankers 5:00; Rotary, 6:00; Little League, Kiwanis, 4:15; Lions vs. Eagles, 6:00

Central League Track Meet Scheduled Here Tuesday

The 19th Central League track and field championship meet will be staged at the Escanaba Athletic Field Tuesday morning beginning at 10 a.m.

Coach Bernie Olson's Rapid River Rockets will be going for their 10th straight conference title and are favored to repeat for team honors again this year. The other six Central League track teams that will be vying for conference title honors are Big Bay de Noc, Bark River-Harris, Perkins, Rock, Eben and Trenary.

Four records were set in last year's meet and on the basis of dual meet competition earlier this spring, a few of the league records could be in danger again Tuesday. Three Central League athletes have approached or bettered the existing standards so far this season.

Jeff Boyer has already bettered the conference record in the high hurdles of :15.8 seconds by winning the event in :15.6. He also has tied the conference record in the high jump at 5'7". Bill Hartman of Big Bay has tied the pole vault record of 11'6" so far this season, while Dennis Bernard has also tied the conference high jump record.

The cold weather this spring has curtailed activities in the Central League and some athletes will be competing for the first time this year when they toe their marks in the league meet.

Officials in charge of the meet will be meet managers Bill McGovern, Rapid River, and Verne Nelson of Perkins, announcer and head timer George Weingartner, Rock, Clerk of Course Julian Vandecaveye of Perkins, score keeper Steve Ellis of Trenary and starter Louis Guzzetti of Eben.

The conference records that the competitors in tomorrow's meet will be shooting for are:

Brewers Extend Streak; Orioles Sweep Twinbill

BALTIMORE (AP) — "If you can't beat them, take them with you," is the philosophy of Manager Don Gutteridge of the Chicago White Sox.

After the White Sox lost four straight in a weekend series to the streaking Baltimore Orioles, Gutteridge proposed a refreshing—but illegal—lend-lease deal with the Orioles.

"They could lose two or three players and still win," Gutteridge said. "Maybe the Orioles could loan us a couple players. We'd take good care of them, and return them later."

Lead By 5

With Manager Earl Weaver making liberal use of his bench strength, Baltimore beat Chicago 7-2 and 4-2 Sunday, stretched its winning streak to seven straight and lengthened its lead in the American League's Eastern Division to five games.

The Orioles, who won a near-record 109 games last season, are actually one game ahead of their 1969 pace with a 21-8 record at this stage.

Dave McNally, who won 42 games during the past two seasons, brought his 1970 log to 6-1 with a seven-hitter in Sunday's opening game. He was backed by homers from Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund.

Don Buford's seventh inning solo homer tied the nightcap 2-2, and the Orioles rallied in the eighth off reliever Wilbur Wood to win on run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Chico Salmon.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City outlasted Detroit 9-7 and 4-2, Cleveland shaded Minnesota 5-4, Milwaukee took two from Washington 6-5 and 7-6, the New York Yankees nipped California 4-3 and Oakland downed Boston 7-4.

Catcher Duke Sims, who lost his starting job this season hit his first two homers and drove in three runs the the Indians edged the Twins.

Pitcher Sam McDowell also homered for Cleveland but needed relief from Rich Hand after Minnesota scored twice in the ninth. Leo Cardenas homered for the Twins.

Ties Record

Milwaukee tied the club record of five straight victories set last year as the Seattle Pilots.

Sunday's sweep of the stumbling Senators featured ninth-inning uprisings in both contests. In the opener, Ted Kubiak tied the score with a leadoff shot in the ninth and Wayne Comer won it with a bases-loaded pinch single.

The Brewers blew a 6-0 lead in the nightcap as Washington scored five runs in the eighth, featuring homers by Mike Epstein, and Rick Reichardt, and tied it in the ninth on Frank Howard's 11th. But a pinch single by Ted Savage, two walks and Gerry McNertney's two-out pinch single won it in the Brewers' half. Reichardt also homered in the opener.

Home runs by Mike Hegan, Tommy Harper and pitcher Skip Lockwood helped the Brewers to their big lead.

Yankees Win

The Yankees belted Rudy May for three quick runs in the first inning on Roy White's RBI double and Danny Cater's two-sun single, but needed Thurman Munson's bloop double in the sixth, which scored White from first, to beat the Angels.

Jay Johnstone homered for California in the fifth to tie the score, but Jack Aker and Lindy McDaniel combined for five shutout innings of relief.

Oakland, trailing the Red Sox 3-0, exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, three on Dave Duncan's fifth homer. After Duncan's blow put the A's in front 4-3, Bert Campaneri iced it with a two-run single. Carl Yastrzemski and Tony Conigliaro homered for the Sox.

Roland Fingers relieved Blue Moon Odom in the second and kept Boston under control. One week earlier, he took over for Odom and pitched 8 2-3 innings against Washington for his other triumph.

Cardinals Stop Braves; Win 6-5

By The Associated Press

Milestones are no more exciting than birthdays to 46-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm, but the Atlanta knuckleballer's 1,000th mound stand was a festive occasion . . . for the struggling St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals, beaten nine times in their previous 10 games, struck for four runs in the ninth inning Sunday to nip Atlanta 6-5, ending the Braves' winning streak at 11 and marring Wilhelm's landmark pitching appearance.

Jose Cardenal delivered the tying and winning runs with a bases-loaded single off Wilhelm, who had kept the Braves' skein alive Saturday night with a pressure-packed save in his 999th career effort.

In other National League action, San Francisco slugged the New York Mets 11-7; Los Angeles whipped Philadelphia 7-0; Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 7-6; Houston buried Pittsburgh 9-2 and San Diego shaded Montreal 5-4.

Record Broken

The Braves, gunning for a club-record 12th consecutive victory, took a 5-2 lead into the ninth behind left-hander George Stone. But Richie Allen started the St Louis comeback with his ninth homer and when Joe Torre singled, Stone was replaced by Bob Priddy. Singles by Julian Javier and Vic Davalillo filled the bases, bringing Wilhelm out of the Atlanta bullpen.

The venerable relief specialist, who will be 47 in July, retired Joe Hague on a grounder as Torre scored the Cards' fourth run. Pinch hitter Leron Lee then was given an intentional walk, refilling the bases, but Cardenal followed with a two-run single to left.

Willie McCovey drove in six runs with two homers, one of them a grand slam, helping Juan Marichal stagger to his first victory of the season as the Giants outslugged the Mets.

Marichal, who had been sidelined with an ear infection, was tagged for 10 hits, including homers by Art Shamsky, Wayne Garrett and Donn Clendenon.

Fourth Straight

Don Sutton's four-hit pitching and a five-run eighth inning burst helped the Dodgers rip the Phillies for their fourth straight victory. Wes Parker's two-run homer in the fifth broke up a scoreless duel between Sutton and Grant Jackson.

Pete Rose clubbed a two-run homer in the ninth, lifting Cincinnati past the Cubs. It was the Reds' fourth homer of the day and 50th in 31 games.

Johnny Bench, Lee May and rookie Bernie Carbo, with a tying solo shot in the eighth, were the other Red fence-busters. Ron Santo and Billy Williams homered for the Cubs.

Houston's Doug Rader stretched his hitting streak to 14 games, driving in four runs with a double and homer in a 27-hit offensive show at the Astrodome. Larry Dierker weathered 14 Pittsburgh hits and brought his season mark to 6-2.

Jim Campbell's bases-loaded single and catcher John Bateman's error on the throw to the plate produced the deciding sixth inning runs as San Diego slipped past Montreal despite two homers by the Expos' Mack Jones.

Crusaders Win Fourth Straight

The Holy Name Crusaders tennis team, warming up for the Great Northern Conference meet, which will be held at Menominee this Friday, won their fourth straight match over the weekend.

The Crusaders defeated conference rival Kingsford 6-1, as Joe Joran remained undefeated.

Gordy LeDuc's netters will return to action today hosting the West Iron County Wykons in a dual match at the local courts.

The rseults:

Singles - Dennis Lueneburg (HN) lost to Mike Gianunzic (K) 6-1, 6-1; John Walker (HN) defeated Gary Lindquist (K) 9-7, 6-4; Joe Joran (HN) defeated Don Berger (K) 6-1, 6-3; and Dennis Ryan (HN) defeated Dennis White (K) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles - Jim Juetten and Mark Larche (HN) defeated Tom Carlson and Larry Bourdean (K) 6-3, 6-3; Dave Walker and John Olinger (HN) defeated Chass Peterson and Tom King (K) 6-3, 6-2 and Mike Dailey and Brian Larche (HN) defeated Rick O'Kane and Gil Fugere (K) 6-3, 6-4.

Mud Hens Beaten

By The Associated Press

Carmen Franzone hit three homers at Toledo to drive in four runs and lead the Colonels to an 11-4 victory over the Mud Hens Sunday.

Syracuse has taken a firmer hold on the top spot in International League standings with a doubleheader that completed its sweep of a three-game series against Tidewater, winning 5-3 and 4-1.

Champagne Flowing In Boston As Bruins Capture Playoffs 4-0

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins drank champagne from the Stanley Cup as expected Sunday, but it took some late heroics by old pro John Bucyk and young superstar Bobby Orr to get the celebration going on schedule.

Trailing most of the way, the Bruins gained a tie on Bucyk's goal with less than seven minutes remaining in regulation time. Then just 40 seconds into the sudden death overtime period, Orr banged home the winning tally.

Sweep Series

That did it. The Bruins had beaten the St. Louis Blues 4-3, sweeping their best-of-seven National Hockey League final playoff series and winning the coveted cup for the first time in 29 years.

Bedlam broke loose in Boston Garden as fans raced onto the ice. NHL President Clarence Campbell presented the cup to the winners, and Bucyk was given the honor of skating it around the rink to a deafening ovation.

The tumultuous celebration continued in the jam-packed dressing room, with players pouring champagne on everybody in sight for more than an hour.

"None of these guys have their names on that cup yet," coach Harry Sinden said when asked why this celebration was so wild. "They may get there again in the future, but the first time is always the best."

A few seconds later the fully dressed Sinden was tossed in the shower along with general manager Milt Schmidt as the celebration continued.

"My greatest thrill ever," said one player after another—even such frequent individual award winners as Orr and Phil Esposito.

"I've waited 15 years for this," said Bucyk, the elder statesman of the team who celebrates his 35th birthday Tuesday. "And I wanted it for those fans. They've been waiting even longer. They deserve it."

For quite a while, it looked as though the Blues were going to spoil the party as they battled to avoid being swept out of the finals a third straight time.

Take Early Lead

Boston's Rick Smith and St. Louis' Red Berenson traded first period goals, but Gary Sabourin put the Blues on top early in the second session and they held the 2-1 lead until Esposito scored at the 14:22 mark to knot the count again. It was Espo's 13th goal and 27th point of the playoffs—both records.

Larry Keenan's power play goal snapped the tie 19 seconds into the third period, and the later it got, the more defensive the Blues became as they tried to protect their lead. The Bruins kept on the attack, however, and Bucyk finally scored from in close to tie the game at 13:28.

"We were starting to feel the pressure," Buck said. "We were getting a little uneasy."

Sinden said he was getting a bit anxious, but was still confident.

"I've learned one thing about this year—never count them out," he said. "I wasn't worried. I was concerned as the time ticked away. But we were getting lots of chances. I figured one of them should go in."

The tie held through regulation time, then the Bruins came out flying for the extra session.

Pressure On

"Harry told us that St. Louis has a history of coming out real strong in overtime," Ken Hodge said. "We didn't want to take a chance on being beaten that way, so we turned the tables on them. We went right in, we forechecked, we kept the pressure on them. We knew they must be tired."

Weren't the Bruins tired too after playing three periods in hot, steamy Boston Garden, with the temperature outside reading 91 degrees?

"Yes, but there's a difference between being tired when you're three up and when you're three down," he said.

Sinden agreed that his strategy called for coming out fast and furiously.

"There was no way we were going to sit back in that overtime period," he said. "We had come this far with a gung-ho type of hockey, and we were going to die by going into their end or win by doing it."

The Bruins took the opening faceoff into St. Louis ice and kept it there until Orr's decisive goal. The 22-year-old defenseman outraced Keenan for a loose puck, passed it to Sanderson, took a return pass and scored.

"Two kids came through," the 23-year-old Sanderson said. "Bobby had a lot of anticipation. He figured he could beat Keenan to the puck or at least check him. With the confidence and guts he's got, he walked in, got the puck, gave it to me and I gave it back."

Orr Gambles

Orr admitted that his play was a gamble of sorts.

"I get caught sometimes and sometime it works out," he said. "This time it worked out."

This was a record 10th straight playoff win for the Bruins (the last two games of the opening series against New York, four straight against Chicago and four more against St. Louis) and also for Gerry Cheevers, who was in goal for all 10 games.

"This was by far my toughest game in the final series," Cheevers said. "I had a lot of tough ones to stop this time. But you're supposed to come up with them in the Stanley Cup."

NBA Expansion Draft Underway

NEW YORK (AP) — The Buffalo Braves begin what has become an almost annual leveling process when they make the first selection today in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft.

The Portland Trail Blazers will choose second and the Cleveland Cavaliers third, and on following rounds Buffalo and Cleveland will exchange their order of selection while Portland picks second throughout.

The draft begins at 9:30 a.m. EDT in the office of Commissioner Walter Kennedy here and will not end until 33 players are selected from the 14 established teams. Each will lose two, and five teams will lose three players.

This draft has become almost an annual affair as the league has expanded three other times in the past four years, missing only last year. Each time, it has served to help balance competition since teams with the greatest depth lose at least one of their top reserves, while many of the lower clubs have little to lose beyond their seventh man.

Each team is allowed to protect seven players and then can pull back an eighth for protection after it has lost one player.

The NBA champion New York Knicks appear the most vulnerable to the draft, boasting a bench that was the best in the league. Beyond their starting five, they have five former No. 1 picks in the college draft, and at least two of them are likely to go.

'Unknown' Wins Houston Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Gibby Gilbert was, for four days and 71 holes, lost in the shuffle. He was the other guy playing with Bruce Crampton and people in their sparse gallery kept saying, "Who's he?"

But Gilbert had a lifetime of obscurity behind him, was used to the feeling and followed his own formula to score his first professional golf tour victory:

"Just keep plugging."

He did, and the 29-year-old club pro from Hollywood, Fla., on the pro tour for just a couple of months, made up two strokes on the final hole, caught Bruce Crampton and then beat him on the third hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday in the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational tourney.

"I didn't deserve to win," Crampton said. "Gibby played very well, made only one bogey and that's good on this course. He's a worthy champion."

Gilbert, who decided to go on the tour only after playing the Doral tournament in Florida—he was the 36-hole leader there—was in third place most of the warm, muggy day, but finished with a 72-hole score of 282, two-under-par on the 7,166-yard Champions Golf club course. He had a final 70.

Crampton with a two-stroke lead over Bert Greene going into the last round, had a 73, also for 282. Greene, who knocked himself out of it with a double-bogey six when he hit into a creek on the 17th, had a 72 for 283.

Most of the drama concerned the stretch duel between Crampton and Greene. Lean Bert, a drawling Georgian, moved into the lead when he holed a 60-foot putt for an eagle on the ninth.

But he three-putted the 16th and then took the double bogey on the 17th.

They both parred the first two extra holes, but Bruce put his tee shot in the water. The rock-steady Gilbert played it in regulation for the $23,000 first prize.

Most of the attention early in the day was centered on the incredible Ben Hogan, playing his first tournament in three years.

He ran off a string of three consecutive birdies starting on the third hole, turned in three in three-under-par but faltered as his shattered, still-ailing 57-year-old legs began to tire on the back side. He finished with a 70 for 287.

"I played better than I thought I would," the weary Hogan said, "But I'm tired."

He finished only five strokes off the pace.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper did not compete.

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

The 1970 baseball season is little more than a month old and already it looks as if the Baltimore Orioles are pulling away from the pack in the American League East in a bid for their second straight pennant.

But Detroit Tiger manager Mayo Smith said it's still too early to get discouraged, although his team's 9-7 loss together with Baltimore's doubleheader sweep of Chicago dropped the second-place Tigers five games behind.

"What we've got to do is in our own immediate family," he reasoned. "You can't control the other guy. You just have to do a winning job yourself."

MHS Students 'Take Over' City Governmental Posts

Student counterparts have been elected to serve in local governmental posts during Government Day of Michigan Week. The elections were held at the high school last week.

Planning was under the direction of Lowell Cooper and his third hour civics class. Co-chairmen are Jean Lequia and Rick Bonifas. Government Day will be observed May 18.

'Elected' Officers

Elected to City Council were Patti Arnold, mayor, Diane DeMars, Chris Johnson, Don McCarrick and Julie DeSautel.

County Board of Commissioners: Cindy Frenette, Barb Holbrook, Diane Reed, Gloria Stankovich, Louise Tureck, Karl Krumrey, and Cathy Cooper.

Manistique Area Board of Education: David Mickelson, John Carlson, Roberta Ebli, Marie Hentschell, Nicki Johnson, Justine Nelson and Jeffi Orr.

Other elected officials include Debbie Main, county clerk; Becky Rehn, county treasurer; Judy Olson, abstratcor; Cheryl Jetty, register of deeds; Ken Tufnell, sheriff; Kurt Prond, prosecuting attorney; Bruce Tufnell, probate judge; John Adams, district judge.

Appointive Posts

Appointive posts will be held by Karyn Bignall, postmaster; Mary McLaughlin, city clerk; Ron Jackson, city manager; Darlene Mersnick, superintendent, Department of Public Works; Nancy Thibedeau, waste water superintendent; Randy Howard, juvenile officer; Janet Gillam, friend of the court; Larry Bergere, director of natural resources; Robert Stram, tax director; Polly Braun, sanitarian; Alan Nelson, state police commander; Jane Schneider, city police chief; Dick Klarich, county road superintendent; Pat Flodin, welfare director; Mary Stoll, forest service director; Greg Hase, superintendent of schools; Christine Beverage, business manager of schools; Kathy Danko, community school director; Mary Cockram, high school principal; Carolyn Smith, county extension director. Debbie Ranguette was chosen student counterpart to Joseph Giovannini, Michigan Week general chairman.

Paired With Official

The students and their real-life counterparts will be paired during Government Day activities. A breakfast at the high school will kick-off the activities with mock sessions of the board of education, city council and county commissioners scheduled later in the morning. The students will also attend a noon luncheon honoring the visiting mayor of Walled Lake and two councilmen.

Bond Posted In Auto Accident

Karl Allen Krepps, 23, Sell's Woods, Curtis, posted $50 bond early Saturday morning guaranteeing his appearance in District Court today on a driving while under the influence of intoxicants charge, Public Safety officers said.

Krepps was arrested and underwent a breathalyzer test at the State Police Post after striking three parked cars on Cedar St. and a light pole on Oak St. around 11:45 Friday night. The cars, including Krepp's vehicle, were extensively damaged, police said.

City officers said Krepps, traveling north on Cedar St., struck parked cars owned by Robert J. Wood, 810 Arbutus Ave., Howard Shampine, 644 Park Ave. a,nd Leroy Ekblad, Gulliver. After hitting the cars, Krepps backed up and headed east on Oak St. where he struck a utility pole in front of the Zion Lutheran Church, near the Range St. intersection. His automobile continued about 200 feet from the utility pole before the engine stopped, officers said.

City officers also report a two-car accident in front of the Elks Temple on Walnut St. Friday at 8:30 p.m. Cars driven by David P. Anderson, Box 442, and Irene Hinkson, 226 N. Houghton Ave., collided when the Hinkson vehicle attempted a right turn into a private driveway. No citations were issued.

Not Disappointed With Progress Of Heart Transplants

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Donald R. Kahn, surgeon at the University of Michigan Medical Center, says that he was not disappointed with the center's progress on heart transplants.

"We've accomplished exactly what we thought we would," he said at the Michigan Heart Association convention Saturday. "There have been no surprises."

He admitted the public has been disappointed with the results of many operations, but he said that he believes that future heart patients would be living for long periods of time. Only one of Michigan's four heart transplant patients is still alive.

Plans For 1970 Grad Party Off To Good Start

Plans for the 1970 Grad Party are progressing smoothly, according to the latest report of Grad Party general chairman Dell O'Brien. The annual all-night event for MHS graduates and their guests will be held in the Elks Temple following Commencement exercises on June 4.

Letters have been sent all graduates' parents asking their help and financial support. O'Brien said most parents are donating $5 and have volunteered to serve on various committees. Junior class parents are sending trading stamp books, or $2 in cash, for prizes.

Anyone interested in helping with the party is asked to attend the weekly work sessions held Wednesday evenings at the Elks Temple beginning at 7:30. The committee will not meet May 20 since an Elks meeting is scheduled for that night but will meet instead the following Saturday morning, May 23, at 9 o'clock.

Volunteers are needed at the Elks Club on the afternoon of June 4 to receive food and other contributions which will be brought in. Anyone interested should contact O'Brien.

Financial contributions to the party fund may be made at the First National Bank or to Eugene Johnson, 223 Main St. Prize donations will be accepted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ekstrom, 412 Arbutus Ave., and arrangements will be made for a pick-up, if desired.

Committee chairmen for the party include O'Brien, general chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Ekstrom, program; Louie Rogers, refreshments and detail squad; Dave Heinz, bowling; target shooting at Armory, Don Schulze; Mrs. K. W. Eimerman and Mrs. Donald Schulze, decorating; William Putvin and Ted Hentschell, welcoming; Eugene Johnson, finance; Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Lamirand, food; Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat, breakfast; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jackson, tickets.

Briefly Told

Schoolcraft County Democrats are reminded of tomorrow night's special meeting at 8 o'clock in the court house to allocate precinct delegates.

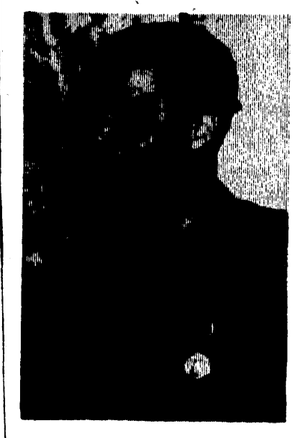
Tuesday's hot lunch menu in the Manistique Area Schools will include sliced baloney, buttered potatoes, buttered corn, rhubarb pineapple bars and beverage.

The Community School Advisory Board meets Tuesday noon in room 105 of the high school for their regular monthly luncheon-meeting. All representatives are urged to attend.

Michigan State Police report two juveniles have confessed the breaking and entering and theft of over $100 in stock from Leggett and Foye Equipment Company on Mar. 22, 1969. The youths, both 16-year-old boys who live in this area, have been placed under jurisdiction of the Probate Court. Some of the stolen items were recovered, troops said. A third 16-year-old boy, who admitted his participation in the breaking and entering of Treasure City, U.S. 2 east, last February is also under Probate Court jurisdiction, officers said. The boys were apprehended Friday.

Cyclist Killed

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — A 31-year-old Cassopolis man, Carl Jackson, died early Sunday when his motorcycle struck a car two miles north of Elkhart, Indiana. State Police said the car apparently crossed the center line into Jackson's path.



SPEC. 5 Paul F. Berger, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Berger of 426 Walnut St., recently received the Army Commendation Medal during ceremonies in Vietnam. He received the medal for meritorious service as a chaplain's assistant in Headquarters, I Field Force, Vietnam. Spec. 5 Berger is a 1963 graduate of Manistique High School and received his bachelors degree from the University of Michigan in 1967. He entered the Army in September, 1968.

Council Expected To Fill Vacancy At Tonight's Meet

City council is expected to announce an appointment to the seat recently vacated by resigned councilman William Wedegartner Jr. when they meet in regular session tonight at 7:30 in city hall. Wedegartner, who served half of a two year term, resigned May 1.

Appointments will also be made to the urban renewal committee and library board.

The agenda lists a discussion with Health Dept. officials Boyd Briggs and Donald Veeser on regulations governing sanitary land-fill dumping grounds. A date will be selected for a public hearing on the 1970-71 city budget and action taken to begin condemnation proceedings on a building on N. Third St. and the Soo Line warehouse on N. Mackinac Ave.

Students Cited For Forensics

The annual forensics awards assembly at the Manistique High School last week was the occasion for presentation of letters, pins and recognition to qualifying students.

Receiving letters and pins in memory of the late J. Joseph Herbert were Patti Arnold, Bernie Beaudry, Karyn Bignall, Kathy Broullire, Mary Cockram, Vicki Frenette, Eileen Mathson, Donna Johnson, Diane Lundwall, Frank Malette, Meg Moffat, Erin O'Brien, Gail Schwartz, Kevin Smith and Mary Stoll.

Recognition for "superior performance" at the district festival at Engadine went to the multiple reading group of Patti Arnold, Bernie Beaudry, Karyn Bignall, Mary Cockram, Kevin Smith, plus Mary Stoll, Diane Lundwall, Frank Malette, Eileen Mathson and Gail Schwartz.

Honors received at the regional festival at Northern Michigan University in Marquette included a "superior" certificate to Eileen Mathson, an "excellent" certificate to the multiple reading group and a "very good" rating for Gail Schwartz. Frank Malette received an "excellent" certificate and qualified to go downstate.

Mrs. John LaPointe is forensics coach.

Rabies Clinic Set Here On Saturday

Rabies Vaccination Clinics will be held in four locations in Schoolcraft County Saturday under sponsorship of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department. A veterinarian will conduct the clinics.

Cat and dog owners may bring their pets to the Hiawatha Township Hall between 9-10 a.m.; the Fire Department in the new city hall in Manistique between 10-12; the Mueller Township Hall between 1:30 and 2:30; and the Germfask Fire Hall from 3-4 p.m.

The Health Dept. warns pet owners that all warm-blooded animals are subject to rabies — a very serious disease which can be transmitted to huhmans by an infected animal. The recent outbreak of rabies in Chippewa County points out the importance of protecting family and community against the dread disease, the Health Dept. said.

The "State Dog Law," Act. 339, P.A. 1919 as amended, and adopted in this county, requires that all dogs three months and over shall be vaccinated and licensed. Failure to comply with this requirement leaves the owner subject to prosecution and the dog subject to destruction.

The vaccination charge per animal is $3.00. Distemper shots, at $6.00 per animal, will also be available.

District Court

Kenneth Blowers, 805 Garden Ave., and Ron Provo, 338 Lake St., appeared before Judge Charles A. Stark this morning for arraignment on trespassing in the nighttime charges. Both are free on personel recognizance following their arrest by Public Safety officers.

City police said the charges were brought by Blowers' wife, Mrs. Tina Blowers, 137 N. Second St., who complained her husband, accompanied by Provo, broke the front door of her home at 1:15 a.m. on May 6.

Pat Osterhout, 17, Rte. 1, was unable to post $5,000 surety bond, or $500 cash bond, and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff following a bond arraignment Friday afternoon. Osterhout was arrested by Michigan State Police and charged with breaking and entering with intent to steal, a felony. The alleged violation occurred at Treasure City, U.S. 2 east, last December. He will appear Monday morning for arraignment before Judge Stark.

4-H Club Holds Awards Ceremony

The Busy Bee 4-H Club met recently at the home of their leader, Mrs. Everett Wood Jr., 441 N. Houghton Ave., for an awards ceremony. Mrs. Howard Larsen is co-leader of the club.

Receiving pins and certificates were Pam Wood, crafts and sewing, 6 years; Judy Barton, crafts and sewing, 5 years; Lynn Larsen, crafts and sewing, 4 years; Roberta Ranta, crafts, 1 year; Everett Wood, crafts and woodworking, 4 years; Robert Pelon, electrical, 4 years; Alan Wood, crafts, 1 year; Donald Knoph, crafts, 1 year; Greg Larsen, crafts and woodworking, 2 years.

Hospital

Admitted to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital on Friday were Kimberly Wayne and Eva Caron. Discharged were Rae Highlund, Frances Senart, Leslie Wilson, William Lockwood, William Bradley, Mary Beth McNamara, Ronald Rosie, Grace Knoph, Jane Tennyson and infant and Jackie Perkins and infant.

Births

DISSINGER — Mr. and Mrs. Michael Dissinger, 2187 Frank Court, Stevensville, Mich., announce the birth of Thomas Duncan on Apr. 28. The new arrival, who has a sister Lori, weighed 7 pounds, 5½ ounces. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dissinger, Manistique Hts., are the paternal grandparents.

Dreams Among Young Mostly Happy Ones

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Young people upon awakening remember their dreams better than do old people. The probable reason: they have happier dreams. Elderly people tend to have more anxious dreams and therefore they subconsciously wish to forget them.

Broad-toed shoes are a fad again, but this style of footwear was first made popular by King Henry VIII of England, who found it helped ease the pangs of gout. Shoes got so broad that finally Parliament passed a law restricting their toe width to eight inches.

Life insurance, it is said, is the only thing a man buys on the installment plan that his wife doesn't have to finish paying for when he dies.

There is no danger of a population explosion among condors, North America's largest birds. These huge scavengers produce only one egg per couple every two years, and the offspring may remain in the nest for a full 18 months before taking to its wings.

Prosperity note: Whatever happened to the old swimming hole? It moved to town. America now has over 709,000 backyard pools—one for every 32 Homeowners.

Quotable notables: "I've saved the money to pay my income tax; now all I have to do is borrow some to live on."—Lou Costello.

What has warts and is popular? The cucumber pickle. Americans now eat eight pounds a year each of this delicacy, first brought here by Christopher Columbus in 1494. Cleopatra thought pickles contributed to her beauty; Roman Emperor Tiberius—he lived to be 95—felt they contributed to his longevity. Among U.S. presidential pickle fanciers were George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Calvin Coolidge who, some say, got his public personality from them.

Apt definitions: "The most rounded person in the world is the average man. He is usually 39 around the chest, 40 around the waist, 96 around the golf course, 132 around the bowling alleys, seldom around when needed, and a nuisance around the house."

Al Fresco dining: The outdoor barbecue season is at hand. This form of cooking has had its addicts in every age and clime since caveman days. Barbecues moved indoors during the Middle Ages when whole oxen sheep and pigs were roasted in castle fireplaces. The French created the word "barb-a-queue," figuratively translated "from snout to tail."

Here is good news for teenagers who worry over whether chocolate can cause acne. A study at the Pennsylvania School of Medicine found that students who ate candy bars containing 10 times as much chocolate as is put in most bars developed no more acne than those who ate identical-looking bars that had no chocolate in them.

One of the world's biggest ice cubes—no one yet has thought up a way to put it into a Martini—is the Malaspina Glacier in Southeastern Alaska. It covers an area larger than Rhode Island.

It was artist Robert Henri who observed. "There are mighty few people who think that they think they think."

Store Burns

PRESCOTT (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an I-G-A store in Prescott in southeastern Ogemaw County Friday. Fire officials from three departments fought the blaze which broke out about midnight. No injuries were reported. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

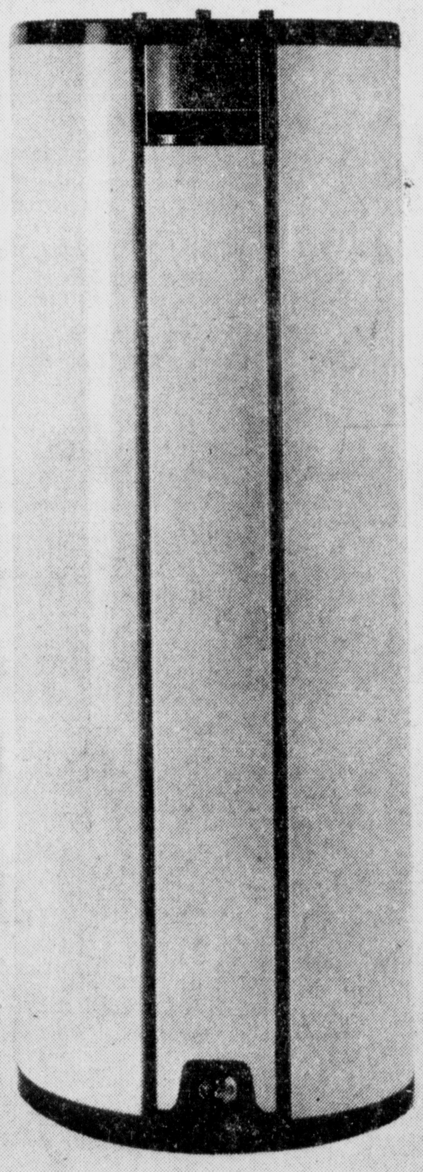
This ad might save you about 500 bucks.



It's simply a matter of arithmetic. Say you're about to buy a new water heater. You have two choices, Gas or electric, right? Wrong. Once you read the facts you'll find that Gas is the only choice. And here's why: Gas heats water faster for about ⅓ the cost of electricity. For the sake of argument, say you have two hot water heaters. A 40-gallon Gas heater. And an 80-gallon electric. Well, the truth is, that the 40-gallon Gas heater will produce more hot water than the 80-gallon electric for ⅓ the cost. That alone could save you as much as 50 dollars a year. And in ten years, that's roughly 500 dollars. Like we said; do you really have two choices? Bet you 500 bucks you don't.

Champagne Flowing In Boston As Bruins Capture Playoffs 4-0

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins drank champagne from the Stanley Cup as expected Sunday, but it took some late heroics by old pro John Bucyk and young superstar Bobby Orr to get the celebration going on schedule.

Trailing most of the way, the Bruins gained a tie on Bucyk's goal with less than seven minutes remaining in regulation time. Then just 40 seconds into the sudden death overtime period, Orr banged home the winning tally.

Sweep Series

That did it. The Bruins had beaten the St. Louis Blues 4-3, sweeping their best-of-seven National Hockey League final playoff series and winning the coveted cup for the first time in 29 years.

Bedlam broke loose in Boston Garden as fans raced onto the ice. NHL President Clarence Campbell presented the cup to the winners, and Bucyk was given the honor of skating it around the rink to a deafening ovation.

The tumultuous celebration continued in the jam-packed dressing room, with players pouring champagne on everybody in sight for more than an hour.

"None of these guys have their names on that cup yet," coach Harry Sinden said when asked why this celebration was so wild. "They may get there again in the future, but the first time is always the best."

A few seconds later the fully dressed Sinden was tossed in the shower along with general manager Milt Schmidt as the celebration continued.

"My greatest thrill ever," said one player after another—even such frequent individual award winners as Orr and Phil Esposito.

"I've waited 15 years for this," said Bucyk, the elder statesman of the team who celebrates his 35th birthday Tuesday. "And I wanted it for those fans. They've been waiting even longer. They deserve it."

For quite a while, it looked as though the Blues were going to spoil the party as they battled to avoid being swept out of the finals a third straight time.

Take Early Lead

Boston's Rick Smith and St. Louis' Red Berenson traded first period goals, but Gary Sabourin put the Blues on top early in the second session and they held the 2-1 lead until Esposito scored at the 14:22 mark to knot the count again. It was Espo's 13th goal and 27th point of the playoffs—both records.

Larry Keenan's power play goal snapped the tie 19 seconds into the third period, and the later it got, the more defensive the Blues became as they tried to protect their lead. The Bruins kept on the attack, however, and Bucyk finally scored from in close to tie the game at 13:28.

"We were starting to feel the pressure," Buck said. "We were getting a little uneasy."

Sinden said he was getting a bit anxious, but was still confident.

"I've learned one thing about this year—never count them out," he said. "I wasn't worried. I was concerned as the time ticked away. But we were getting lots of chances. I figured one of them should go in."

The tie held through regulation time, then the Bruins came out flying for the extra session.

Pressure On

"Harry told us that St. Louis has a history of coming out real strong in overtime," Ken Hodge said. "We didn't want to take a chance on being beaten that way, so we turned the tables on them. We went right in, we forechecked, we kept the pressure on them. We knew they must be tired."

Weren't the Bruins tired too after playing three periods in hot, steamy Boston Garden, with the temperature outside reading 91 degrees?

"Yes, but there's a difference between being tired when you're three up and when you're three down," he said.

Sinden agreed that his strategy called for coming out fast and furiously.

"There was no way we were going to sit back in that overtime period," he said. "We had come this far with a gung-ho type of hockey, and we were going to die by going into their end or win by doing it."

The Bruins took the opening faceoff into St. Louis ice and kept it there until Orr's decisive goal. The 22-year-old defenseman outraced Keenan for a loose puck, passed it to Sanderson, took a return pass and scored.

"Two kids came through," the 23-year-old Sanderson said. "Bobby had a lot of anticipation. He figured he could beat Keenan to the puck or at least check him. With the confidence and guts he's got, he walked in, got the puck, gave it to me and I gave it back."

Orr Gambles

Orr admitted that his play was a gamble of sorts.

"I get caught sometimes and sometime it works out," he said. "This time it worked out."

This was a record 10th straight playoff win for the Bruins (the last two games of the opening series against New York, four straight against Chicago and four more against St. Louis) and also for Gerry Cheevers, who was in goal for all 10 games.

"This was by far my toughest game in the final series," Cheevers said. "I had a lot of tough ones to stop this time. But you're supposed to come up with them in the Stanley Cup."

NBA Expansion Draft Underway

NEW YORK (AP) — The Buffalo Braves begin what has become an almost annual leveling process when they make the first selection today in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft.

The Portland Trail Blazers will choose second and the Cleveland Cavaliers third, and on following rounds Buffalo and Cleveland will exchange their order of selection while Portland picks second throughout.

The draft begins at 9:30 a.m. EDT in the office of Commissioner Walter Kennedy here and will not end until 33 players are selected from the 14 established teams. Each will lose two, and five teams will lose three players.

This draft has become almost an annual affair as the league has expanded three other times in the past four years, missing only last year. Each time, it has served to help balance competition since teams with the greatest depth lose at least one of their top reserves, while many of the lower clubs have little to lose beyond their seventh man.

Each team is allowed to protect seven players and then can pull back an eighth for protection after it has lost one player.

The NBA champion New York Knicks appear the most vulnerable to the draft, boasting a bench that was the best in the league. Beyond their starting five, they have five former No. 1 picks in the college draft, and at least two of them are likely to go.

'Unknown' Wins Houston Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Gibby Gilbert was, for four days and 71 holes, lost in the shuffle. He was the other guy playing with Bruce Crampton and people in their sparse gallery kept saying, "Who's he?"

But Gilbert had a lifetime of obscurity behind him, was used to the feeling and followed his own formula to score his first professional golf tour victory:

"Just keep plugging."

He did, and the 29-year-old club pro from Hollywood, Fla., on the pro tour for just a couple of months, made up two strokes on the final hole, caught Bruce Crampton and then beat him on the third hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday in the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational tourney.

"I didn't deserve to win," Crampton said. "Gibby played very well, made only one bogey and that's good on this course. He's a worthy champion."

Gilbert, who decided to go on the tour only after playing the Doral tournament in Florida—he was the 36-hole leader there—was in third place most of the warm, muggy day, but finished with a 72-hole score of 282, two-under-par on the 7,166-yard Champions Golf club course. He had a final 70.

Crampton with a two-stroke lead over Bert Greene going into the last round, had a 73, also for 282. Greene, who knocked himself out of it with a double-bogey six when he hit into a creek on the 17th, had a 72 for 283.

Most of the drama concerned the stretch duel between Crampton and Greene. Lean Bert, a drawling Georgian, moved into the lead when he holed a 60-foot putt for an eagle on the ninth.

But he three-putted the 16th and then took the double bogey on the 17th.

They both parred the first two extra holes, but Bruce put his tee shot in the water. The rock-steady Gilbert played it in regulation for the $23,000 first prize.

Most of the attention early in the day was centered on the incredible Ben Hogan, playing his first tournament in three years.

He ran off a string of three consecutive birdies starting on the third hole, turned in three in three-under-par but faltered as his shattered, still-ailing 57-year-old legs began to tire on the back side. He finished with a 70 for 287.

"I played better than I thought I would," the weary Hogan said, "But I'm tired."

He finished only five strokes off the pace.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper did not compete.

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

The 1970 baseball season is little more than a month old and already it looks as if the Baltimore Orioles are pulling away from the pack in the American League East in a bid for their second straight pennant.

But Detroit Tiger manager Mayo Smith said it's still too early to get discouraged, although his team's 9-7 loss together with Baltimore's doubleheader sweep of Chicago dropped the second-place Tigers five games behind.

"What we've got to do is in our own immediate family," he reasoned. "You can't control the other guy. You just have to do a winning job yourself."

Death Of Reuther Shocks Nation

SMOLDERING among newly-budded trees in northern Lower Michigan lies the wreckage of the Lear Jet in which United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther, his wife, May, and four others were killed near Pellston. UAW Leader, Wife, Four Others Killed In Airplane Mishap

BY PETE MAHAN

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, the tool-and-die maker who envisioned a fair shake for the workers in Detroit's automobile plants and rose to be leader of 1.6 million United Auto Workers and a giant of American labor, was killed in the flaming crash of a chartered jet near Pellston Saturday night.

Also dead in the crash were his wife, May; a Philadelphia architect, Oskar Stonorov; Reuther's bodyguard William Wolfman of Detroit; the pilot, G. Evans, and co-pilot, G. Kareffa, both of Cleveland.

Authorities said the executive-type jet broke through scattered clouds on its rain-swept approach to the Pellston Airport and then came down in a ball of flame.

All bodies were burned beyond recognition and medical identification was made Sunday by a pathologist through dental records at the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Investigators have not announced any cause for the crash.

The United Auto Workers who go to the bargaining table in mid-July to hammer out new contracts with the automotive giants have lost their leader of 24 years.

Under Reuther, a giant in the American labor movement, the UAW had grown to 1.6 million members, the nation's largest industrial union.

Reuther had been the UAW's president since 1946 and was a vice president of the AFL-CIO until he broke his union away two years ago in the climax to a feud with AFL-CIO President George Meany.

He then formed the rival Alliance for Labor Action in an amalgamation with the Teamsters and International Chemical Workers "to organize the unorganized and the poor and get the labor movement moving again."

Those who died Saturday with the red-haired, 62-year-old Reuther were his wife, May, 59; Oskar Stonorov, 65, a Philadelphia architect; Wiliam Wolfman 29, Reuther's bodyguard and Mrs. Reuther's nephew; the pilot, George Evans, 48; and copilot, Joseph Karaffa, 41, both of Columbus, Ohio.

They were en route from Detroit for a weekend visit to the UAW's $15-million education center, which Stonorov designed. It is nearing completion on Black Lake in northern Lower Michigan.

Flaming Crash

No one survived the flaming crash of the union-chartered twin-engine, executive-type Lear jet as it approached the Pellston airport through rain under low-hanging clouds at 9:33 p.m.

The charred remains were taken to the University of Michigan Hospital at Ann Arbor for identification. A doctor said Sunday night the bodies of Reuther and his wife were positively identified by dental charts.

Probe Underway

A six-member team from the National Transportation Safety Board flew to Pellston to try to piece together what happened in the minutes between Evans' radioed request for landing clearance and the crash 1½ miles from the airport.

In his sometimes stormy career, Reuther had survived an assassin's shotgun blast which crippled his right arm and had thwarted an attempt to take him on a no-return, ganglandstyle ride.

He was a participant in the then sensational sit-down strikes of the 1930s in which his fledgling union took over auto plants and held them to force its recognition as bargaining agent.

Dream Realized

Reuther realized a long-time dream in 1967 when he won a guaranteed annual income from General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

In his tenure he also had seen the average wage at the Big Three rise to $4.02 hourly, with fringe benefits estimated to be worth another $1.75 an hour.

The union's other eight top officers, shocked and grieved, described Reuther in a statement as the UAW's "conscience, its heartbeat and its soul," and

Auto Workers' Bargain Plans Could Change

DETROIT (AP) — Before the death of Walter P. Reuther Saturday night, contract negotiations this fall between the auto workers and the automakers were expected to be the toughest in years. Now, there is even more uncertainty about the talks.

Reuther, 62, president of the United Auto Workers, and five others, including his wife, May, 59, died in a plane crash en route Saturday night to the UAW's educational center in northern Lower Michigan.

Both company and union spokesmen had conceded before his death that the 1970 bargaining will be tough—the toughest since 1958, a recession year, and possibly since the 113-day strike against General Motors in 1945-46.

They gave two major reasons:

—New car sales and company profits have been sagging this year and thousands of UAW members have been laid off by the Big Three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

—The UAW has adopted a wide-ranging set of economic demands aimed at overcoming the erosion of wages by inflation.

The impact of the contracts are felt far beyond the auto industry—in hundreds of supplier plants and in the aerospace and agricultural implement fields.

The union has tried in the past to force others employing its 1.6 million members to meet the automotive pattern. And it was Reuther who pushed through by strike or otherwise, the pact that set the pattern.

Other union officials have sat with him, but it was Reuther who made the final decisions to "take it or leave it" at the bargaining table. That responsibility will now fall to other union officials.

Nixon Calls Death Deep Loss To U.S.

By The Associated Press

Reactions of shock and sadness were voiced by leaders of labor, industry and government after the death of Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union, his wife, and four others in a plane crash near Pellston, Mich.

President Nixon viewed Reuther's death as "a deep loss not only for organized labor but also for the cause of collective bargaining and the entire American process."

"He was a man," said Nixon, "who was devoted to his cause, spoke for it with eloquence and worked for it tirelessly. While he was outspoken and controversial, even those who disagreed with him had great respect for his ability, integrity and persistence."

Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz said in Washington: "American society is far poorer today for the loss of Wlter Reuther and his wife." He added: "Walter Reuther had many quarrels with the American system, but he wanted to improve it, not destroy it."

Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey whose presidential candidacy Reuther supported against Nixon in 1968, said Reuther's death is "another blow to our country when it seems like so many unfortunate things are happening."

In Paris, the national congress of the French Democratic Confederation of Labor observed a minute of silence n Reuther's memory.

I. W. Abe, president of the United Steelworkers, said Reuther's "vision, dedication and dynamic leadership played a major role in building the American labor movement."

Board chairmen of the nation's four largest automakers joined in praise of the man with whom their firms often had differed and fought at the bargaining table.

"Walter Reuther was an able and dedicated leader," said James M. Roche of General Motors Corp. "Our industry and our country will miss him."

Henry Ford II called Reuther "an extraordinarily effective advocate of labor's interests, whose tough-minded dedication, sense of social concern, selflessness and eloquence all marked him as a central figure in the development of modern industrial history."

Lynn Townsend, Chrysler Corp. chairman, said Reuther's "devotion to the ideals and principles in which he believed were evident not only at the bargaining table, but also in his untiring efforts to improve the conditions of his less fortunate fellow men."

Roy Chapin, American Motors chairman, called Reuther "a great and dedicated leader."

College Leaders Eyeing Election Time 'Vacations'

NEW YORK (AP) — A proposal to give college students time off to participate in political campaigns next fall received support Sunday from three major college officials.

The proposal was adopted by Princeton University last week.

President Kingman Brewster of Yale and Father James Hesburgh of Notre Dame said they were considering putting the "campaign vacation" into effect in the fall.

Chancellor Albert Bowker of New York City's Board of Higher Education, which runs the 165,000-student City University, said he will recommend a two-week period of free time before next November's elections so the students can play an active role.

"Student activity could be the dominating influence in next year's election," Bowker said in a televised interview.

Brewster, Hesburgh and Robben Fleming of the University of Michigan spoke with reporters after taping a separate television interview.

Ask Suit Against U.S. Polluters

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Pollution Probe in Windsor says it will ask Ottawa to sue American polluters of the Windsor area.

The group said in a release Saturday it is collecting names of Windsor area persons who feel they have suffered damage from Detroit area industries.

The release says any suits will be based on a precedent set 35 years ago when the U.S. Government asked a British Columbia mining company to cut down atmospheric pollution.

They've finally invented the perfect computer. You just feed your problems into it and they never come out again.

Toothbrush Handy

Reuther Always Ready For Long Negotiations

DETROIT (AP) —When Walter P. Reuther showed up as a "target" of his United Auto Workers Union to seek a contract, he'd usually announce to newsmen: "Well, I've brought my toothbrush."

It was then that the atmosphere became electric and round the clock bargaining was likely to begin to the hammering out of a contract or the call of a strike.

No Wooden Nickles

The United Auto Workers Union President, killed in an airplane crash near Pellston Saturday night, had a flair for the well-turned and colorful phrase.

"We are not going to take any wooden nickles," he might say with a smile in low-rating some company offer.

Or again he might shout, as recently, "We don't give a damn what the attitude of the Nixon Administration is, we are going to get our equity."

He could depict the union's demands as desires as only a flint-hearted Scrooge could reject.

Gift Of Phrasing

With his gift of phrasing, he usually could put the industry in a bad light when company negotiators balked.

When negotiations began, the union's case was methodically prepared, exhaustingly researched and carefully documented by a corps of brilliant administrative assistants and advisors.

Last year he faced up to black militants in Detroit auto plants, contending they did not speak for rank and file blacks and the violence they preached was "counter-productive."

Seaton Retires

Louis G. Seaton, who faced Reuther across the bargaining table for 24 years and retired only recently as vice president for personnel at General Motors, recalled Sunday he had received a letter after his retirement was announced last week.

Seaton recalled "There never was any monkey-business at the bargaining table but away from it Reuther was a different kind of individual, concerned with the problems of everyone in the entire community not just the people he represented."

Reuther Admired

"I can't help but admire a man like that," Seaton added. "He was a terrifically competitive adversary."

"But he knew that while he was representing the workers, my job was to protect the interests of the shareholders in my corporation.

"So there was none of the smearing of personalities or recriminations that mar other labor negotiations.

"Walter never allowed himself to indulge in that luxury.

"He never felt he had to resort to a cork-blowing act the way other men do who aren't sure of themselves. He never operated that way."

S. Vietnamese At Phnom Penh In River Drive

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese navy flotilla of about 30 boats with a half dozen U.S. advisers sailed into the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh today after the first allied river assault across the border, South Vietnamese sources said.

The flotilla, which left South Vietnam on Saturday, completed a 60-mile drive that helped secure an important ferry crossing on Highway 1, in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese headquarters said more than 200 enemy troops were killed in the naval drive along the Mekong River.

The arrival of the flotilla at Phnom Penh was announced by the South Vietnamese, who made no mention of U.S. advisers being aboard the boats.

The presence of advisers was reported later by South Vietnamese informants who are in a position to know.

The navy movement was accompanied by gains of South Vietnamese fighting along the banks of the Mekong farther south. South Vietnamese marines seized the key ferry crossing at Neak Luong on the Mekong and then drove on north and linked up today with U.S.-trained Cambodian strike forces.

A dispatch from Cambodia said four Marine battalions drove about a company of enemy troops from Neak Luong Sunday. They moved on about 2½ miles and met the Cambodians at the village of Kompong Phanom. This indicated that the 37 miles between the ferry crossing and the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh was clear of enemy troops.

Neak Luong lies on Highway 1, which connects Phnom Penh with Saigon.

Reports from Phnom Penh said the South Vietnamese Marines seized both sides of the ferry landing. They arrived with an allied flotilla that moved across the border from South Vietnam Saturday.

Reuther Had Planned Final Showdown

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, killed with his wife and four other persons in a plane crash was a no-drink, no-smoke man who rose from a tool and die apprentice to president of the 1.6 million member United Auto Workers Union.

He was preparing for what was to have been his last major battle, with the nation's automakers, when UAW contracts expire in mid-September.

He had pledged a fight with the industry on the new three-year pacts despite a hard line by the industry because of declining new car sales, slumping profits, and many worker layoffs.

Re-elected President

At Atlantic City, N.J., where he was reelected to a new two-year term April 23, Reuther decried what he said were industry profits that were "scandalously high" in recent years. Reuther, 62, had planned to retire after reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

"We will not be bargaining about the economy of 1970 but about the future," he said.

Concerned About Men

Tough, pragmatic, but concerned for the ordinary man's problems, Reuther pioneered some of the most unique labor agreements in American history.

Reuther invariably worked for higher living standards for his rank and file workers, dreaming of a day when the auto worker would spend his spare time in cultural and intellectual pursuits.

"We'll never know how much genius went unborn because of the sheer human task of feeding families," Reuther once said. "We'll never know the Pasteurs or Edisons or Rembrandts or Marian Andersons who never had a chance."

Reuther, a foe of AFL-CIO President George Meany, withdrew his UAW from the AFL-CIO in July 1968, claiming the labor body was practically inactive.

The UAW then joined the Teamsters Union in forming the Alliance for Labor, whose main purpose is to step up organizing efforts and to combat social problems.

Support Boycott

Among other items, the UAW has supported the California table grape boycott and has been in favor of organizing migrant workers.

Reuther's father, Valentine, was president of the Ohio Valley Trades and Labor Assembly and an organizer of the United Brewery Workers.

Reuther left high school at 15 to learn the tool and die trade at Wheeling Steel Co. He came to Detroit in 1926, becoming a journeyman tool and die apprentice, working at Briggs Mfg. Co. and Ford Motor Co. During this period Ruther completed high school and attended Wayne University for three years.

In 1933, Reuther was fired from Ford for his union activity. The day before the banks closed, he and his brother, Victor, took their savings out and left on a bicycling trip of Europe. They toured 11 countries, including Soviet Russia.

The year and a half in Russia often has been used by critics who said Reuther had Communist leanings. Actually, he and Victor worked at the factory in Gorki under an agreement to teach peasants how to make cars. The factory was built under supervision of Ford Motor Co. When Reuther won presidency of the UAW in 1945, he was saddled with a Communist-dominated board.

Eliminates Reds

"I went to the rank and file," he said. "I just outworked them. I beat them by 95 per cent and swept the board clean," eliminating the Communists.

In 1935, Reuther returned to Detroit and joined the UAW. Walter because president of his local and within a year built its membership from 78 to 30,000.

While working for a tool and die shop in 1936, Reuther was given a 10-cent raise for efficiency in the morning and fired in the afternoon when his union connections were uncovered.

"I have never worked in a factory where there was a union," he said. "I always got kicked out before it was organized." Reuther met his wife, May Wolf, on a streetcar about that time. They were married on Friday, March 13, 1936. They have two daughters, Linda Reuther, 27 and Lisa Reuther, 23.

Organizes GM, Others

In 1937, Reuther, using his famed sit-down strike technique, organized General Motors and Chrysler Corp. Reuther turned his guns on Ford, but it took four years before Henry Ford and Harry Bennett, the ex-sailor who headed Ford's private army, agreed to negotiate.

The famed Battle of the Overpass on May 26, 1937, was typical of Reuther's problems at Ford. A group of Bennett's private police ousted Reuther and Richard Frankensteen from the Ford gate where they were trying to hand out union literature.

"The worst was when two of Bennett's goons picked me up by my ankles and dragged me down a flight of 36 steel steps, banging my back against each one, and then threw me in the middle of the road," said Reuther.

Worked For Government

Ford signed a UAW contract in 1941. Reuther worked for the government during the war, working out war-production bottlenecks.

In 1945, Reuther led the 113-day strike against General Motors. He was elected UAW president two months after the walkout ended, a post he occupied to the present. Reuther's next years were devoted to tough-minded negotiating, trying

Dreams Among Young Mostly Happy Ones

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Young people upon awakening remember their dreams better than do old people. The probable reason: they have happier dreams. Elderly people tend to have more anxious dreams and therefore they subconsciously wish to forget them.

Broad-toed shoes are a fad again, but this style of footwear was first made popular by King Henry VIII of England, who found it helped ease the pangs of gout. Shoes got so broad that finally Parliament passed a law restricting their toe width to eight inches.

Life insurance, it is said, is the only thing a man buys on the installment plan that his wife doesn't have to finish paying for when he dies.

There is no danger of a population explosion among condors, North America's largest birds. These huge scavengers produce only one egg per couple every two years, and the offspring may remain in the nest for a full 18 months before taking to its wings.

Prosperity note: Whatever happened to the old swimming hole? It moved to town. America now has over 709,000 backyard pools—one for every 32 Homeowners.

Quotable notables: "I've saved the money to pay my income tax; now all I have to do is borrow some to live on."—Lou Costello.

What has warts and is popular? The cucumber pickle. Americans now eat eight pounds a year each of this delicacy, first brought here by Christopher Columbus in 1494. Cleopatra thought pickles contributed to her beauty; Roman Emperor Tiberius—he lived to be 95—felt they contributed to his longevity. Among U.S. presidential pickle fanciers were George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Calvin Coolidge who, some say, got his public personality from them.

Apt definitions: "The most rounded person in the world is the average man. He is usually 39 around the chest, 40 around the waist, 96 around the golf course, 132 around the bowling alleys, seldom around when needed, and a nuisance around the house."

Al Fresco dining: The outdoor barbecue season is at hand. This form of cooking has had its addicts in every age and clime since caveman days. Barbecues moved indoors during the Middle Ages when whole oxen sheep and pigs were roasted in castle fireplaces. The French created the word "barb-a-queue," figuratively translated "from snout to tail."

Here is good news for teenagers who worry over whether chocolate can cause acne. A study at the Pennsylvania School of Medicine found that students who ate candy bars containing 10 times as much chocolate as is put in most bars developed no more acne than those who ate identical-looking bars that had no chocolate in them.

One of the world's biggest ice cubes—no one yet has thought up a way to put it into a Martini—is the Malaspina Glacier in Southeastern Alaska. It covers an area larger than Rhode Island.

It was artist Robert Henri who observed. "There are mighty few people who think that they think they think."

Store Burns

PRESCOTT (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an I-G-A store in Prescott in southeastern Ogemaw County Friday. Fire officials from three departments fought the blaze which broke out about midnight. No injuries were reported. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

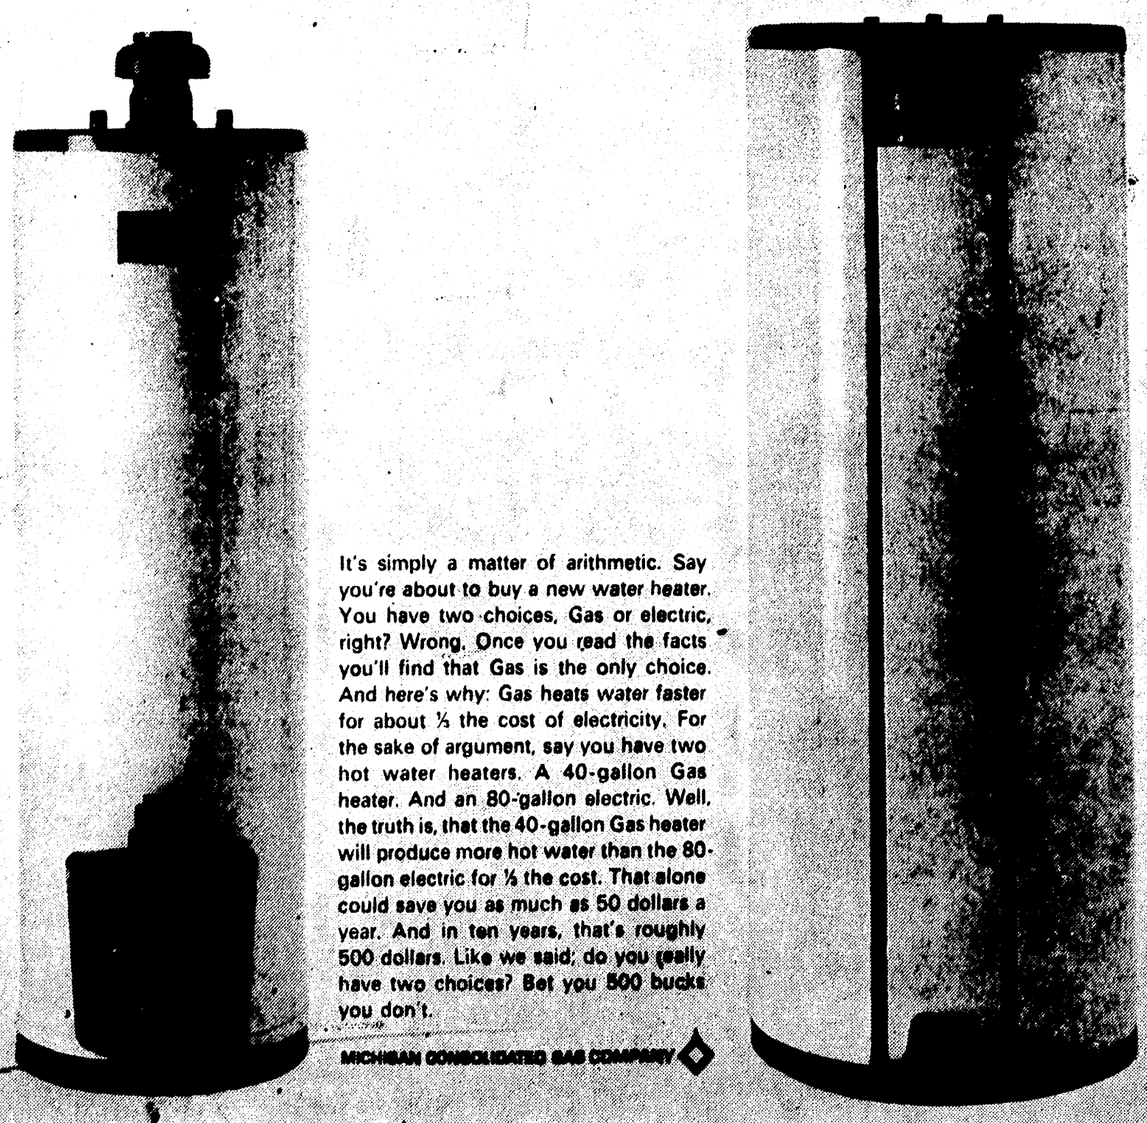
This ad might save you about 500 bucks.



It's simply a matter of arithmetic. Say you're about to buy a new water heater. You have two choices, Gas or electric, right? Wrong. Once you read the facts you'll find that Gas is the only choice. And here's why: Gas heats water faster for about ⅓ the cost of electricity. For the sake of argument, say you have two hot water heaters. A 40-gallon Gas heater. And an 80-gallon electric. Well, the truth is, that the 40-gallon Gas heater will produce more hot water than the 80-gallon electric for ⅓ the cost. That alone could save you as much as 50 dollars a year. And in ten years, that's roughly 500 dollars. Like we said; do you really have two choices? Bet you 500 bucks you don't.

Mrs. Romney To Visit Escanaba

Lenore Romney

Mrs. George (Lenore) Romney, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, will make a campaign swing to the Upper Peninsula that will bring Michigan's former "first lady" to Escanaba for a public meeting Friday, May 15.

A Lenore Romney Committee for Delta County has been completed, with Mr. and Mrs. Art Pope of Gladstone as chairmen, it is announced by H. H. Dubbelde, chairman of the Delta County Republican Committee.

Other members of the committee for Mrs. Romney are Mr. and Mrs. John Walbridge and Mrs. William Butt.

Mrs Romney will arrive at the Escanaba airport about 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

On Friday morning between 8:30 and 9:30 at Marco's she will meet the public at a coffee and rolls breakfast hour, before leaving for Iron Mountain and a luncheon engagement.

The swing through the Peninsula will be climaxed at Marquette at a Republican banquet Saturday evening, to be attended by party members at a fund raising program.

U.S. Navy, French Landing Exercise Set Off Corsica

BASTIA, France (AP) — Units of the U.S. 6th Fleet in the mediterranean and French troops have begun a week-long landing exercise on the eastern coast of Corsica, military sources reported.

The sources said the joint maneuvers opened Saturday and involved six ships of the 6th Fleet, from which Marines landed on the coast of the French Mediterranean island. French troops opposed the landing in a mock battle.

MANISTIQUE — Mrs. John Grimsley of Stueben died Sunday morning at the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. The former Marie Harris was born Aug. 9, 1898 and she was a member of the VFW Auxiliary.

She was married to George Parks and he died several years ago. She later married John Grimsley and he died last year.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Russell McManus of Stueben, four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren; two brothers, Ralph Harris of Shingleton and Henry of Midland and one sister, Mrs.. Louise Romenski of Butternut, Wis.

Friends may call at Kefauver and Jackson Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Tuesday and funeral services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m. Wednesday at the funeral home chapel with the Rev. Arnold Grambow officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Garage Damaged By Fire Sunday

A fire caused slight damage to the roof of a garage owned by Shirley Brown, 608 1st Ave. S., Sunday evening, according to a report made by the City Fire Dept.

Firemen answered the call at 8:35 p.m. Sunday and, after putting the fire out, found that the damage was confined to the contents of the garage and a small portion of the roof near the west wall.

Firemen said that the fire apparently started by children playing in the attic portion of the building. A partly filled package of cigarettes and paper matches were found in the attic.

The fire also severed the electric wires near the house leading to the garage and some wire was damaged. The city electrician was called to check the wiring in the home.

Polio Clinics Set This Week

Polio clinics in Gladstone and Escanaba have been scheduled this week at times convenient to employed adults and to whole families, it is announced by Dr. Mary Cretens, director, Delta - Menominee Health District.

Oral polio vaccine (not shots) will be administered and is advised for everyone who has never had this solid and lasting protection, said Dr. Cretens. A donation will be asked of 50 cents, which approximately is the cost of the vaccine. No one will be denied the protection because they are unable to donate, however.

At Gladstone the polio clinic will be at the James T. Jones School from 5 to 7 p.m. on Wednesday; and in Escanaba it will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. on Friday.

They are the first of two clinics. The second-round clinic will be held sometime after four weeks and before eight weeks.

The clinics are sponsored by the Health Department with the cooperation of the Women's Auxiliary of the Medical Society and local pharmacists.

Briefly Told

Patrick G. Lay, 25, Rte. 1, Escanaba, was ticketed by the Gladstone Police for careless driving.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the U.T.U. will hold their regular meeting at the Elks Club at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. Pearl McCauley will be hostess of the social assisted by Lillian Madden, Ann Taylor, and Amelia Kidd.

The Women's Volley Ball Team at the Pine Forest Club will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday.

All parents of the Jr. and Sr. Band members are urged to attend the Holy Name band parents meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in the Holy Name multi-purpose room.

Bay de Noc Area stamp and coin collectors will meet at 7 Tuesday evening in the basement meeting room of the Escanaba Public Library. All collectors are welcome to attend.

Students of the Adult Enrichment Oil Painting Class will display their paintings in the window of the Ivan Kobasic Furniture Store, Tuesday through Saturday. Class instructor was Mrs. Dan Stacey.

The Women's Golf League of the Escanaba Country Club will play open golf Wednesday, followed by dinner at the club house. Dinner reservations must be made by this evening for all those not having permanent reservations. The committee in charge of Wednesday's dinner includes Marg LeMire, Harriet Fitzharris, Lorraine Baudek and Nella Gremban.

Reuther Planned Final Showdown

to improve the lot of the assembly line worker.

On the night of April 20, 1948, Reuther was fired on by an unknown man while standing in the kitchen of his modest home in northwest Detroit. His right arm was shattered. His brother Victor, was fired upon 13 months later. He lost the sight of his right eye. Neither assassination attempt has been solved.

Reuther worked relentlessly trying to restore use of his shattered arm. Within 18 months, he could move his thumb.

Moves To Suburb

For the sake of his family's safety. Reuther moved to a rural area 55 minutes from Detroit.

"I built a house and I built an arm at the same time," he said. "I pounded nails until tears came to my eyes."

Reuther, who fought for the 40-hour week for his workers, often worked twice that rate for the union without overtime.

Reuther's brother, Roy, died on Jan. 10, 1968. At the time, he was director of the UAW's citizenship activities in Detroit and Washington. His brother, Victor, is director of international affairs of the UAW and has offices in Washington.

Raps Administration

Reuther has talked out on many national issues. At the Atlantic Convention last month, Reuther accused Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell of waging a campaign of repressions against Americans who support unpopular causes.

After the 1967 Detroit riots which left 43 dead, Reuther was named to the blue-ribbon group called the New Detroit Committee. It was created to help inner city residents.

Recently, Reuther has been in the forefront of efforts to create a national health insurance system. It would provide for persons of all ages.

VFW Poppy Days Set For Two Area Cities

Hiawatha Post 2998, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will hold its annual Buddy Poppy sale in Escanaba and Gladstone May 15 and 16.

Separate sales will take place in both cities according to Hiawatha Post VFW Auxiliary Chairman Mrs. Joseph Simons and 14th District Chairman George Cholger.

National VFW Commander Raymond Gallagher is asking public support of the Buddy Poppy drive in the area. "This is one of the post's most worthy projects each year, with many disabled veterans benefiting from the sale," Gallagher said.

"Hospitalization and compensation payments," Gallagher said, "just cannot serve the entire needs of the disabled veteran. He needs aid and assistance which cannot be measured by the dollar cost of his rehabilitation."

"The poppies are assembled by disabled veterans who benefit from the sale each year," he added.

Mrs. Simons and Cholger stated today that if everyone would purchase a poppy when approached, the local post and auxiliary would be most grateful.

"It's a once-a-year program with us but we need full cooperation of the public to make it a success," the two chairmen stated.

Mrs. M. Hansen Dies Suddenly In Green Bay

Mrs. Max L. (Lillian) Hansen, 60, of Green Bay, died suddenly at her home Saturday, May 9.

She is survived by her husband; two hons, Sr. MSgt. Noel, serving with the U.S. Air Force in Belleville, Ill., Jan, of Gren Bay; one daughter, Mrs. Ronald (Maxine) Johnson of Eau Claire, Wis., and nine grandchildren.

She is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew P. Johnson of Cornell, one brother, Lloyd of Chicago, Ill., and three sisters, Mrs. Walter (Lucille) Erickson of Poway, Calif., Mrs. Donald (Elvera) Kickbusch and Mrs. David (Ruth) Campbell, both of Cornell.

Funeral services for Mrs. Max Hansen will be held Tuesday, May 12, at 2 p.m. at the Troko-Wall Funeral Home in Green Bay. The Hansens are former residents of Escanaba.

Who Will Head Powerful UAW?

DETROIT (AP) — Who will succeed Walter P. Reuther and spearhead new contract bargaining between the United Auto Workers and the giants of the auto industry starting in mid-July?

Most guessing in Detroit centers on the union's seven vice presidents.

Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer, took over temporarily under the union's constitution following Reuther's death in a plane crash. And he may put in a claim to keep the mantle.

Board To Rule

The 25 members of the union's international executive board will choose a new president to serve until the UAW's 1972 convention.

Mazey, the seven vice presidents and 17 regional directors make up the executive board which Reuther headed as president.

The board's next scheduled meeting is June 2.

Reuther appeared to be setting the stage to handpick his successor when four at-large board members and the Canadian director were made vice presidents by the UAW 1970 convention last month at Atlantic City, N.J.

Fraser In Line

Many viewed that as a step to put 53-year-old Douglas Fraser in the line of succession. An administrative assistant to Reuther for eight years, he had been an at-large board member and chief of the union's Chrysler and Skilled Trades departments.

Fraser often was a pinch-hit speaker for Reuther.

His elevation raised Fraser to the level of the union's two long-term vice presidents, Leonard Woodcock, 59, and Dwayne "Pat" Greathouse, 55. Another possible contender elevated with Fraser was Ken Bannon, 56.

Woodcock heads the union's General Motors and Aerospace departments; Greathouse the American Motors and Agricultural Implement departments, and Bannon the Ford department.

Negro In Field

In addition to Fraser and Bannon, Reuther also promoted Nelson Jack Edwards, a Negro at-large board member; Olga Madar, the only woman member; and Dennis McDermott, the union's Canadian director, to vice presidencies.

Since the UAW constitution prohibits the nomination or election of anyone aged 65 or over, Reuther was serving what would have been his next-to-last two-year term had he chosen re-election in 1972.

Reuther would have turned 65 on Sept. 1. 1972, but the next convention will be held on April or May of that year and thus he would have been qualified as less than 65.

May Serve Out Term

The constitution provides that an officer elected before age 65 may serve out his term, so Reuther could have held on until he was nearing 67 in 1974.

Indications that delegates already might be choosing up among the heirs apparent came at Atlantic City as Reuther swamped his first challenger in 21 years, Art Fox of Detroit.

Delegation after delegation cast its votes for either "The Reuther-Fraser team," or for "the Reuther-Mazey team," "Reuther-Woodcock team," "Reuther-Bannon team," or "Reuther-Greathouse team."

Luong area said 20 to 30 South Vietnamese boats were maneuvering in the waterway between the two sides of the ferry landing.

The capture of Neak Luong removed the main obstacle on the road to the hard pressed provincial capital of Svay Rieng, 30 miles west of the Cambodian border.

U.S.-trained strike forces of Cambodians, born in South Vietnam and flown to Phnom Penh, are expected to spearhead the drive to clear the rest of the highway to Svay Rieng, about 40 miles southwest of Neak Luong, the Cambodian reports said.

THOUSANDS OF POUNDS of suckers are being taken by commercial fishermen under special permit and in cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources. This boat load of suckers is at Ford River, taken from pound nets set under supervision of the DNR, and ready to load by conveyor into a truck. The sucker eggs are taken by the DNR to feed walleyes, northerns and muskies in state hatcheries. (Daily Press Photo)

Sucker Harvest Provides Food For Game Fish

Commercial fishermen of Delta and Menominee counties, who at the request of the Department of Natural Resources are cooperating in a fish egg collecting program, have had their equipment damaged by uninformed persons, the DNR reported today.

"We ask that the fishermen's nets be respected, for the taking of suckers is a benefit to the sports fishermen as well as to the commercial fishermen," said Cliff Long, DNR fish biologist, Escanaba.

There will be more sport for sport anglers as a result of the temporary netting of suckers at the Ford and Bark Rivers in Delta County and in Bailey, Johnson, Kleinke, Schoolhouse and Beaty Creeks in Menominee County, says the DNR.

Nets of the commercial fishermen have been damaged over the weekend, although the nets were set and the catch of suckers is supervised by the Department, it is reported. Cooperating in the fish egg collecting program are Tom Ruleau at Ford River, Richard Marcin at Bark River and four other commercial operators in Menominee County.

Feed Game Fish

Through special DNR permits the fishermen are allowed to set pound nets in the streams flowing into Green Bay where there are sucker runs, Long explained.

No fish are removed until DNR representatives are on hand to take the spawn, which is supplied to the Thompson Hatchery and to Wolf Lake downstate.

The sucker eggs are used at the hatcheries as forage in the rearing of young northern pike, walleyes and muskies, which are released in stock inland and Great Lakes waters with these game fish.

Long stressed the cooperative and beneficial aspects of the sucker-taking program, which had a test a year ago in Menominee County and was expanded this spring into Delta County also.

The Benefits

The benefits include:

1 - Additional harvest of rough fish by the commercial fishermen, who are getting 2 cents per pound for the suckers.

2 - To the sports anglers the development of the game fish program, the reduction of the number of suckers in Green Bay and the consequent lessening of predation by rough fish, and the retaining of the forage for game fish.

Sports anglers were reassured by Long that sucker egg collecting is not harmful to steelhead. Only one or two steelhead have been taken in the nets at Bark River.

Indicating the quantity of suckers being removed, about 15,000 pounds were taken at Ford River on Saturday and about 24,000 pounds were taken about 24,000 pounds on Sunday.

The sucker collecting will continue for not more than another week, completing the production of the needed quota of 3,000 quarts of sucker eggs.

Increase Planned At Scott Paper's Marinette Plant

MARINETTE, Wis. — Plans for a 75 per cent increase in paper towel production at its Marinette plant have been announced by Scott Paper Co.

The firm said the expansion probably will create 24 new job opportunities for local citizens.

Richard P. Schneider, general manager of the mill here, said Scott will spend more than $3 million for the expansion. He said the number three paper machine will be completely replaced and additional equipment provided to increase production of twin-pack and jumbo Scott towel products.

The announcement said construction of major building changes and installation of new pulping facilities will begin immediately. Completion of preliminary construction is scheduled for early fall, the firm indicated.

According to Scott, replacement of the paper machine will be accomplished during June and July of 1971. The new machine will include recent developments by the Scott engineering and research centers in Philadelphia, Pa.

All scheduled for installation will be equipment for increased roll towel diversification including production of the decorated twin-pack and jumbo paper towel products.

Sen. Fulbright Sees Protests Changing Tide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says the Nixon administration misreads the extent of national discontent with the Vietnam war but last week's massive student protests will help convince it to change policies.

"I don't know how they can ignore it altogether," the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview with The Associated Press.

The interview was conducted before Saturday's massive demonstrations and before President Nixon told his news conference Friday night that "I have not been surprised by the intensity of the protests."

The Arkansas Democrat also said "events would indicate" the United States is sliding into a commitment to support the new government of Cambodia. And he charged administration officials "have been less than candid in informing the Congress what their intentions are all the way."

Q. Do you think the Nixon administration understands the extent of discontent with the war in the country?

A. No. I think they misread it. Their own reports all indicate that, saying their telephone polls are 10 to 1 in favor. I think that they're wrong. I agree with George Reedy's observation that presidents, not just this President, his predecessor and others, are so surrounded with what used to be called the palace guard, the royal court, it insulates them from reality.

Q. Will the events of this past week help convince them?

A. That's what it's designed to do, and I suspect it will have an effect. Because they are so obvious, and the physical evidence is so great, I don't know how they can ignore it altogether.

UAW Leader, Wife, 4 Others Die In Plane Crash

called upon other unionists "to observe with us a week of mourning in his memory."

They left unanswered the question of who will lead them at the bargaining table.

Under the union's constitution, Secretary-Treasurer Emil Mazey takes over temporarily. A president to serve until the 1972 convention will be chosen by the remaining 25 members of the international executive board. Its next scheduled meeting is June 2.

Meany Expresses Regrets

George Meany was among the leaders of labor, industry and government who expressed regrets. Meany said, "We had disagreements, but we worked together as well and...it is the latter that stands out in my memory." He credited Reuther with "a unique and lasting contribution" to "labor and the nation."

Reuther had supported Democratic presidential candidates since Franklin D. Roosevelt. In breaking with the AFL-CIO he blamed what he said was its failure to get involved in social endeavors such as civil rights.

He had flown millions of miles throughout the world to champion labor and liberal causes.

Few Challenges

In March of 1946 Reuther ousted R.J. Thomas as UAW president and had been challenged only twice since, in 1949 and last month. He turned back both challenges overwhelmingly.

Reuther quit school at 15 to go to work as an apprentice tool and die maker upon the death of his father, but later completed his high school education at night and attended Wayne State University night classes for three years. He was fired from tool and die maker job at Ford Motor Co in 1933 for his union activities.

As president of the CIO, Reuther led it into merger with the AFL.

Target Of Assassin

On the night of April 20, 1948, Reuther almost lost his life to a would-be assassin who fired through a kitchen window of Reuther's home.

In May 1949, his brother Victor was the victim of an almost identical attack and lost an eye. Victor was the UAW educational director. He now heads its international affairs department.

In neither case was the assailant apprehended.

In the forefront of an organizing campaign at Ford in 1937, Reuther and other unionists were bloodied in what became famous as "The Battle of the Overpass' at Ford's huge River Rouge complex in suburban Dearborn.

In the spring of 1938 two armed men barged into the Reuther home, intent they said, on taking him for "a ride" and forcibly tried to abduct him.

Invaders Flee

Reuther fought, grabbed a blackjack from one assailant. The presence of others there for a birthday party caused the invaders to flee.

The Reuthers are survived by two daughters, Linda, 27, a San Francisco school teacher, and Lisa, 22, a student at Oakland University in nearby Rochester, Mich., where the Reuthers had made their home in recent years.

Mother Survives

Reuther also is surivved by his 88-year-old mother, Mrs. Valentine Reuther who lives in his native Wheeling, W. Va.; by Victor and another brother, Theodore, of Wheeling; and a sister, Mrs. Eugene Richey of Reading, Mass.

Mrs. Reuther also is survived by her father, Frank Wolfman, and two brothers, Earl Wolfman and Leo Wolf, who uses the shorter version of the name, both of Detroit.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete.

Fair Hearing

President Richard Nixon, whose decision to send American troops into Cambodia touched off violent and massive campus protests and rattled the foundations of his administration in Washington in the process, has pledged the nation that American troops all will be withdrawn by the end of June.

The president's nationally-televised statements about withdrawing from Cambodia and meeting his pledge to withdraw another 150,000 troops from Vietnam may appease a few of the protestors, but there is still a lot of medicine to be applied in the nation to heal the wounds opened between the government and the people in the past 10 days.

Nixon, quite obviously underestimated the strong feelings in the protest against Cambodia. There may be some campus "bums" and professional agitators in the crowds of students, but even among the non-demonstrators there is strong sentiment toward the administration.

Interior Secretary Walter Hickel warned of the danger of losing communication with the nation's young people in a letter to the president. The letter apparently wasn't intended for public consumption. It was reportedly "leaked" to the press by Democratic appointees of previous administrations still serving in Hickel's department. But maybe it's well that the nation is aware of it's unique nature.

"I believe we are in error if we set out consciously to alienate those who could be our friends," Hickel wrote. "Today, our young people, or at least a vast segment of them, believe they have no opportunity to communicate with government, regardless of administration, other than through violent confrontation. But I am convinced we — and they — have the capacity, if we will but have the willingness to learn from history.

It was a lack of communication with the Republican Party that drove the youth of the Great Depression into the Democratic Party, the secretary pointed out, and it was a failure to heed the protests of the young men in the New World colony that brought on the Revolutionary War.

"My point is, if we read history, it clearly shows that youth in its protest must be heard," Hickel said.

Nixon in his news conference said that he agrees with everything the protestors are trying to accomplish.

"They're trying to say they want peace, they're trying to say that they want to stop the killing, they're trying to say that we ought to get out of Vietnam," Nixon said. "I agree with everything they are trying to accomplish. I made the very decision (on sending troops into Cambodia) for the same reason they are protesting. I am concerned because I know how deeply they feel. What I have done will do what they want. In my opinion, it will serve the just cause in Vietnam."

Hopefully, the president is right, that the assault into Cambodia will buy a little time to strengthen the South Vietnamese and that the American withdrawals from Vietnam will continue on schedule or at a faster pace. But meanwhile, there are thousands of angry students and young Americans, the people who will be fighting the war if it continues, who don't understand the logic of how a war can be shortened by expanding it.

Their cries of protest may not change the president's policy. But their voices and arguments must be given fair hearing and due respect by the administration. It's only on that basis that there remains hope to control the violence that has accompanied the cries.

Wakefield City Council members have decided to put the question of fluoridation of the city's water supply on the ballot in the general election next November. The council acted after receiving a letter from the Michigan Pure Water Council in which it was noted that, under the Water Fluoridation Act of 1968, all communities must fluoridate their water supplies by 1973 unless treatment of the water is rejected by voters.

Greenland Township residents will be asked, at an election June 8, to approve a 2.5-mill for the purchase of a new fire truck. The township board is asking that the levy be adopted for a period of four years to enable it to buy a new fire truck to replace the township fire department's 22-year-old vehicle.

School operating millage, already tentatively slashed from 34.56 to 33.5 mills in the 1970-71 temporary budget approved by the Bessemer Board of Education, was pared even further as a result of higher city equalized valuation figure. The temporary budgt of $543,177.77 calls for a levy of $160,000 in local taxes. With the valuation of the city increased by $676,000, the operating millage can be sliced to 30.9 mills.

Iron County has won a court appeal to require six governmental units within the county to levy a 2.03 mill tax for the construction of a county hospital. The decision of the Michigan Court of Appeals at Lansing has upheld mandamus actions against the city of Crystal Falls, and the townships of Crystal Falls, Bates, Mansfield, Mastodon and Hematite. The city and township officials had maintained that until bonds for the hospital actually were sold no tax levy could be made on their payment.

James H. Ruben, president, ShopKo Corp., Green Bay, announced plans for the development of a new Shopko Discount Department Store to service the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area. The Shopko store building will be approximately 50,000 square feet and contain 63 distinct departments, featuring all types of consumer merchandise including wearing apparel, sporting goods, housewares, hardware, toys, health and beauty aids, cosmetics, candy, tobacco, school supplies, luggage, radios, paints and automotive accessories. This is ShopKo's 14th retail operation and its second in the Upper Peninsula. The other U. P. store is located at Marquette.

PLUGGING THE LEAK

Michigan Has No Plan For Campus Protests

By DON HOENSHELL
Panax Staff Writer

LANSING — Political people confronted by a delicate diplomatic crisis on Michigan campuses have found themselves trapped without a viable rapprochement policy.

It all means that nobody has come up with a plan to keep students from tossing bricks or taking over the library.

The class boycott at the University of Michigan has ended. At Michigan State University repentant students have raised $80 reparations money for $20,000 in damage to stores.

Reports and analyses are still reaching legislators on the problems last year at Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti, Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo, Northern Michigan University at Marquette and the latest flurry at Central Michigan University at Mt. Pleasant.

No Common Cause

It is possible now to report that there is no common denomiator for campus violence, no skein that runs through them all that if diverted might restore peace and serenity.

There is some fretting about proliferation.

"Michigan State has had its share of demonstrations and will probably have others," said an MSU spokesman.

Presidents and administrators ache from psychie and professional wounds. Some professors side with the students, others seek law and order. It is a terrible time for philosophers.

It is also an election year and high-profile statements abound. State Senator Arthur Cartwright (D-Detroit), visited Ann Arbor and commented:

"I am firmly convinced that they have conducted themselves in a manner to be commended. There has been no violence that can be ascribed to this group (of students)."

Fleming Praised

He was joined by Reps. James Bradley and Jackie Vaughn III, both Detroit Democrats, who praised President Robben Fleming for his "responsive and highly enlightened efforts to meet the demands for justice . . ."

There were other demands that Fleming be fired, as though he were a mere Mayo Smith. Fleming said the subject was approached "in a teasing way" at an emergency Board of Regents meeting.

And Rep. Hal W. Ziegler (R-Jackson) said any U. of M. agreement with the Black Action Movement (BAM) should be carefully reviewed.

"Anything short of a complete effort to restore the public's support and confidence in the university would have dire consequences," he said.

There will now be a two-month debate over the shape of the bargaining table.

Investigations Planned

On still another level is the escalation of legislative investigations.

Rep. Jack Faxon (D-Detroit) is gearing up for a study of the medical school troubles at Wayne State University and Rep. George F. Montgomery (D-Detroit) is starting another on community colleges. There will be others.

And Rep. Vincent J. Petitpren (D-Westland), chairman of the House committee on Colleges and Universities, who conducted the inquiries into troubles at Eastern and Ferris State College last year, is the only one who can't get any money to finance further probes.

Petitpren said:

"We don't want to jump into this thing at the U. of M. until we know what's going on. When you're walking a tight rope you've got to be careful.

"We could ask the Board of Regents to do something and they can get a lawyer to write us a letter telling us to go to hell.

"Sure you're going to get a lot of press by investigating now, but you're taking a chance of contributing to the disruption."

Petitpren might have done well at Yalta.

Another View

Still another view is put forward by Sen. Robert J. Huber (R-Troy), super-investigator of campus fracases, who is now running independently for the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate.

His committee spent $50,000 for a report by Higher Education Executive Associates. The total report said nothing needs to be done now, and Huber accuses the U. of M. of ignoring its recommendations.

"We are witnessing the results of a no-policy program," Huber said. "Without a clear statement of the purposes and objectives of a university, those who would remake that institution in some sort of distorted image have moved into a vacuum."

While the hawks and the doves debate, Gov. Milliken expresses gratitude for even a cease-fire. He said:

"I'm gratified that the boycott has ended at the University of Michigan, and that the students, the faculty and the administration can get back to the task of education.

"It is particularly gratifying that student concentration can return to where it belongs — in the classroom."

It develops now that the hand that holds the rock is the hand that rocks the state.

Pact Ratified

LANSING (AP) — The 600 members of Laborers Local 998 in Lansing ratified a new contract Friday, ending a six-week walkout. The workers are to return to their jobs Monday. The new pact calls for increases in wages and fringe benefits totaling $1.84 per hour over a period of three years.

Conglomerates May Be Losing Their 'Touch'

By JOHN CUNNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — From this chronological viewpoint, less than five monthsize steps into the 1970s, some widely held notions of the Soaring Sixties seem very worn and aged, as if they belonged farther back in history.

Great economic strides were made in the '60s, so large that there often was little time for reflection. Now the economy is taking baby steps, if it is moving at all, and there is time to reflect.

Conglomerate Magic—Maybe there was magic for a time. During the 1960s millions of Americans believed that the conglomerators, the men who assemble disparate businesses under one corporate roof, were geniuses.

So long as investors believed this to be true the stock of conglomerates continued to rise, thus providing them with more money to acquire more companies.

Their profits look good too; something about synergism, or the total being greater than the parts. Popularly this effect was described by the phrase: "Two and two equal five." The expanding economy contributed too, of course.

The economy slowed. Profits slipped. Investors wondered if synergism was fact or myth. They sold. The shares of conglomerates dropped in price. No longer did they have the funds to buy other companies.

Unable to continue expanding geometrically, the conglomerates were forced to concede that, for the time being, two and two didn't equal five after all.

This year one of the premier conglomerators, James Long of Ling-Temco-Vought, reported that his company was running a deficit. The stock, which had been as high as $135.75 in the past couple of years, is now down to $14.37.

Mutual Fund Miracles—When the stock market was rising some mutual funds, particularly new ones, showed tremendous gains. There was a euphoric feeling in the market place for several years, and the funds rode this soaring optimism.

Investing in so-called glamor stocks, some of the funds reported asset gains of better than 50 per cent in one year. Money poured into their coffers, and some of these funds grew to enormous, sometimes billion-dollar size.

The turn became obvious a couple of years ago. Some of the larger funds were shown to be dinosauric. Big and cumbersome, maybe overfed, they couldn't adapt to a changed invironment. Colder economic weather trapped them.

As it turned out, some of those glamor stocks had high prices mainly because the funds were investing in them. And, when profits of these glamor companies ceased to continue rising, the funds, as chief owners, found themselves to be among the principal losers.

Some funds are now off 30 and 40 per cent in the past year. Fred Carr, who managed Enterprise Fund to a 113 per cent gain in one year, has quit the fight. Manhattan Fund, one of the big performers, is merged into a financial conglomerate.

The Economy Can Always Be Fine Tuned—During the early 1960s there was some reason to believe this. The economy was expanding smoothly under the artful direction of wise fiscal and monetary authorities. Inflation was negligible.

But war and politics intruded into pure economics. Government spending, much of it for a suddenly escalated Vietnam war, threw the economy into imbalance. Inflation burned up both profit and wage increases.

Now as the Nixon administration attempts to get the economy back on an even keel it finds the job easier said than done. Although using a variety of tactics to reduce inflation, prices continue to soar, the economic notes are still sour.

FAMOUS HAND

Martin Cohn, well - known Atlanta expert, tells this story about himself, and quite a story it is. He was South and the bidding went as shown.

Had West led a spade or a heart, Cohn would have made the contract. But West, apparently suspecting the type of hand he was competing against, led the nine of clubs instead. This proved to be an exceptionally effective lead when East won with the ace and returned the deuce of spades.

Declarer followed low, hoping against hope that East had the queen. But West showed up with the damsel and cashed the ace, East following suit with the three and thus blocking the suit.

However, the block proved to be no hardship to the defense when West continued with a spade to East's nine. East returned a heart, trapping South's king and allowing West to cash five hearts as well as his three remaining spades.

By this time twelve tricks had been played and East-West had won them all. Cohn was already down seven—4,000 points—with one trick to go.

Perhaps the story should end right here, but actually South's agony was not yet over. When West cashed his twelfth trick, Cohn still had a discard to choose. His last two cards were the king of clubs and ace of diamonds—and he had to guess which one to discard.

Unfortunately, he decided to discard the king of clubs, since he could not tell whether West's last card was a diamond or a club. West thereupon cashed the queen of clubs and the extraordinary outcome was that South went down eight—4,600 points. He failed to score a trick.

Obviously Cohn misplayed the hand. He should have held he loss to 4,000 points!

Giving One's Body To Science Approved

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a Roman Catholic. Marie comes from a very devout family. She not only believes deeply in her religion, but she lives it.

Marie's mother has decided to give her body to science after she passes away. She is not a well woman and it could happen any day now. Marie is against it. She claims it would be breaking the laws of the Church. Her mother says it doesn't seem reasonable. She feels this final act would be a genuine contribution to mankind. I've inquired of two local priests about the Church's ruling in such matters but my mother-in-law wants the word of a top-level church authority. Can you ask someone?—Robert S.

Dear Robert: Will the President of Notre Dame University do? Father Theodore Hesburgh provided the following answer:

"There is no prohibition whatever against giving one's body to science after death. In fact, doing so might be looked upon as an act of virtue, since it makes possible the training of medical students in anatomy. I have heard it is the custom in some Catholic medical schools for the students working on a body to offer a Mass at the end of the semester for the repose of the soul of the person whose body was used."

Dear Ann Landers: I am too ashamed to discuss my problems with anyone but I do need an answer.

My husband is in his early 50's. We have a good marriage and have made a place for ourselves in the community. Our only child is a boy — a teenager. For the past several months my husband has been getting up an hour earlier than usual. He takes off his pajamas and walks around the house in the nude. I discovered this by accident. He is not aware that I know. I keep worrying that the boy might awaken early one morning and see him. Also, what if someone walks by the house and sees him through a window? It would be scandalous.

Is there something wrong with his mind? Why should a man do such a thing? I am concerned. He knows I am uptight about something but I can't bring myself to tell him what is bothering me. Please advise.—H. F. U.

Dear H. F. U.: Peculiar? Yes. Pathological? No. Scandalous? Why? So long as your husband stays in the house and keeps the shades down I see no cause for alarm. If a teenage boy sees his father in the nude, so what? If you see him, so what?

Let Nature Boy know that you are aware of his somewhat unorthodox ritual. You'll feel better once you discuss it with him openly.

Dear Ann Landers: I feel like a freak. I've been to four doctors and have tried several medicines but nothing works. I'm plagued by back perspiration. It's worse when I am tense or anxious. It's awfully embarrassing to perspire right through my clothes. Sometimes when I come home from an evening out, I am soaking wet. Have you ever heard of this? Do you know if anything can be done about it?—Plainfield, N. J.

Dear N. J.: I've received and printed several letters from readers who suffer from hyperhidrosis. Many drugs (atropine derivatives) offer relief, but the side-effects in some cases cause other problems. If you've seen four doctors, see one more. Perhaps under his close observation you can hit on a drug or a combination of drugs that will solve your problem.

Science Study

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—A scientific study to determine whether salt laden snow from Cheboygan's streets harms aquatic life when the snow is dumped into the Cheboygan River has been approved by the city council. Some 600 persons signed petitions urging the study. The petitions were circulated by school children as a class project. The study will try also to determine where else to dump the snow if it is found to be harmful to the river.

Open House Will Honor Mrs. Ida Carlson

An open house will be held Sunday, May 17 in honor of the 90th birthday of Mrs. Ida Carlson.

She was born in Finland and came to Escanaba with her late husband, Alfred Carlson, in 1917.

Mrs. Carlson was employed at the Delta Hotel until 1959, when she retired at the age of 79.

She has one daughter and two sons, Mrs. Floyd Raffaelli of Escanaba, Carl Carlson of Groos and Edwin Carlson of Ford River, with whom she makes her home.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend the open house which will be held Sunday at the Ford River Town Hall from 3 to 9 p.m.

Mary Susan Smith, John Proegler Wed

Mary Susan Smith of Mequon, Wis., formerly of Escanaba, became the bride of John Thomas Proegler, also of Mequon, during a double ring ceremony performed April 4 at St. Eugene Catholic Church.

Officiating at the nuptials at 11 a.m. was the Rev. William H. Macklin. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Dale C. Smith, 10401 Port Washington Road, Mequon and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Proegler.

Bridal Aides

Maid of honor for the bride was Pam Berg of Escanaba and bridesmaids were Janet Ruef of Atlanta, Ga., Connie Vogt of Grand Rapids, Sue Griffiths of Racine, Wis., Kay Mueller of Racine and R. Proegler of Mequon. Flower girl was Virginia Proegler, a niece of the bridegroom.

Serving as best man was Jim Smith of Mequon, the bride's brother and groomsmen were Russ Zarling and Frank Proegler, both of Mequon. Seating the guests were Vern Weiland, Frank Chopp and Bob Mueller, all of Mequon.

Traditional Gown

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, John Griffiths, wore a traditional full skirted gown trimmed in imported peau d' ange lace with a matching veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses. She also wore a cameo, which belonged to the bridegroom's grandmother.

The bridal aides were attired in floor length frocks styled with avocado bodices trimmed with white lace embroidery and white skirts. They carried colonial arrangements of yellow roses and white mums.

Mothers' Attire

The mother of the bride was attired in an aqua blue silk dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories and Mrs. John Griffiths, the bride's grandmother wore a beige coat and dress ensemble with matching accessories. Both were presented orchid corsages.

Reception

The reception and dinner was held at the Alpine Village in Mequon beginning at 6 p.m. After a wedding trip to California, the couple will reside at 10521 N. Port Washington Road, Mequon.

The bride is a 1966 graduate of Escanaba Area High School and she also attended Northern Michigan University. She graduated from Patricia Stevens College in 1968. Mr. Proegler is a 1966 graduate of Homestead High School and he also attended school in Chicago. He now has his own business, "Tom-Pro Landscaping."

Burglars Hit Buchman Store

Three breaking and enterings were investigated by the State Police during the past weekend.

Officers said owner Harry Buchman reported a break-in that occurred at the Buchman store in Rapid River sometime between 9 p.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

Entry was made by breaking a window in an overhead garage door at the rear of the building, according to State Police, and a .22 caliber revolver, a Timex wrist watch, approximately $3 in change, and numerous bottles of whiskey and brandy were reported to have been taken.

Another break-in was reported at a hunting camp located in section four on the Stonington Peninsula, owned by Warren Bowen, of Reed City, Mich.

Officers said entry was made by prying a hasp off the door sometime between May 5 and May 9.

It was discovered by Ozzo Hansen a nearby resident, and it is unknown at this time whether or not anything was taken, police said.

A third break-in was reported by Shirley Ditkutowski, of Milwaukee, Wis.

State Police said a house trailer, used as a summer home, located on County Rd. 414 just west of County Rd. C-17, in the Soo Hill area, was broken into sometime during the past three months.

The owner, Mrs. Ditkutowski, told police that entry was apparently made by unlocking the front door with a key that had been hidden on the premises. Nothing was reported to have been taken at this time, police said.

Ralph Stewart Dies Today

Ralph Stewart, 66, of Rock, died at 7:30 a.m. today at his home after suffering a heart attack. He was born June 6, 1903 in Rock and was a retired woodsman.

He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry (Hazel) Saari of Detroit and one brother.

The body has been removed to the Skradski Funeral Home and funeral services are tentatively set for Wednesday morning.

British Mourning Death Of Reuther

LONDON (AP) — Walter Reuther was mourned by Britain's top unionist Sunday as "a great figure who still had a considerable contribution to make" to the international labor union movement.

Victor Feather, general secretary of the Trades Union Congress—representing 9 million organized workers—issued his statement after hearing of Reuther's death in a Michigan plane crash.

Feather described Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers Union in the United States, as "a leader of international trade union thought for over 30 years." He added: "Progressive forces throughout the world will regret his death deeply."

When you plan your next visit to an art museum- come to Chicago's Sherman House

Downtown hotel turned cultural? Not quite, but we do have a great new work of art.

Henri Azaz did a sculpture for our lobby. And when he creates—he doesn't kid around. We ended up—with a wall.

But not just any wall. Some people call it the Great Wall of Sherman House. Why not come see why?

And while you're there, stop in at any of our Nightspots—the College Inn, Well of the Sea, The Scuttlebutt, The Celtic and the Dome.

So come to Sherman House for entertainment and fun. And we'll throw in a little culture at no extra cost!

Documents Reveal

Hanoi Planning 'Liberation' War

SAIGON (AP) — The Communist high command for Vietnam will attempt to counter the continuing allied destruction of its long-established border sanctuaries by organizing a "war of liberation" in Cambodia similar to the conflicts that have torn apart South Vietnam and Laos for 10 years.

That is the instruction being passed down from the Hanoi government. At least 10 documents captured inside Cambodia in recent days refer to this new war.

Detailed directions have been fed to field commanders and political cadres on techniques of recruitment and organization inside Cambodia. The instructions are in effect the same that built the Vietnam conflict from an insurgency problem into a full-blown war: swim like fish in the sea of population, create a people's army.

Allied experts who have been studying the captured documents believe the Communist high command is aiming less to take over Cambodia than to insure the continued use of that country to fight the Vietnam war.

While Cambodia was neutral under Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Communist-led forces kept a generally low profile along the border sanctuaries and did not meddle in internal Cambodia politics. Sihanouk's overthrow in March and the resultant Saigon army thrusts into the sanctuaries seriously alarmed the Communist high command, the captured documents show.

One dated in late March said, "It can be assumed that a plan to drive our troops from the border areas has been devised by the Cambodian government and the U.S. and Vietnamese army in South Vietnam."

The answer was to instruct Communist leaders in Cambodia to organize a new war.

A notebook belonging to a member of a Unit 3 was captured the first day American troops crossed into Cambodia. An April 18 entry said the owner was assigned to activate guerrilla elements and "to motivate the Cambodians in my area of responsibility to join the liberation front of Cambodia."

Another diary entry said the mission of the front was to overthrow the Lon Nol government in Phnom Penh and fight the Americans.

Unrest Topic Of Governors

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon summoned the nation's governors to the White House today to discuss campus unrest and Southeast Asia in the wake of student strikes, antiwar protests and sporadic violence that climaxed in a massive weekend demonstration in the nation's capital.

Nixon called the meeting last week after campus violence erupted following his decision to send American troops into Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

The state executives arrived as antiwar leaders called for the protest movement to continue its efforts against American involvement in Southeast Asia.

David Dellinger, a defendant in the recent Chicago seven conspiracy trial and longtime pacifist leader, said Sunday "people are going back to their own communities with the theme 'No business as usual.' "

He said the weekend demonstration marked the beginning of a grass-roots movement swelling across the country.

Antiwar spokesmen also said efforts would be stepped up to spread strikes to more campuses and industry in an attempt to cripple the "war economy."

The apparently volatile campus situation also prompted three major college officials to propose giving students time off next fall to participate in political campaigns.

Camp Fire Girls, Bluebirds Hold Ceremonial

Camp Fire Girls and Bluebirds of Hyde and Ford River recently held a Ceremonial for their mothers at the Ford River Town Hall.

Bluebirds, under the leadership of Mrs. Walter Moniowczak, sang a song and four girls were awarded certificates and are, "flying up," or advancing into the Camp Fire Girls. They are: Brenda Brunette, Gina Hanson, Cathy Judson and Brenda Rowell.

The Camp Fire Girls Ceremonial consisted of the Indian Processional song and the Camp Fire Girls Law, and lighting of the three candles symbolizing Wo-He-Lo, the first two letters of Work, Health and Love.

The girls were then awarded their Honor Beads for achievements in the seven crafts of business, citizenship, creative arts, home, outdoors, science, and sports and games, by their guardian, Mrs. Tom Brayak.

After the ceremonial girls who had completed requirements for the Trail Seekers rank, were awarded a silver charm and a certificate: Peggy Allsworth, Sandy Allsworth, Barbara Bittner, Karen Brayak, Dawn Brunette, Debbie Daigneault, Christine Kleiman, Teri Miller, Sandra Moniowczak, Christine Porath, Susan Rouse, Debra Van Elsacker, Cindy Wellman and Sandy Johnson. Receiving honor beads only were Jean Cretens and Bonnie Johnivan.

Mrs. Harvey Gasman, head of the Camp Fire Girls Council in this area, awarded the certificates to the girls and spoke briefly on the Camp Fire program and the camping plans for this summer at Clear Lake and the Gasman cottage.

She also presented gifts to the girls who had sold the most boxes of candy in the recent candy sale, Yvette Eagle of the Bluebirds and Christine Kleiman of the Camp Fire Girls.

In conclusion, girls presented their mothers with gifts they had made for Mother's Day and lunch was served. Mrs. Brayak was also presented with a gift in appreciation of her service.

Nahma

Mrs. Clara Ritter has returned from a trip to Ironwood, where she visited with her sister, Mrs. Norman Eplet.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rauls have returned from a visit to Fond du Lac, Wis.

Mrs. Philippe Fortin has been released from St. Francis Hospital and is convalescing at her home.

Trial Scheduled For Father Who Killed 4 Teens

DETROIT (AP) — Pretrial examination is scheduled May 18 for a 45-year-old Detroit railroad engineer, who is charged with first - degree murder in the slaying of his teen-age daughter and three youths with whom she was staying.

Arville D. Garland was arraigned Saturday on the charges and ordered held without bond pending the pretrial hearing.

The four youths shot to death Friday were Garland's 17-year-old daughter, Sandra; Scott Kabran, 18; Gregory Walls, 18, and Anthony Brown, 16.

Police said that Brown was a runaway from the Whitmore Lake boy's training school.

SOME MEMBERS OF THE International Union of Operating Engineers Local 324 were picketing in front of the union office at 2201 Ludington St. this morning. A spokesman for the picketing members, who requested to remain unidentified, said that 20 years of hiring practices are being ignored by this local. He also said "an employe has the right to recall and the union has not followed this procedure on the Mead project, instead they have been hiring whoever they damn please." The spokesman said they would continue picketing until their grievances have been corrected. (Daily Press Photo)

Most Colleges In Operation

By The Associated Press

Administrators and political leaders ordered the reopening today of many campuses that were closed last week, but some students called for continued protests. Other schools offered compromise plans to keep classes going.

Most of the nation's colleges were quiet Sunday as students from some of them returned from the weekend demonstration in Washington where about 60,000 persons gathered to protest operations by U.S. troops in Cambodia and the deaths of four Kent State University students.

At the University of Wisconsin, however, a crowd that grew to 4,000 marched on the administration building, breaking windows and demanding that the school reverse its rejetcion of a class moratorium request. Thundershowers helped National Guardsmen quell the turmoil.

In another development, officials of four major universities indicated they favored a proposal, adopted by Princeton last week, to give undergraduates time off this fall to work in political campaigns.

Among the campuses scheduled for reopening today were the California State university and college system. But student leaders at the Berkeley campus called for "curtailing normal activities for the remainder of the war" and opening the campus to mobilize resources and manpower for protests.

Israelis Note 22nd Anniversary

TEL AVIV (AP) — Festive Israelis celebrated their nation's 22nd anniversary today while police patrolled the streets on the lookout for Arab terrorists.

The mood of the country, somber in the wake of escalated guerrilla raids in recent days, was lifted slightly by a marked drop in border clashes.

Between Sunday night and early today only one border incident was reported—an Israeli soldier was slightly wounded in a skirmish on the Jordan River.

Woman's Club Plans Closing Luncheon, Bridge

The Escanaba Woman's Club will hold their closing luncheon and bridge Wednesday, May 20 at the MediCenter beginning at 1 p.m. Hostesses for the event are Mrs. Nicholas Chapekis and Mrs. T. A. McInerney.

Decorations will follow a spring decorative theme and following the luncheon a style show and display will be held, featuring knitted, sewn and crocheted articles made by club members.

Reservations may be made through May 16 by calling Mrs. Jack Winters or Mrs. Albin Pearson.

Trudell Award Winner Named

MARQUETTE — Ron Helgren, sixth grade instructor in the Forest Park District Schools at Crystal Falls, is the winner of the Peter Trudell Award for 1969-70. He was chosen because of his work in integrating conservation education during the school year.

The Trudell Award, sponsored annually by retired businessman William Asselin of Norway, has been in effect since 1955.

Last year's winner was Celestine Christenson, third grade teacher and principal from the Manistique Area Schools.

In Service

PFC August A. Janke III, 20, recently received the Army Commendation Medal while serving with the 101st Airborne Division (Airmobile) in Vietnam. He earned the award for meritorious service as a rifleman in Co. C, 1st Battalion of the division's 502 Infantry. PFC Janke entered the Army in March, 1969, completed his basic training at Fort Campbell, Ky., and was stationed at Fort Polk, La., prior to his arrival in Vietnam. PFC Janke, whose wife Corrine lives at 1015 S. 19th St., is a 1968 graduate of Holy Name High School.

Laker Rookie Lost In Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Garrett, surprisingly left unprotected by the Los Angeles Lakers, was one of the first two picks by Buffalo in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft Monday.

Buffalo, which chose first on the opening round and third on the second, also selected Ray Scott of Baltimore, but the NBA refused to divulge the order of selection.

Portland, which picks second throughout the draft, chose Leroy Ellis of Baltimore and, in a minor surprise, Larry Siegfried of Boston.

Cleveland, which swapped order of picks with Buffalo, selected Luther Rackle of Cincinnati and Walt Wesley of Chicago.

Garrett, had been expected to be one of the seven players protected by the Lakers. The rookie guard had been a starter for the Lakers, who lost to the New York Knicks in the championship series last week.

Marquette Wins Sportsmen Award

MARQUETTE — The Marquette Public Grade Schools have been declared the winner of the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association annual Conservation Education Award for 1969-70 according to Regional Information Officer Paul V. Challancin of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

A bronze plaque, which has been sponsored by the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association since 1953, is presented to the school having done the most outstanding job in integrating conservation in its curriculum over the school year. The award will be presented to a representative of the Marquette Schools at the annual NMSA noon banquet in Iron Mountain on Sept. 20.

Marquette High School won the award in 1956 and the Manistique Area School District was the winner last year.

Marquette Captures GLC Track Crown

By DON HOWES

MANISTIQUE — The Marquette Redmen paced by individual performances from Bob Leanes and Bob Schacht with tremendous balance, swept to the Great Lakes Conference track and field championship here Saturday with 72⅓ points, far ahead of the second place Ishpeming Hematites who scored 38 5/6 to edge the Gladstone Braves for second place.

Gladstone, after being disqualified from winning the mile relay, finished in third place with 37½ points, followed by Manistique with 28, Newberry 13½, Munising 13⅓ Negaunee 12 and Sault Ste. Marie 8½.

Marquette unveiled a one-two track scoring punch in Leans and Schacht, who were the only double winners in the meet to stagger their opponents from the start.

Leanes raced to victory in the 100 yard dash with a time of 10.65 seconds and sprinted the 220 yard dash in 22 seconds for his double victory. He also took a second in the pole vault contest.

Schacht skimmed the low hurdles in 22 seconds flat and then stepped the high hurdles in 15.9 seconds for his double victory.

Highlight of the meet was a new conference record in the pole vault by Ishpeming's Steve Nelson, who rewrote the 12 foot one inch standard he set last spring with a new record of 12 feet five and a quarter inches.

Gladstone Third

The Gladstone Braves, missing their chance for a second place finish because of the disqualification of their mile relay team, produced two first place finishes in the two sections of the 880 yard run.

The Braves all-around sports star, Cliff Young, won the first running of the 880 in 2:07.5, while the Stupak brothers Bart and Jeff finished first and second respectively in the second section of the 880, with Bart winning in the time of 2:12.3.

Other point producers for the Braves were Jeff Schram in the two mile run; John Skellenger finished second in the 100 and third in the 220 yard dashes; Pat McGeary third in the first section of the 440; Terry Cartwright had three third place finishes in the long jump, high jump and in the second running of the 440, while Bob Young took a fourth and fifth in the high and low hurdles.

Emeralds Fourth

Manistique scored four firsts, including both sections of the 440 yard dash, compared to five firsts for Marquette, but the Emeralds couldn't offset the depth of the powerful Redmen.

Dave Mickleson won the first section of the 440 in a time of 54.9 seconds, while teammate Dwayne Sundin took the second running in 55.3 seconds.

The Emeralds other firsts went to Al Goudreau in the shot put with a heave of 44 feet 2¾ inches, and to Ken Neeson in the long jump with a leap of 20 feet 1¼ inches. Neeson also finished third in the pole vault behind the record breaking performance of Ishpeming's Nelson.

Others scoring points for Manistique were Steve Aller, who finished fourth in the high hurdles and the Emeralds mile relay team which placed third in that event. Manistique's 880 yard relay team was also disqualified, like the Gladstone team was, when one of their players crossed the path too soon into the wrong lane.

Both Gladstone and Manistique will be back in action this week before the Regionals next Saturday. The Braves will be at Gwinn today and both teams will be in the Rudyard Invitational meet on Wednesday. Manistique will be in the Regionals at Newberry Saturday, while the Braves will run their Regional at Menominee.

Norm Cash Plays Hero-Goat Role In 9-7 Defeat

DETROIT (AP) — From a hero to a goat in 2½ innings--that's what happened to Detroit Tiger first baseman Norm Cash Sunday.

Cash blasted a pair of home runs, including a three - run drive in the fifth inning that pulled Detroit from a 6-4 deficit to a 7-6 lead, but the Royals went on to win 9-7 on Cash's mental lapse in the eighth.

The loss for the second-place Tigers was their seventh in 10 games and dropped from five full games behind first place Baltimore in the American League East. They were scheduled to meet Chicago, victim of a doubleheader loss to Baltimore Sunday, tonight in the opener of a three-game series with Joe Niekro, 3-2, to oppose Billy Wynne, 0-1, of the White Sox.

"He should have charged the ball and thrown to the plate," lamented Tiger manager Mayo Smith afterwards, referring to Cash's play which allowed the winning run to score in the slugfest.

Both Kansas City runs in the frame were without the benefit of a hit.

"I was shocked at that play but I was interested in the run and didn't see it," said Royals manager Charlie Metro.

Cash fielded Ed Kirkpatrick's grounder along the first base line and stood as if paralyzed, failing to either throw to the plate or even tag Kirkpatrick who briefly stood motionless in front of him. Joe Keough scored from third and Kirkpatrick ambled safely to first.

Actually, the run would have scored whether Cash made the tag or not -- unless possibly he would have charged the grounder as Smith said and thrown to the plate.

"I wanted to district Cash so the run could come across," said Kirkpatrick, who also smacked a three-run homer in the fourth. "Then I looked at the umpire (Marty Springstead at first) and when he made no 'out' sign I ran to first."

Until then the mother's Day crowd of 31,500 held Cash in high esteem as he cracked a solo home run off Royals' starter Dick Drago in the second and tagged him for the three - run shot three innings later in his 5,000 career at-bat.

The game was another collapse for Detroit's pitching staff, while Al Fitzmorris, 1-1, no-hit the Tigers in his four innings of relief to win his second major league game.

"Our relief job did a better job than theirs. That's about the story," Metro said.

KC tagged Tiger starter Earl Wilson for six runs (five earned) in his 4 1-3 innings. But when Detroit pulled ahead Fred Lasher, now 1-2, couldn't hold on, walking three batters in the decisive eighth.

He walked Joe Keough and Paul Schaal and a force play put runners on first and third. Cash's mistake followed for one run, then two walks pushed across another.

When Detroit led 7-6 after Cash's second homer, his fourth this year, Mike Kilkenny walked Kirkpatrick and pinch hitter Bob "Hawk" Taylor lashed a double to tie the game.

Dalton Jones of Detroit and Amos Otis of Kansas City also homered.

Little Leaguers To Open Season

Escanaba Jaycee Little League teams head into their final week of spring training as they prepare for next Saturday's season opening day. All eight teams will see action as Kiwanis visits Exchange at one o'clock.

With veteran pitchers in their stables, Kiwanis and Exchange are rated the best chance to stop John Chylek's defending champion Rotary team. Some managers figure that this is the year they'll shoot down Chylek's team, but veteran Little League observers are skeptical.

For three straight years Rotary has graduated their pitching staff. Two years ago Chylek's top draft choice decided baseball wasn't for him and didn't play, a top 1969 draft choice moved out of the city, but like the Yankees of old, the Rotary Little Leaguers keep on winning.

The league will again operate a split season with the winner of the first half playing off against the second half winner. Managers are reminded that regular pitching regulations are in effect.

Practice Schedule:

Monday at Lemmer, Bankers, 5:00; Little League, Rotary vs. VFW, 6:00

Tuesday, Lemmer, Bankers, 5:00; VFW, 6:00; Little League, Credit Union, 6:00

"Best Medication For Piles I Ever Used" Says Detroit Man

Actually Helps Shrink Swelling Of Hemorrhoid Tissues Caused By Inflammation And Infection.

Detroit, Mich. Mr. L. Ach of Detroit, Mich. writes us: "I must say Preparation H is the best medication I ever tried for hemorrhoids."

(Note: Doctors' tests show Preparation H® actually helps shrink swollen tissues of hemorrhoids caused by inflammation and infection. It also gives prompt, temporary relief in many cases from pain and burning itch in these tissues. Then swelling is gently reduced.

There's no other formula for hemorrhoids like doctor-tested Preparation H. It also lubricates the irritated area to help make bowel movements less painful. Ointment or Suppositories.)

Central League Track Meet Scheduled Here Tuesday

The 19th Central League track and field championship meet will be staged at the Escanaba Athletic Field Tuesday morning beginning at 10 a.m.

Coach Bernie Olson's Rapid River Rockets will be going for their 10th straight conference title and are favored to repeat for team honors again this year. The other six Central League track teams that will be vying for conference title honors are Big Bay de Noc, Bark River-Harris, Perkins, Rock, Eben and Trenary.

Four records were set in last year's meet and on the basis of dual meet competition earlier this spring, a few of the league records could be in danger again Tuesday. Three Central League athletes have approached or bettered the existing standards so far this season.

Jeff Boyer has already bettered the conference record in the high hurdles of :15.8 seconds by winning the event in :15.6. He also has tied the conference record in the high jump at 5'7". Bill Hartman of Big Bay has tied the pole vault record of 11'6" so far this season, while Dennis Bernard has also tied the conference high jump record.

The cold weather this spring has curtailed activities in the Central League and some athletes will be competing for the first time this year when they toe their marks in the league meet.

Officials in charge of the meet will be meet managers Bill McGovern, Rapid River, and Verne Nelson of Perkins, announcer and head timer George Weingartner, Rock, Clerk of Course Julian Vandecaveye of Perkins, score keeper Steve Ellis of Trenary and starter Louis Guzzetti of Eben.

The conference records that the competitors in tomorrow's meet will be shooting for are:

Brewers Extend Streak; Orioles Sweep Twinbill

BALTIMORE (AP) — "If you can't beat them, take them with you," is the philosophy of Manager Don Gutteridge of the Chicago White Sox.

After the White Sox lost four straight in a weekend series to the streaking Baltimore Orioles, Gutteridge proposed a refreshing—but illegal—lend-lease deal with the Orioles.

"They could lose two or three players and still win," Gutteridge said. "Maybe the Orioles could loan us a couple players. We'd take good care of them, and return them later."

Lead By 5

With Manager Earl Weaver making liberal use of his bench strength, Baltimore beat Chicago 7-2 and 4-2 Sunday, stretched its winning streak to seven straight and lengthened its lead in the American League's Eastern Division to five games.

The Orioles, who won a near-record 109 games last season, are actually one game ahead of their 1969 pace with a 21-8 record at this stage.

Dave McNally, who won 42 games during the past two seasons, brought his 1970 log to 6-1 with a seven-hitter in Sunday's opening game. He was backed by homers from Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Merv Rettenmund.

Don Buford's seventh inning solo homer tied the nightcap 2-2, and the Orioles rallied in the eighth off reliever Wilbur Wood to win on run-scoring singles by Brooks Robinson and Chico Salmon.

Elsewhere in the American League, Kansas City outlasted Detroit 9-7 and 4-2, Cleveland shaded Minnesota 5-4, Milwaukee took two from Washington 6-5 and 7-6, the New York Yankees nipped California 4-3 and Oakland downed Boston 7-4.

Catcher Duke Sims, who lost his starting job this season hit his first two homers and drove in three runs the the Indians edged the Twins.

Pitcher Sam McDowell also homered for Cleveland but needed relief from Rich Hand after Minnesota scored twice in the ninth. Leo Cardenas homered for the Twins.

Ties Record

Milwaukee tied the club record of five straight victories set last year as the Seattle Pilots.

Sunday's sweep of the stumbling Senators featured ninth-inning uprisings in both contests. In the opener, Ted Kubiak tied the score with a leadoff shot in the ninth and Wayne Comer won it with a bases-loaded pinch single.

The Brewers blew a 6-0 lead in the nightcap as Washington scored five runs in the eighth, featuring homers by Mike Epstein, and Rick Reichardt, and tied it in the ninth on Frank Howard's 11th. But a pinch single by Ted Savage, two walks and Gerry McNertney's two-out pinch single won it in the Brewers' half. Reichardt also homered in the opener.

Home runs by Mike Hegan, Tommy Harper and pitcher Skip Lockwood helped the Brewers to their big lead.

Yankees Win

The Yankees belted Rudy May for three quick runs in the first inning on Roy White's RBI double and Danny Cater's two-sun single, but needed Thurman Munson's bloop double in the sixth, which scored White from first, to beat the Angels.

Jay Johnstone homered for California in the fifth to tie the score, but Jack Aker and Lindy McDaniel combined for five shutout innings of relief.

Oakland, trailing the Red Sox 3-0, exploded for six runs in the fourth inning, three on Dave Duncan's fifth homer. After Duncan's blow put the A's in front 4-3, Bert Campaneri iced it with a two-run single. Carl Yastrzemski and Tony Conigliaro homered for the Sox.

Roland Fingers relieved Blue Moon Odom in the second and kept Boston under control. One week earlier, he took over for Odom and pitched 8 2-3 innings against Washington for his other triumph.

Cardinals Stop Braves; Win 6-5

By The Associated Press

Milestones are no more exciting than birthdays to 46-year-old Hoyt Wilhelm, but the Atlanta knuckleballer's 1,000th mound stand was a festive occasion . . . for the struggling St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals, beaten nine times in their previous 10 games, struck for four runs in the ninth inning Sunday to nip Atlanta 6-5, ending the Braves' winning streak at 11 and marring Wilhelm's landmark pitching appearance.

Jose Cardenal delivered the tying and winning runs with a bases-loaded single off Wilhelm, who had kept the Braves' skein alive Saturday night with a pressure-packed save in his 999th career effort.

In other National League action, San Francisco slugged the New York Mets 11-7; Los Angeles whipped Philadelphia 7-0; Cincinnati edged the Chicago Cubs 7-6; Houston buried Pittsburgh 9-2 and San Diego shaded Montreal 5-4.

Record Broken

The Braves, gunning for a club-record 12th consecutive victory, took a 5-2 lead into the ninth behind left-hander George Stone. But Richie Allen started the St. Louis comeback with his ninth homer and when Joe Torre singled, Stone was replaced by Bob Priddy. Singles by Julian Javier and Vic Davalillo filled the bases, bringing Wilhelm out of the Atlanta bullpen.

The venerable relief specialist, who will be 47 in July, retired Joe Hague on a grounder as Torre scored the Cards' fourth run. Pinch hitter Leron Lee then was given an intentional walk, refilling the bases, but Cardenal followed with a two-run single to left.

Willie McCovey drove in six runs with two homers, one of them a grand slam, helping Juan Marichal stagger to his first victory of the season as the Giants outslugged the Mets.

Marichal, who had been sidelined with an ear infection, was tagged for 10 hits, including homers by Art Shamsky, Wayne Garrett and Donn Clendenon.

Fourth Straight

Don Sutton's four-hit pitching and a five-run eighth inning burst helped the Dodgers rip the Phillies for their fourth straight victory. Wes Parker's two-run homer in the fifth broke up a scoreless duel between Sutton and Grant Jackson.

Pete Rose clubbed a two-run homer in the ninth, lifting Cincinnati past the Cubs. It was the Reds' fourth homer of the day and 50th in 31 games.

Johnny Bench, Lee May and rookie Bernie Carbo, with a tying solo shot in the eighth, were the other Red fence-busters. Ron Santo and Billy Williams homered for the Cubs.

Houston's Doug Rader stretched his hitting streak to 14 games, driving in four runs with a double and homer in a 27-hit offensive show at the Astrodome. Larry Dierker weathered 14 Pittsburgh hits and brought his season mark to 6-2.

Jim Campbell's bases-loaded single and catcher John Bateman's error on the throw to the plate produced the deciding sixth inning runs as San Diego slipped past Montreal despite two homers by the Expos' Mack Jones.

Crusaders Win Fourth Straight

The Holy Name Crusaders tennis team, warming up for the Great Northern Conference meet, which will be held at Menominee this Friday, won their fourth straight match over the weekend.

The Crusaders defeated conference rival Kingsford 6-1, as Joe Joran remained undefeated.

Gordy LeDuc's netters will return to action today hosting the West Iron County Wykons in a dual match at the local courts.

The rseults:

Singles - Dennis Lueneburg (HN) lost to Mike Gianunzic (K) 6-1, 6-1; John Walker (HN) defeated Gary Lindquist (K) 9-7, 6-4; Joe Joran (HN) defeated Don Berger (K) 6-1, 6-3; and Dennis Ryan (HN) defeated Dennis White (K) 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles - Jim Juetten and Mark Larche (HN) defeated Tom Carlson and Larry Bourdean (K) 6-3, 6-3; Dave Walker and John Olinger (HN) defeated Chass Peterson and Tom King (K) 6-3, 6-2 and Mike Dailey and Brian Larche (HN) defeated Rick O'Kane and Gil Fugere (K) 6-3, 6-4.

Mud Hens Beaten

By The Associated Press

Carmen Franzone hit three homers at Toledo to drive in four runs and lead the Colonels to an 11-4 victory over the Mud Hens Sunday.

Syracuse has taken a firmer hold on the top spot in International League standings with a doubleheader that completed its sweep of a three-game series against Tidewater, winning 5-3 and 4-1.

MHS Students 'Take Over' City Governmental Posts

Student counterparts have been elected to serve in local governmental posts during Government Day of Michigan Week. The elections were held at the high school last week.

Planning was under the direction of Lowell Cooper and his third hour civics class. Co-chairmen are Jean Lequia and Rick Bonifas. Government Day will be observed May 18.

'Elected' Officers

Elected to City Council were Patti Arnold, mayor, Diane DeMars, Chris Johnson, Don McCarrick and Julie DeSautel.

County Board of Commissioners: Cindy Frenette, Barb Holbrook, Diane Reed, Gloria Stankovich, Louise Tureck, Karl Krumrey, and Cathy Cooper.

Manistique Area Board of Education: David Mickelson, John Carlson, Roberta Ebli, Marie Hentschell, Nicki Johnson, Justine Nelson and Jeffi Orr.

Other elected officials include Debbie Main, county clerk; Becky Rehn, county treasurer; Judy Olson, abstratcor; Cheryl Jetty, register of deeds; Ken Tufnell, sheriff; Kurt Prond, prosecuting attorney; Bruce Tufnell, probate judge; John Adams, district judge.

Appointive Posts

Appointive posts will be held by Karyn Bignall, postmaster; Mary McLaughlin, city clerk; Ron Jackson, city manager; Darlene Mersnick, superintendent, Department of Public Works; Nancy Thibedeau, waste water superintendent; Randy Howard, juvenile officer; Janet Gillam, friend of the court; Larry Bergere, director of natural resources; Robert Stram, tax director; Polly Braun, sanitarian; Alan Nelson, state police commander; Jane Schneider, city police chief; Dick Klarich, county road superintendent; Pat Flodin, welfare director; Mary Stoll, forest service director; Greg Hase, superintendent of schools; Christine Beverage, business manager of schools; Kathy Danko, community school director; Mary Cockram, high school principal; Carolyn Smith, county extension director. Debbie Ranguette was chosen student counterpart to Joseph Giovannini, Michigan Week general chairman.

Paired With Official

The students and their real-life counterparts will be paired during Government Day activities. A breakfast at the high school will kick-off the activities with mock sessions of the board of education, city council and county commissioners scheduled later in the morning. The students will also attend a noon luncheon honoring the visiting mayor of Walled Lake and two councilmen.

Bond Posted In Auto Accident

Karl Allen Krepps, 23, Sell's Woods, Curtis, posted $50 bond early Saturday morning guaranteeing his appearance in District Court today on a driving while under the influence of intoxicants charge, Public Safety officers said.

Krepps was arrested and underwent a breathalyzer test at the State Police Post after striking three parked cars on Cedar St. and a light pole on Oak St. around 11:45 Friday night. The cars, including Krepp's vehicle, were extensively damaged, police said.

City officers said Krepps, traveling north on Cedar St., struck parked cars owned by Robert J. Wood, 810 Arbutus Ave., Howard Shampine, 644 Park Ave. a,nd Leroy Ekblad, Gulliver. After hitting the cars, Krepps backed up and headed east on Oak St. where he struck a utility pole in front of the Zion Lutheran Church, near the Range St. intersection. His automobile continued about 200 feet from the utility pole before the engine stopped, officers said.

City officers also report a two-car accident in front of the Elks Temple on Walnut St. Friday at 8:30 p.m. Cars driven by David P. Anderson, Box 442, and Irene Hinkson, 226 N. Houghton Ave., collided when the Hinkson vehicle attempted a right turn into a private driveway. No citations were issued.

Not Disappointed With Progress Of Heart Transplants

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Donald R. Kahn, surgeon at the University of Michigan Medical Center, says that he was not disappointed with the center's progress on heart transplants.

"We've accomplished exactly what we thought we would," he said at the Michigan Heart Association convention Saturday. "There have been no surprises."

He admitted the public has been disappointed with the results of many operations, but he said that he believes that future heart patients would be living for long periods of time. Only one of Michigan's four heart transplant patients is still alive.

Plans For 1970 Grad Party Off To Good Start

Plans for the 1970 Grad Party are progressing smoothly, according to the latest report of Grad Party general chairman Dell O'Brien. The annual all-night event for MHS graduates and their guests will be held in the Elks Temple following Commencement exercises on June 4.

Letters have been sent all graduates' parents asking their help and financial support. O'Brien said most parents are donating $5 and have volunteered to serve on various committees. Junior class parents are sending trading stamp books, or $2 in cash, for prizes.

Anyone interested in helping with the party is asked to attend the weekly work sessions held Wednesday evenings at the Elks Temple beginning at 7:30. The committee will not meet May 20 since an Elks meeting is scheduled for that night but will meet instead the following Saturday morning, May 23, at 9 o'clock.

Volunteers are needed at the Elks Club on the afternoon of June 4 to receive food and other contributions which will be brought in. Anyone interested should contact O'Brien.

Financial contributions to the party fund may be made at the First National Bank or to Eugene Johnson, 223 Main St. Prize donations will be accepted by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ekstrom, 412 Arbutus Ave., and arrangements will be made for a pick-up, if desired.

Committee chairmen for the party include O'Brien, general chairman; Mr. and Mrs. Ekstrom, program; Louie Rogers, refreshments and detail squad; Dave Heinz, bowling; target shooting at Armory, Don Schulze; Mrs. K. W. Eimerman and Mrs. Donald Schulze, decorating; William Putvin and Ted Hentschell, welcoming; Eugene Johnson, finance; Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Lamirand, food; Mr. and Mrs. John Moffat, breakfast; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jackson, tickets.

Briefly Told

Schoolcraft County Democrats are reminded of tomorrow night's special meeting at 8 o'clock in the court house to allocate precinct delegates.

Tuesday's hot lunch menu in the Manistique Area Schools will include sliced baloney, buttered potatoes, buttered corn, rhubarb pineapple bars and beverage.

The Community School Advisory Board meets Tuesday noon in room 105 of the high school for their regular monthly luncheon-meeting. All representatives are urged to attend.

Michigan State Police report two juveniles have confessed the breaking and entering and theft of over $100 in stock from Leggett and Foye Equipment Company on Mar. 22, 1969. The youths, both 16-year-old boys who live in this area, have been placed under jurisdiction of the Probate Court. Some of the stolen items were recovered, troops said. A third 16-year-old boy, who admitted his participation in the breaking and entering of Treasure City, U.S. 2 east, last February is also under Probate Court jurisdiction, officers said. The boys were apprehended Friday.

Cyclist Killed

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — A 31-year-old Cassopolis man, Carl Jackson, died early Sunday when his motorcycle struck a car two miles north of Elkhart, Indiana. State Police said the car apparently crossed the center line into Jackson's path.

Council Expected To Fill Vacancy At Tonight's Meet

City council is expected to announce an appointment to the seat recently vacated by resigned councilman William Wedegartner Jr. when they meet in regular session tonight at 7:30 in city hall. Wedegartner, who served half of a two year term, resigned May 1.

Appointments will also be made to the urban renewal committee and library board.

The agenda lists a discussion with Health Dept. officials Boyd Briggs and Donald Veeser on regulations governing sanitary land-fill dumping grounds. A date will be selected for a public hearing on the 1970-71 city budget and action taken to begin condemnation proceedings on a building on N. Third St. and the Soo Line warehouse on N. Mackinac Ave.

District Court

Kenneth Blowers, 805 Garden Ave., and Ron Provo, 338 Lake St., appeared before Judge Charles A. Stark this morning for arraignment on trespassing in the nighttime charges. Both are free on personel recognizance following their arrest by Public Safety officers.

City police said the charges were brought by Blowers' wife, Mrs. Tina Blowers, 137 N. Second St., who complained her husband, accompanied by Provo, broke the front door of her home at 1:15 a.m. on May 6.

Pat Osterhout, 17, Rte. 1, was unable to post $5,000 surety bond, or $500 cash bond, and was remanded to the custody of the sheriff following a bond arraignment Friday afternoon. Osterhout was arrested by Michigan State Police and charged with breaking and entering with intent to steal, a felony. The alleged violation occurred at Treasure City, U.S. 2 east, last December. He will appear Monday morning for arraignment before Judge Stark.

SPEC. 5 Paul F. Berger, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Berger of 426 Walnut St., recently received the Army Commendation Medal during ceremonies in Vietnam. He received the medal for meritorious service as a chaplain's assistant in Headquarters, I Field Force, Vietnam. Spec. 5 Berger is a 1963 graduate of Manistique High School and received his bachelors degree from the University of Michigan in 1967. He entered the Army in September, 1968.

Students Cited For Forensics

The annual forensics awards assembly at the Manistique High School last week was the occasion for presentation of letters, pins and recognition to qualifying students.

Receiving letters and pins in memory of the late J. Joseph Herbert were Patti Arnold, Bernie Beaudry, Karyn Bignall, Kathy Broullire, Mary Cockram, Vicki Frenette, Eileen Mathson, Donna Johnson, Diane Lundwall, Frank Malette, Meg Moffat, Erin O'Brien, Gail Schwartz, Kevin Smith and Mary Stoll.

Recognition for "superior performance" at the district festival at Engadine went to the multiple reading group of Patti Arnold, Bernie Beaudry, Karyn Bignall, Mary Cockram, Kevin Smith, plus Mary Stoll, Diane Lundwall, Frank Malette, Eileen Mathson and Gail Schwartz.

Honors received at the regional festival at Northern Michigan University in Marquette included a "superior" certificate to Eileen Mathson, an "excellent" certificate to the multiple reading group and a "very good" rating for Gail Schwartz. Frank Malette received an "excellent" certificate and qualified to go downstate.

Mrs. John LaPointe is forensics coach.

Rabies Clinic Set Here On Saturday

Rabies Vaccination Clinics will be held in four locations in Schoolcraft County Saturday under sponsorship of the Alger-Schoolcraft Health Department. A veterinarian will conduct the clinics.

Cat and dog owners may bring their pets to the Hiawatha Township Hall between 9-10 a.m.; the Fire Department in the new city hall in Manistique between 10-12; the Mueller Township Hall between 1:30 and 2:30; and the Germfask Fire Hall from 3-4 p.m.

The Health Dept. warns pet owners that all warm-blooded animals are subject to rabies -- a very serious disease which can be transmitted to huhmans by an infected animal. The recent outbreak of rabies in Chippewa County points out the importance of protecting family and community against the dread disease, the Health Dept. said.

The "State Dog Law," Act. 339, P.A. 1919 as amended, and adopted in this county, requires that all dogs three months and over shall be vaccinated and licensed. Failure to comply with this requirement leaves the owner subject to prosecution and the dog subject to destruction.

The vaccination charge per animal is $3.00. Distemper shots, at $6.00 per animal, will also be available.

4-H Club Holds Awards Ceremony

The Busy Bee 4-H Club met recently at the home of their leader, Mrs. Everett Wood Jr., 441 N. Houghton Ave., for an awards ceremony. Mrs. Howard Larsen is co-leader of the club.

Receiving pins and certificates were Pam Wood, crafts and sewing, 6 years; Judy Barton, crafts and sewing, 5 years; Lynn Larsen, crafts and sewing, 4 years; Roberta Ranta, crafts, 1 year; Everett Wood, crafts and woodworking, 4 years; Robert Pelon, electrical, 4 years; Alan Wood, crafts, 1 year; Donald Knoph, crafts, 1 year; Greg Larsen, crafts and woodworking, 2 years.

Champagne Flowing In Boston As Bruins Capture Playoffs 4-0

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Bruins drank champagne from the Stanley Cup as expected Sunday, but it took some late heroics by old pro John Bucyk and young superstar Bobby Orr to get the celebration going on schedule.

Trailing most of the way, the Bruins gained a tie on Bucyk's goal with less than seven minutes remaining in regulation time. Then just 40 seconds into the sudden death overtime period, Orr banged home the winning tally.

Sweep Series

That did it. The Bruins had beaten the St. Louis Blues 4-3, sweeping their best-of-seven National Hockey League final playoff series and winning the coveted cup for the first time in 29 years.

Bedlam broke loose in Boston Garden as fans raced onto the ice. NHL President Clarence Campbell presented the cup to the winners, and Bucyk was given the honor of skating it around the rink to a deafening ovation.

The tumultuous celebration continued in the jam-packed dressing room, with players pouring champagne on everybody in sight for more than an hour.

"None of these guys have their names on that cup yet," coach Harry Sinden said when asked why this celebration was so wild. "They may get there again in the future, but the first time is always the best."

A few seconds later the fully dressed Sinden was tossed in the shower along with general manager Milt Schmidt as the celebration continued.

"My greatest thrill ever," said one player after another—even such frequent individual award winners as Orr and Phil Esposito.

"I've waited 15 years for this," said Bucyk, the elder statesman of the team who celebrates his 35th birthday Tuesday. "And I wanted it for those fans. They've been waiting even longer. They deserve it."

For quite a while, it looked as though the Blues were going to spoil the party as they battled to avoid being swept out of the finals a third straight time.

Take Early Lead

Boston's Rick Smith and St. Louis' Red Berenson traded first period goals, but Gary Sabourin put the Blues on top early in the second session and they held the 2-1 lead until Esposito scored at the 14:22 mark to knot the count again. It was Espo's 13th goal and 27th point of the playoffs—both records.

Larry Keenan's power play goal snapped the tie 19 seconds into the third period, and the later it got, the more defensive the Blues became as they tried to protect their lead. The Bruins kept on the attack, however, and Bucyk finally scored from in close to tie the game at 13:28.

"We were starting to feel the pressure," Buck said. "We were getting a little uneasy."

Sinden said he was getting a bit anxious, but was still confident.

"I've learned one thing about this year—never count them out," he said. "I wasn't worried. I was concerned as the time ticked away. But we were getting lots of chances. I figured one of them should go in."

The tie held through regulation time, then the Bruins came out flying for the extra session.

Pressure On

"Harry told us that St. Louis has a history of coming out real strong in overtime," Ken Hodge said. "We didn't want to take a chance on being beaten that way, so we turned the tables on them. We went right in, we forechecked, we kept the pressure on them. We knew they must be tired."

Weren't the Bruins tired too after playing three periods in hot, steamy Boston Garden, with the temperature outside reading 91 degrees?

"Yes, but there's a difference between being tired when you're three up and when you're three down," he said.

Sinden agreed that his strategy called for coming out fast and furiously.

"There was no way we were going to sit back in that overtime period," he said. "We had come this far with a gung-ho type of hockey, and we were going to die by going into their end or win by doing it."

The Bruins took the opening faceoff into St. Louis ice and kept it there until Orr's decisive goal. The 22-year-old defenseman outraced Keenan for a loose puck, passed it to Sanderson, took a return pass and scored.

"Two kids came through," the 23-year-old Sanderson said. "Bobby had a lot of anticipation. He figured he could beat Keenan to the puck or at least check him. With the confidence and guts he's got, he walked in, got the puck, gave it to me and I gave it back."

Orr Gambles

Orr admitted that his play was a gamble of sorts.

"I get caught sometimes and sometime it works out," he said. "This time it worked out."

This was a record 10th straight playoff win for the Bruins (the last two games of the opening series against New York, four straight against Chicago and four more against St. Louis) and also for Gerry Cheevers, who was in goal for all 10 games.

"This was by far my toughest game in the final series," Cheevers said. "I had a lot of tough ones to stop this time. But you're supposed to come up with them in the Stanley Cup."

NBA Expansion Draft Underway

NEW YORK (AP) — The Buffalo Braves begin what has become an almost annual leveling process when they make the first selection today in the National Basketball Association's expansion draft.

The Portland Trail Blazers will choose second and the Cleveland Cavaliers third, and on following rounds Buffalo and Cleveland will exchange their order of selection while Portland picks second throughout.

The draft begins at 9:30 a.m. EDT in the office of Commissioner Walter Kennedy here and will not end until 33 players are selected from the 14 established teams. Each will lose two, and five teams will lose three players.

This draft has become almost an annual affair as the league has expanded three other times in the past four years, missing only last year. Each time, it has served to help balance competition since teams with the greatest depth lose at least one of their top reserves, while many of the lower clubs have little to lose beyond their seventh man.

Each team is allowed to protect seven players and then can pull back an eighth for protection after it has lost one player.

The NBA champion New York Knicks appear the most vulnerable to the draft, boasting a bench that was the best in the league. Beyond their starting five, they have five former No. 1 picks in the college draft, and at least two of them are likely to go.

'Unknown' Wins Houston Tourney

HOUSTON (AP) — Gibby Gilbert was, for four days and 71 holes, lost in the shuffle. He was the other guy playing with Bruce Crampton and people in their sparse gallery kept saying, "Who's he?"

But Gilbert had a lifetime of obscurity behind him, was used to the feeling and followed his own formula to score his first professional golf tour victory:

"Just keep plugging."

He did, and the 29-year-old club pro from Hollywood, Fla., on the pro tour for just a couple of months, made up two strokes on the final hole, caught Bruce Crampton and then beat him on the third hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday in the $115,000 Houston Champions International Invitational tourney.

"I didn't deserve to win," Crampton said. "Gibby played very well, made only one bogey and that's good on this course. He's a worthy champion."

Gilbert, who decided to go on the tour only after playing the Doral tournament in Florida—he was the 36-hole leader there—was in third place most of the warm, muggy day, but finished with a 72-hole score of 282, two-under-par on the 7,166-yard Champions Golf club course. He had a final 70.

Crampton with a two-stroke lead over Bert Greene going into the last round, had a 73, also for 282. Greene, who knocked himself out of it with a double-bogey six when he hit into a creek on the 17th, had a 72 for 283.

Most of the drama concerned the stretch duel between Crampton and Greene. Lean Bert, a drawling Georgian, moved into the lead when he holed a 60-foot putt for an eagle on the ninth.

But he three-putted the 16th and then took the double bogey on the 17th.

They both parred the first two extra holes, but Bruce put his tee shot in the water. The rock-steady Gilbert played it in regulation for the $23,000 first prize.

Most of the attention early in the day was centered on the incredible Ben Hogan, playing his first tournament in three years.

He ran off a string of three consecutive birdies starting on the third hole, turned in three in three-under-par but faltered as his shattered, still-ailing 57-year-old legs began to tire on the back side. He finished with a 70 for 287.

"I played better than I thought I would," the weary Hogan said. "But I'm tired."

He finished only five strokes off the pace.

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper did not compete.

Tiger Tales

By The Associated Press

The 1970 baseball season is little more than a month old and already it looks as if the Baltimore Orioles are pulling away from the pack in the American League East in a bid for their second straight pennant.

But Detroit Tiger manager Mayo Smith said it's still too early to get discouraged, although his team's 9-7 loss together with Baltimore's doubleheader sweep of Chicago dropped the second-place Tigers five games behind.

"What we've got to do is in our own immediate family," he reasoned. "You can't control the other guy. You just have to do a winning job yourself."

Dreams Among Young Mostly Happy Ones

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Young people upon awakening remember their dreams better than do old people. The probable reason: they have happier dreams. Elderly people tend to have more anxious dreams and therefore they subconsciously wish to forget them.

Broad-toed shoes are a fad again, but this style of footwear was first made popular by King Henry VIII of England, who found it helped ease the pangs of gout. Shoes got so broad that finally Parliament passed a law restricting their toe width to eight inches.

Life insurance, it is said, is the only thing a man buys on the installment plan that his wife doesn't have to finish paying for when he dies.

There is no danger of a population explosion among condors, North America's largest birds. These huge scavengers produce only one egg per couple every two years, and the offspring may remain in the nest for a full 18 months before taking to its wings.

Prosperity note: Whatever happened to the old swimming hole? It moved to town. America now has over 709,000 backyard pools—one for every 32 Homeowners.

Quotable notables: "I've saved the money to pay my income tax; now all I have to do is borrow some to live on."—Lou Costello.

What has warts and is popular? The cucumber pickle. Americans now eat eight pounds a year each of this delicacy, first brought here by Christopher Columbus in 1494. Cleopatra thought pickles contributed to her beauty; Roman Emperor Tiberius—he lived to be 95—felt they contributed to his longevity. Among U.S. presidential pickle fanciers were George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and Calvin Coolidge who, some say, got his public personality from them.

Apt definitions: "The most rounded person in the world is the average man. He is usually 39 around the chest, 40 around the waist, 96 around the golf course, 132 around the bowling alleys, seldom around when needed, and a nuisance around the house."

Al Fresco dining: The outdoor barbecue season is at hand. This form of cooking has had its addicts in every age and clime since caveman days. Barbecues moved indoors during the Middle Ages when whole oxen sheep and pigs were roasted in castle fireplaces. The French created the word "barb-a-queue," figuratively translated "from snout to tail."

Here is good news for teenagers who worry over whether chocolate can cause acne. A study at the Pennsylvania School of Medicine found that students who ate candy bars containing 10 times as much chocolate as is put in most bars developed no more acne than those who ate identical-looking bars that had no chocolate in them.

One of the world's biggest ice cubes—no one yet has thought up a way to put it into a Martini—is the Malaspina Glacier in Southeastern Alaska. It covers an area larger than Rhode Island.

It was artist Robert Henri who observed. "There are mighty few people who think that they think they think."

Store Burns

PRESCOTT (AP) — Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an I-G-A store in Prescott in southeastern Ogemaw County Friday. Fire officials from three departments fought the blaze which broke out about midnight. No injuries were reported. There was no immediate estimate of damage.

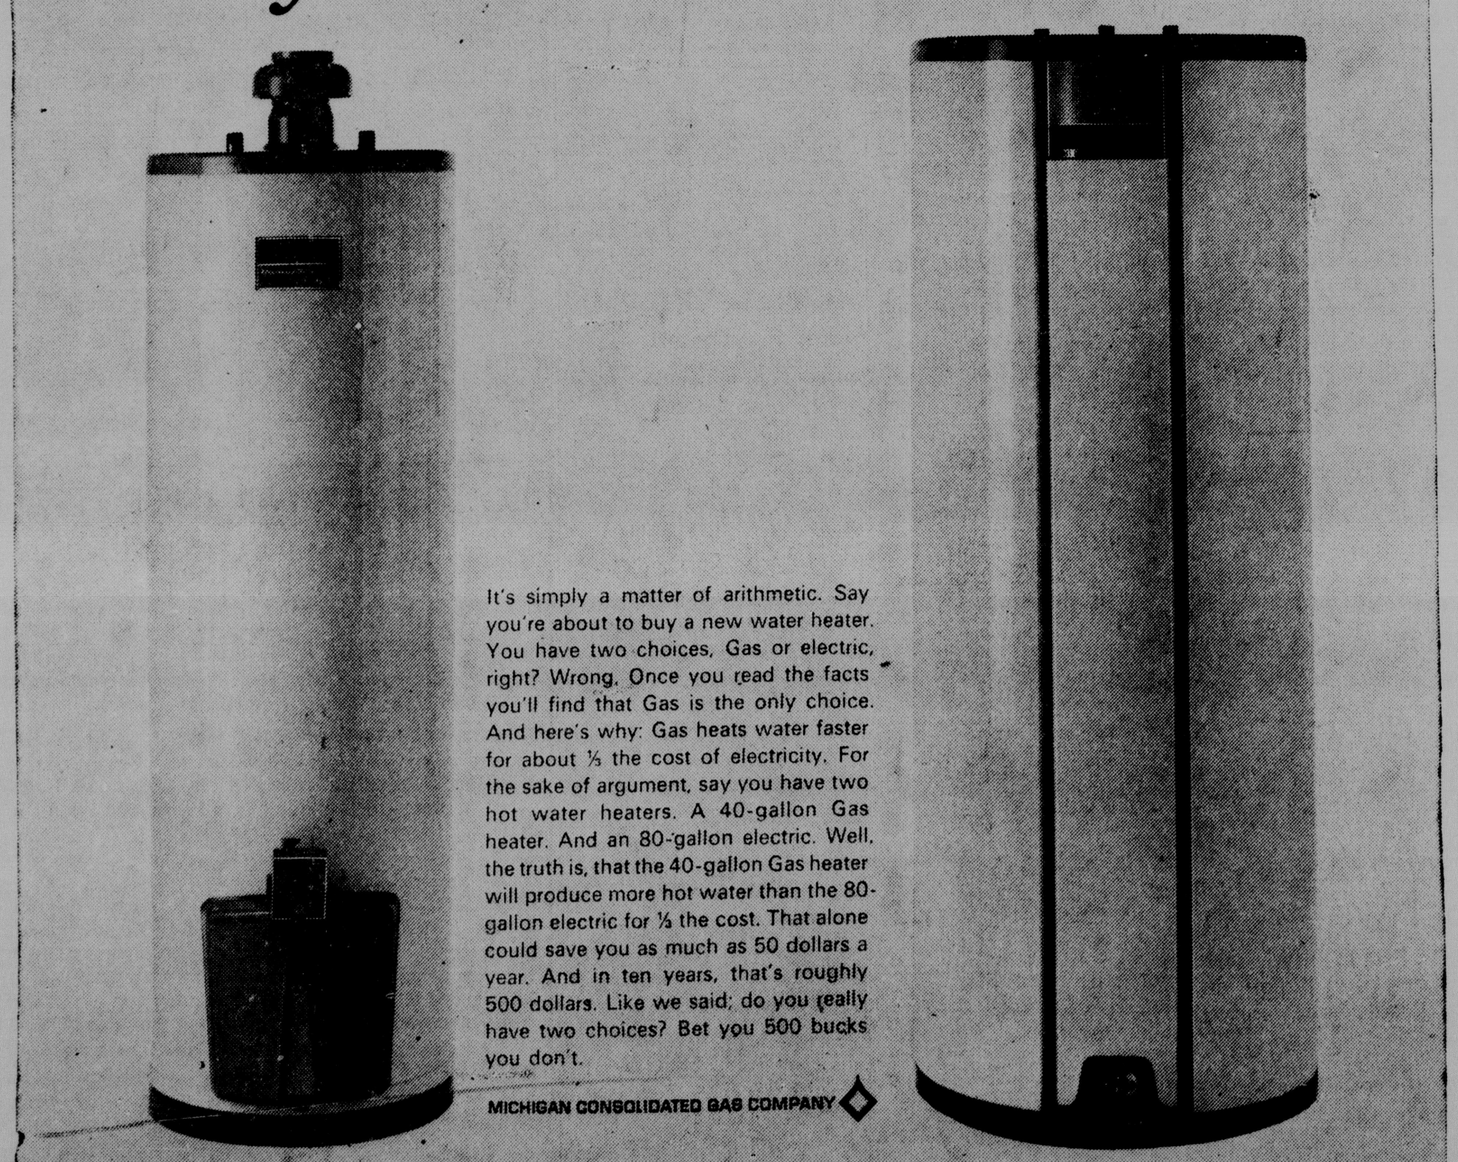
This ad might save you about 500 bucks.



It's simply a matter of arithmetic. Say you're about to buy a new water heater. You have two choices, Gas or electric, right? Wrong. Once you read the facts you'll find that Gas is the only choice. And here's why: Gas heats water faster for about ⅓ the cost of electricity. For the sake of argument, say you have two hot water heaters. A 40-gallon Gas heater. And an 80-gallon electric. Well, the truth is, that the 40-gallon Gas heater will produce more hot water than the 80-gallon electric for ⅓ the cost. That alone could save you as much as 50 dollars a year. And in ten years, that's roughly 500 dollars. Like we said; do you really have two choices? Bet you 500 bucks you don't.
